DILWORTH URGES BEER AS INDUSTRY AID

Conspiracy Suspected in Yacht Killing

CITY RELIEF WASTE CHARGED

Today

That Future War.
There Is Hope, Says Babson.
Prof. Henderson on Beer.
Big City Finance.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

STANLEY BALDWIN, former British prime minister, powerful in the present British government, talked to the House of Commons for an hour on Armistice Eve concerning the next war, to be won from the air, and about things that will happen to people on the earth. Some things he said, condensed, are these:

"The man on the street should realize that there is no power on earth that can protect him from being bombed, whatever people may tell him.

"In the next war you will find that any town within reach of an aerodrome can be bombed within the first five minutes of war, to an extent INCONCEIVABLE IN THE LAST WAR, and the question is: Whose morale will be shattered quickest by that preliminary bombing?"

MR. BALDWIN also uttered this interesting warning:

"The only defense is an offense, which means that you have got to kill more women and children more quickly than the enemy, if you want to save yourself. I mention this so that people may realize what is waiting for them when the next war comes."

MR. BALDWIN complains that Britain is not protected in the air, yet the British are far stronger in the air than the United States, which has more territory, more big cities to protect.

Mr. Baldwin's speech is recommended to the attention of Washington, which might not pay much attention to the repeated warnings of a "mere newspaper man."

ROGER W. BABSON talked to the Philadelphia Athletic Club yesterday about the depression. To encourage you he says:

"Deflation has largely been completed."

Also:

"Consumption is today exceeding production."

Also:

"The people of America are now turning over a new leaf."

Mr. Babson says:

"Prosperity will return in spite of anything that the governments or bankers could do to prevent it. As people were ill and recovered centuries ago, before there were doctors or hospitals, so business will some time recover without any more legislation or artificial aid."

ALL ENCOURAGING, therefore useful, but not absolutely convincing. People WERE ill and recovered, but many of them DIED. Great depressions have not cured themselves.

PROF. YANDELL HENDERSON of Yale University, who teaches physiology and ought to know the inside working of a human being, tells members of Congress:

"I am an expert on poisons that include alcohol."

He says that 4 per cent beer is no more intoxicating than a cup of coffee and less intoxicating than a cigar.

That should enlighten Congressmen who hesitate to legalize beer with 3.2 per cent of alcohol.

"The cocktail habit," according to Prof. Henderson, "is a form of drug addiction," but it would be difficult to drink enough 4 per cent beer to become intoxicated. If there were nothing stronger to drink than that kind of beer there would be no alcohol problem.

NEW YORK CITY, sharing the depression, escaped by a few minutes a default on its obligations. Bankers lent forty millions at the last moment on the city's promise to cut twenty millions more from its budget.

Much of the city's spending for which the local officials are blamed is due to mandatory legislation. Various groups persuade the legislature to compel certain payments, and officials can only pay accordingly.

IT IS possible that New York and other big cities will soon be COMPELLED to make budget cuts such as are not at present contemplated, unless conditions change.

Assessments are far in excess of actual property values in many cities, New York included. Taxes have been paid thus far to prevent foreclosure of mortgages. That cannot last forever.

Financial institutions that now demand economy will find themselves holding quantities of real estate, taken by mortgage foreclosure, because of unpaid taxes, such as they never dreamed of.

THE LEAGUE of Nations hasn't much authority when dealing with a nation of power. Japan warns the League that "sixty-five millions of Japanese are behind the military leaders who took Manchuria away from China in self defense."

The League can do nothing about Manchuria unless it chooses to fight. Japan and it will not choose that for the good reason that somebody must do

ADVENTURER UNDERGOES GRILLING ON ALIBI

British Peer Found On Boat Faces Deportation

Grand jury action was threatened, members of the crew of Wanderwell's yacht, Carma, were forbidden to discuss events preceding the slaying, and a scion of British nobility was arrested.

Throughout the developments, William James Guy, young Australian soldier of fortune held as a suspect in the killing Monday night of the colorful globe-trotter, clung to his alibi that he was 30 miles away from the scene of the shooting on the Carma.

CONCEALMENT CHARGED

Investigations were climaxed last night by a charge of Police Lieut. Owen Murphy that "certain persons, for reasons best known to themselves, have been withholding information from the police." He said:

"Unless this attitude is changed, I will demand a grand jury investigation to determine if a conspiracy exists to cover up evidence."

His charges were followed by an order issued by the Long Beach police forbidding any member of the crew, consisting of seven women and 18 men, from talking to anyone but authorities about the slaying. The order precipitated a sharp clash between Lieut. R. C. Miller and E. T. McGann, attorney for Guy.

SON OF PEER ARRESTED

23 Reported Trapped in Coal Mine

HARLAN, Ky., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Twenty-three men were reported trapped in the Harlan Fuel Company's coal mine at Yancey today. This report, which came to George Ward, secretary of the Harlan County Coal Operators' Association, said it could not be determined whether any had been killed.

First reports said there had been an explosion, but officials later said the cause of the trouble was unknown. Gases in the mine held back rescue crews.

About 275 other miners were reported to have been working in other mine passages which were not believed affected.

Hospital Patient Plunges to Death

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Breaking away from physicians in the midst of a physical examination, Andrew Didion, 44, who was to have been taken to Pittsburgh for treatment today, leaped to his death from the fifth floor window of a Wheeling hospital last night.

Members of the Didion family said he suffered a nervous disorder several months ago.

Pantages' Son Freed As Auto Kills Man

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—An unidentified man who became confused in traffic was killed today by an automobile driven by Rodney Pantages, son of Alexander Pantages, theatrical magnate, according to police, who freed young Pantages from blame.

Winter's Sway Here Continues Moderate

Winter's moderate sway continued today, with prospect that the temperature would fall to around 20 tonight, four degrees below last night's mark.

Slowly rising temperature is predicted for tomorrow. Light snow flurries may occur, but a rising barometer indicates intervals of sunshine in a general cloudiness, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said.

The cold which claimed five lives in Chicago was abating over the Northwest today, the weather map showed. In Texas the mercury fell to 11 above zero. The high pressure area remained mostly stationary with the result that this district was not hit by severe frigidity.

EAGLE LOTTERY TERMS GIVEN 3

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Conrad H. Mann, president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce and Missouri chairman of the President's Unemployment Commission, was sentenced to five months in prison today for violation of federal lottery laws in the promotion of a fund-raising enterprise for the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Bernard C. McGuire, professional promoter, was sentenced to serve one year and one day and to pay a fine of $12,000. Frank E. Hering, trustee of Notre Dame University and editor of the Eagles' magazine, called "least culpable" by the court, was sentenced to serve four months.

Mann was also fined $12,000. Hering must pay $4,000 in addition to serving in prison.

Judge Frank J. Coleman imposed the sentences and stayed their executions for 10 days while attorneys apply for bail. The court denied motions to grant a new trial and when he pronounced the sentences, he said:

"I will say this for the defendants, I believe that the lottery was honestly conducted."

Second Davis Trial Likely in January

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The trial of United States Senator James J. Davis, on the calendar for hearing next Monday, likely will go over until January, due to a crowded docket, it was stated today at the United States attorney's office here. Previously Davis' first trial, on a charge of being connected with a Moose Lodge lottery, ended in a mistrial.

BackBroken, Boy Treks 270 Miles For Medical Aid

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Over 270 miles of windswept mountain roads from Martinsburg, W. Va., a 4-year-old boy with a broken back trekked with his parents and a younger brother and sister to reach Wheeling—and possible relief.

Jimmy Lucas was injured in a fall down stairs, and his father, Elmer, unemployed, had only a little money for food and none for doctor bills.

A brother of Mrs. Lucas lived in Collier, near Wheeling. He promised to help. So Mr. and Mrs. Lucas, Jimmy, Eddie, 3, and a five-month-old baby girl started over the mountains. They came much of the way on foot, although "lifts by automobile helped every once in a while," Lucas said.

It took eight days to reach Wheeling where the woman's brother, a miner, promised to meet them. All were suffering from hunger and exposure — especially Jimmy.

And Mrs. Lucas' brother wasn't here. The Salvation Army gave relief, and started the search which may locate the man.

Meanwhile, Jimmy is in a hospital, receiving medical care he should have had days ago, 270 miles away.

Ill Man Rescued In Oakland Blaze

Confined to his home by influenza, John Pontieri was carried to safety early today when fire, believed caused by an overheated furnace, swept through the home of John's brother, Felix, at 3704 Orpwood avenue, Oakland. Firemen estimated the damage at $1,500.

Felix Pontieri, his wife, Theresa, and three children, John, Frawley and Adeline, made their way from the burning building after aiding the ill man to the street.

War Vets Go on K. P. To Help Feed Needy

DANVILLE, Ky., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—K. P. duty (kitchen police) which they avoided as much as possible while serving in the Army, will be performed voluntarily by members of the local American Legion post. The veterans have announced they will open a "free canteen" to assist local relief work, starting December 23 and operating as long as food is donated. The auxiliary ladies will help.

2 JAIL GUARDS DISCIPLINED

One guard at the County Jail was dismissed and another ordered suspended until January for "conduct unbecoming an officer," it was revealed today by Warden John McNeil.

It was reported that George Gardill, of Moye street, South Side, was dismissed on charges of slipping notes into laundry bags for women prisoners. He had been a guard 19 months.

Matthew Kerr, of Lydia street, was suspended.

The recommendations for the dismissal and suspension came from the Prison Board, headed by Judge James Macfarlane. With them came orders that newspapers were not to be given information on the nature of the cases.

Judge Macfarlane later refused to discuss them. He declared to a reporter:

"You cannot see me now or later about them."

BEER URGED ON HOUSE BY DILWORTH

Pittsburgher Predicts Huge Outlay to Reopen Plants

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Joseph Dilworth, of Pittsburgh, told the House Ways and Means Committee today that brewers in Pittsburgh, New York, Milwaukee and St. Louis would spend $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 to rehabilitate their plants if Congress legalizes beer.

Testifying for the National Industrial Rehabilitation Committee, created by President Hoover, he added:

"This would not be more than a fourth of expenditures for the entire country. The indirect expenditures would be three times the direct outlay."

His committee feels that return of beer would stimulate the capital goods industry, which includes steel mills, railroads and other similar industries. He said.

BEER BILL URGED

Dilworth was only one of many witnesses who urged the enactment of a beer bill today as the committee speeded its hearing toward a conclusion in the hope of getting a favorable report before the House next week.

The witnesses united in declaring that the brewing industry offers a potential market of hundreds of millions of dollars for the steel, glass, motor truck, barrel, lumber, copper and similar industries.

At the opening of today's session, Chairman Collier announced that Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills, who previously had declined to testify had agreed to appear tomorrow and give his

SLEEP WALKING HOSTESS HURT

Miss Olive Halloway, 21-year-old night club hostess, sleep-walking, according to a report to county detectives, walked through a second-story window early today and fell to the ground.

At Allegheny General Hospital, where she was taken by her sister, with whom she made her home, her condition was described as serious. She sustained a laceration to her face requiring 10 stitches to close and a possible fracture of the skull.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Dec. 9.—(INS.)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., will resume his daily round of golf December 27 when soreness has vanished from one of his arms, members of the household said today.

The oil magnate's arm became sore several weeks ago at his Pocantico Hills estate and he has been taking his exercise in the form of daily walks since that time.

Downey Writes New Song to Welcome Baby

BARBARA BENNETT

Tenor in Ecstasy as Barbara Bennett Gives Him Son

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—Morton Downey, famous radio tenor, is a proud daddy of a seven-and-a-quarter pound boy, born early today at Harbor Sanitarium to his wife, Barbara Bennett, sister of Constance and Joan Bennett. Doctors had told her she could not have a child.

After rushing to the hospital in a taxicab, Downey spent the early morning hours writing a song for the baby which he sang for the first time today at the Capitol Theater. It is called "Welcome Home, Little Stranger" and even Downey agreed that the lyric shows signs of having been written under pressure. The crooner, however, was too happy to care for that. He said:

"We've prayed for that baby. If he sings bass I'll kill him."

He notified his father-in-law, Richard Bennett, by wire to California and received a reply:

"Glad to have another Irish cop."

Wives Outshoot Police Marksmen

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—These are unhappy days for members of the Topeka police force's No. 1 pistol-shooting team. Three of the four team members suffered the chagrin of seeing their wives outshoot them in the state peace officers' pistol shoot.

Schoolboys on Canter Start 'Hoss Thief' Hunt

There's nothing like a good canter along a country highway to top off a hard day's work at school.

So decided two very young men from Wilmerding late yesterday.

Shortly thereafter police were warned, via the teletype, to be on the lookout for two saddle horses "stolen" from the farm of Earl Brooks, in Penn Township.

Trotting merrily along the Oakmont-Verona road, the youthful equestrians encountered Oakmont police, who abruptly terminated their ride. Their parents intimated a "woodshed drama" would be enacted after Juvenile Court authorities decide what is to be done with the boys.

USE OF CASH ASSAILED IN COUNCIL

Citizens' Aid Awaited On Budget Slash; Small Cuts Made

Charges that the people's bond money voted for relief work was being wasted on the Mt. Washington roadway extension job and that ward chairmen are supplying names of men employed were hurled at today's budget session of Council.

The improvement is being carried on under the $2,000,000 public works bond issue for aid of the jobless authorized at a special election last April.

PAID HIGHER WAGES

Questioning by Councilman P. J. McArdle brought out that workers are being paid 50 cents an hour as compared with 40 cents paid by the Allegheny County Emergency Association in its relief work. McArdle said:

"I believe we would do better if we let city improvement work by contract instead of trying to help the jobless indirectly and that all relief be provided by direct appropriation."

Councilman Robert Garland declared:

"The Allegheny County Emergency Association functioned much better than the city is doing. Under the Emergency Association relief work went to the unemployed. The city is taking on men who have work at other places and paying 25 per cent more than the association paid. The city gets its names from the ward chairmen."

WORK FIGURES GIVEN

Garland went to the telephone and called up Maj. Philip Mathews, former head of the Emergency Association. He returned

HOOVER URGES U.S. SHAKEUP

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—In a bulky message, President Hoover today placed before Congress a series of recommendations for partially reorganizing the federal government by re-shaping 58 executive branches in a new pattern and reducing the number of independent agencies by 15.

The principal effects of the consolidation orders to go into effect February 9, unless vetoed by Congress, will be:

Re-shaping the Department of Interior into an agency handling virtually all public building and public works, including rivers and harbors and flood control, and all education, health and recreation activities of the government, including the public health service; grouping under the Department of Commerce of all merchant marine activities; giving the Department of Commerce control of the Weather Bureau; giving the Coast Guard control of the border patrol of both immigration and customs services; abolishing the Employes' Compensation Commission.

MacDonald Rides In Paris Snow

GENEVA, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, who was reported to be slightly ill in Paris yesterday, seemed in perfect health today.

He attended the five-power disarmament meeting, went driving through a snowstorm to have luncheon with his daughter, Ishbel, and then sat through the afternoon meeting of the League of Nations Assembly. His voice revealed that his cold was not serious.

Trotzky Quits Venice On Return to Exile

VENICE, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Leon Trotzky, exiled Russian leader, en route back to Istanbul from Copenhagen, took a train here last night direct for Brindisi, where he expected to catch a boat today.

NATIONS SEEK RESURVEY OF ISSUE

December Installment Used as Lever For 'Deal'

By FREDERIC K. ABBOTT
International News Service.

PARIS, Dec. 9.—Great Britain and France are attempting to drive a new war debt bargain with the United States by proposing that the December 15 payment be regarded as the first installment under an entirely new scale of payments, it was learned by International News Service today.

In addition, it was ascertained, both nations have launched a new appeal to the United States to permit general discussion and reconsideration of the war debt problem at an international conference.

Whether these two proposals have been submitted to the United States government as conditions to payment of the December 15 installment was not definitely learned.

NEW NOTES PLANNED

It was regarded as probable, however, that they will be embodied in the new notes which both Great Britain and France are reliably reported to be planning to cable to Washington before the payment falls due.

Meantime, however, the suggestions have been forwarded to Washington for submission to the United States government.

Late last night, after they had concluded a five-hour conversation covering the subject of war debts thoroughly, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, of Britain, and Premier Edouard Herriot, of France, sent identic cables to their ambassadors in Washington instructing them to lay the proposals before Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson.

(Copyright, 1932, International News Service, Inc.)

No Postponement, France Informed Again

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—The United States will not grant a postponement of the French war debt installment, due on December 15, France was again informed today by the State Department, in rather blunt language.

France also was informed, in the formal note which Secretary of State Stimson handed M. Claudel, French ambassador here, that cancellation of the French debt is not to be considered, and "reconsideration" of the debt-funding agreement may be had only if there is adequate quid pro quo in the form of increased opportunities for American agricultural products in France.

The note made to the French government the same general promise given to Great Britain that "the President of the United States is prepared, through whatever agency may seem appropriate," to co-operate in surveying the entire situation as regards the debts and world economic problems.

It said blunty, however, that this government does not believe the world economic situation or the French government's financial problems would be seriously affected by the necessity for making the December 15 payment when due and according to agreement.

Father Accused In Row at School

WESTON, W. Va., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Because a little school girl who recently became an aunt resented being called "auntie" by her fellow pupils, Gee Lick community, near here, had a school fight. The father of the little girl, holding the teacher responsible, is charged with attacking the teacher, and a justice of the peace will hear the whole story.

State Realty Leader Sees Trade Upturn

READING, Pa., Dec. 9.—(AP.) Philip Arnold, of Philadelphia, president-elect of the Pennsylvania Real Estate Association, after touring the state, is optimistic of business conditions. He told members of the Reading Real Estate Board yesterday:

"In my travels over the state I can see no reason for anything other than an optimistic viewpoint."

Gen. Butler's First Grandchild Born

A five-and-a-half pound baby girl was born to his daughter, the former Ethel Peters Butler, wife of Lieut. John W. Wehle, Jr., of the U. S. Marine Corps, in Pensacola, Fla., on December 2.

HOOVER PLANS VACATION

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service.

Final arrangements have not been made, but the Executive and Mrs. Hoover are expected to leave here Christmas Day or immediately thereafter and go somewhere in the east coast wintering state until after New Year's.

Plans were being guarded with the greatest secrecy. In view of the President's interest in deep-sea fishing, it was thought likely he will choose some spot between Miami and Long Key. He spent a month at Miami just before his inauguration and a week at Long Key in 1930.

The New Year's reception, International News Service learned, has been canceled. This is the function at which the White House doors are thrown open to the general public and all who are so inclined may walk in and shake hands with the President and First Lady.

ARMS SESSION HITS SNAG

GENEVA, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The difficulty of finding a formula to satisfy the French demand for security and the German demand for arms equality halted the five-power disarmament conversations again today.

After a two-hour meeting, it was announced that no results could be reported and that another meeting had been called this evening.

Norman Davis, the American representative, is trying to keep the conversations from turning to definitions instead of capitalizing disarmaments gains already achieved.

SOMETIMES OTHERS' troubles make our own easier to bear. It might cheer the real farmer to know what happens to so-called "gentleman farmers" who hire others to do their farming for them.

One such farmer writes from Western New York:

"My farmers sold some steers that I had been fattening for a year, for less than I had paid for them a year ago."

SECOND WARD 'LILY WHITE'

The Second Ward is still "lily white," Constable Mark O'Malley, brother of Republican Ward Chairman P. J. O'Malley, reported to Judge Frank P. Patterson today after investigating several tips furnished him by the court when Judge Patterson rejected his quarterly return last Monday.

O'Malley was told to look after a house in Barbeau street and an alleged numbers headquarters around Thirteenth street and Liberty avenue.

Ben W. Smith, of Bethel Township, who was given four complaints by Judge Patterson, reported he had made raids on three of the places. The other one was closed. He said he had made raids on the "Blue Moon," "Bucket of Blood" and a barbecue in Bethel road and arrested the proprietors. He also reported two other raids on Library road.

The court accepted the amended reports of 15 constables and the reports of four absentees. Three others are still absent.

BUDGET REPLY BY FREDERICK

Dr. F. H. Frederick, North Side political leader and president of the Civil Service Commission, will appear in City Council "at the proper time" to answer questions about the Commission, he declared last night.

Councilman M. J. Muldowney yesterday asked regarding the amount of salaries drawn by the members of the Civil Service Comsion and whether the president of the commission has attended a meeting during the year.

Controller James P. Kerr, after an investigation of payroll records, reported that the members of the Commission have all been paid full salary for the year to date. Other members of the Commission are Dr. S. H. Johnson and J. H. Devlin.

REWARD URGED IN VOTE CASES

County Commissioners were reported considering the plan of offering rewards, possibly as high as $500, for information leading to election fraud convictions, during a private conference being held today.

The reward suggestion was made to the Commissioners by Attorney E. Lowry Humes, chairman of the Allegheny County Bar Association election committee. The Commissioners are reported to be favorable to the suggestion as a means of breaking up election frauds through convictions.

'HAVE NOTHING ON SHELBY,' RIAL SAYS

Chairman of Probing Committee Raps Pinchot Charges

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 9.—State Senator William S. Rial, chairman of the Senate committee investigating utilities, asserted on the witness stand today that no agency has indicated to the committee it has "anything on" Public Service Commissioner S. Ray Shelby, and attacked Gov. Gigord Pinchot, who instituted the investigation.

The investigating committee's attorney, Oliver K. Eaton, is attempting to have Shelby's bank records subpenaed, and the hearing was held on an injunction action instituted by Shelby to restrain the Second National Bank from furnishing the decords to Eaton.

RAPS INQUIRY

Frank B. Ingersoll, attorney for Shelby, termed the investigation "an excursion into the private affairs of the commission personnel," and asserted it was not for legislative benefit.

Ingersoll asked Rial if there were any testimony before the committee to show Shelby had been guilty of corrupt practices or had any relations with public utilities or their representatives.

Over Eaton's objection, Rial answered:

CHARGES 'BASELESS'

Asked by Eaton if he were in the Senate when Pinchot voiced charges against the whole Public Service Commission, Rial replied:

"Yes, I heard many charges by Gov. Pinchot that are absolutely baseless.

"The Governor had some data in relation to Chairman Ainey and Mr. Benn (who resigned as members of the commission). These were covered in a general way in charges made by a man by the name of Chapman. But as to any other member of the commission, there has never been anything produced that would show a corrupt alliance between the utilities and the commission."

Rial was the only witness heard. When he left the stand, Ingersoll began his argument asking the restraining order. He said if the subpena is enforced "it invades the most sacred God-given rights than man has ever possessed."

SMITH TO TAKE OFFICE MONDAY

Ralph H. Smith, appointed a judge of Common Pleas Court by Gov. Pinchot, has been assigned courtroom No. 11 and will be sworn into office at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning by Judge James R. Macfarlane.

Smith, who will probably be assigned to Circuit Court, was named to succeed Judge Joseph M. Swearingen, retired. He was assigned the courtroom formerly presided over by Judge Ambrose B. Reid. The latter has taken Judge Macfarlane's room, No. 4, Judge Macfarlane preferring Judge Swearingen's room, No. 3.

Pinchot Designates 'Yule Home Week'

HARRISBURG, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—Gov Gifford Pinchot today designated next week as "Christmas home coming week" for the purpose of urging the return of absent men and women, boys and girls, to their families and friends for the holidays.

The Governor dispatched a letter to the governors of all states, asking their co-operation in the movement to have wanderers reunited with their families for Christmas.

RETURN OF BEER IN U. S. URGED BY DILWORTH

views on taxation as applied to legal beer.

J. H. Curran, of Toledo, O., representing the Owens Illinois Glass Company, said beer would provide employment for 6,000 in the bottle industry, with wages aggregating $6,000,000 yearly. He declared that since prohibition the bottle factories capable of commercial production have not operated at more than 75 per cent of their capacity, adding that his company's glass factoriese in Brackenridge, Pa., Clarksburg, W. Va., and Newark, O., among others, are idle and without hope of early resumption.

FOR 2.75 BREW

George P. McCabe, of Washington, counsel for the Associated Producers of Cereal Beverages, told the committee today that 2.75 per cent beer would be "satisfactory to the people." The majority of the brewers, however, favor a 3.2 per cent beer. His association favors 2.75 per cent as a minimum. He said:

"The brewers of my association recommend that the law be so amended as to discourage the illicit manufacturer and the bootlegger and guarantee a pure, healthful, non-intoxicating beer which can be sold through ordinary channels of distribution now in use for near beer, and without those restrictions which must surround the sale of intoxicating liquor."

5-CENT GLASS

The brewers of his association, he said, favor sale of draught as well as bottled beer to make possible "a 5-cent glass of beer."

McCabe disclosed that anti-prohibition agitation has hurt the near-beer business. He said:

"The public believes that beer is just around the corner and no jobber wants to stock up on near beer."

McCabe clarified his views on 2.75 per cent beer. His association favors this as a minimum, he said. He estimated that 40,000,000 barrels of beer would be sold during the first year of legalized beer, bringing in $200,000,000 revenue at $5 a barrel tax rate.

McCabe said that if sale of beer is allowed at soda fountains and other similar places, the saloon could not survive.

Finland Extends Public Rum Sale

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—The Finnish Parliament today approved immediate liquor sales concessions to the public.

A measure permitting sale of liquor, except on Sundays, holidays and eight other days each year and extending the daily hours for sales, was adopted. Previously liquor could be sold on only 168 days of each year.

'Resist Repeal' Meet Opens in Capital

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The "resist repeal" national convention of the Anti-Saloon League opened this afternoon with the Rev. Melbourne P. Boynton, of Chicago, presiding.

Also at the opening luncheon, Homer Rodeheaver sang a prohibition composition written by himself and introduced a talking picture of his former fellow campaigner, Billy Sunday.

Pinchot Stands Pat On State Dry Bill

HARRISBURG, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot said today he will make no move toward changes in Pennsylvania's prohibition laws pending action by Congress.

An avalanche of bills on control and handling of beer is expected to tumble into the Pennsylvania Legislature next month.

Send a Protest Today to These Congressmen

Five Congressmen of Western Pennsylvania—one a "lame duck"—four from Eastern Ohio and two from West Virginia voted against the Garner bill, which provided that repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment be submitted to the states for their vote.

The people of the Tri-State area, with the rest of the nation, expressed in no uncertain terms their disapproval of prohibition and demanded its repeal. The following Congressmen voted against the will of the people. The public should register to them its disapproval by writing to them. They are:

CLYDE KELLY, Thirty-first District, Allegheny County, who ran on both Democrat and Republican, as well as several other parties.

HENRY W. TEMPLE, lame duck, of Washington and Greene counties.

J. BANKS KURTZ, of Cambria and Somerset counties.

J. HOWARD SWICK, of Beaver and Lawrence counties.

C. ELLIS MOORE, lame duck, of Fifteenth District, Ohio.

FRANK L. BOWMAN, Second District, West Virginia.

YACHT KILLING ALIBI SIFTED

quested police to arrest Lord Edward Eugene Fernando Montagu, second son of the Duke of Manchester, British peer, and a member of the Carma crew. He was transferred to the Long Beach jail by two detectives, Miller and E. W. Vance, who said they understood Montagu had overstayed the terms of his visitor's permit, which allowed him to enter the United States.

Meanwhile authorities located Edward O. Delarm, an aviator and Guy's chief alibi witness. Delarm was placed in technical custody and detectives began questioning him regarding various details of Guy's alibi. A subpena to testify at the coroner's inquest today was served on Delarm.

AVIATOR LINKED

Authorities had reported Delarm as missing when he and his wife failed to keep a police appointment last night. It was at the Delarm home that Guy was found and arrested early yesterday morning.

Police declared Delarm was present at the fight between Guy and Wanderwell less than two weeks ago.

Located after a day spent in seclusion, Mrs. Aloha Wanderwell, pretty widow of the slain adventurer, said she was not convinced Guy was the "mystery man in gray" who shot her husband in the back. Mrs. Wanderwell said:

"He had no motive, unless it was an imaginary one."

She recounted how Guy, who told authorities he was at the Delarm home Monday night when Wanderwell was slain, had caused trouble on one of Wanderwell's previous world cruises.

Akron on Training Flight Along Coast

LAKEHURST, N. J., Dec. 9.—(INS.)—On a training flight expected to take it as far south as the Virginia coast, the U. S. S. Akron was nosing down the Atlantic seaboard today.

The dirigible left the naval air training station here last evening carrying 76 officers and men and 10 officers as passengers. It will return to its base this evening.

Block and Hurley Call Upon Hoover

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—Paul Block, the newspaper publisher, and Edward N. Hurley, of Chicago, here for the Gridiron Club's dinner tomorrow, called on President Hoover today to pay their respects.

CHARGE RELIEF CASH WASTED BY CITY

with the statement that, according to Mathews 16 per cent of the Association's list of unemployed had been given relief work by the city.

Chief Engineer C. M. Reppert explained that about 120 men had been given work on the Mt. Washington roadway project in two-week shifts.

Councilman McArdle, asking about methods, drew from Reppert the statement that several men had been discharged on the roadway job.

Council continued hacking at the $25,000,000 budget while awaiting a report by a special citizens' committee expected to have an important bearing in fixing a reduced tax levy for 1933.

The citizens' group is reported to have made a detailed study of the city government and to be prepared to back recommendations for radical retrenchments with data on all departments.

Recommendations of the committee headed by W. P. Witherow are expected to reach Council by the first of next week.

A reduction from the present 23-mill levy on land and 11½-mill tax on buildings is anticipated as a result of taxpayer protests, though members of Council are silent on the subject.

REDUCTIONS OFFERED

W. R. Dunlap, director of supplies, offered to cut two clerkships in his department for an annual saving of $3,726 when he appeared before Council today.

Councilman Garland warned that payroll cuts should be "for the good of the service" and not from political considerations.

Director E. G. Lang, of the Public Works Department, submitted a list of 23 automobile used by engineers and other employes with the comment that he "could not spare one car."

The Schenley Park [illegible] green, requiring one [illegible] maintenance, was eliminated. The ground may be used [illegible] courts, Councilmen indicated. The Peralto street bathhouse also was cut out, involving a small saving.

The possibilities for new sources of revenue are not considered bright, as members of the special committee have indicated they are opposed to seeking new taxes until all economy possibilities are exhausted.

SAME WATER RATE

Council also burned one bridge behind it yesterday in setting the 1933 water rate the same as this year. For the first 250,000 gallons, the consumer pays 20 cents per thousand. Although eager to find more revenue, Council decided that now is not the proper time to put more burdens on the home owner.

With plans for taking from $5,500,000 to $6,000,000 out of the Mayor's budget offered by the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board and the Building Owners and Managers Association, Council has taken action on a number of the points raised.

Council has asked for a list of all city-owned automobiles used by directors and other city officials, with the idea of eliminating unnecessary cars and perhaps transferring some cars to the police radio fleet. Telephones installed in private homes at city expense are also being checked.

MARKET LEASE PLAN

The Law Department has been asked for an opinion on whether it is possible for the city to lease the North Side market in the same manner that the Diamond market has been leased at a saving to the city.

Chief City Assessor Thomas C. McMahon told Council yesterday that the recommendations of James W. Bamford, of the Building Owners and Managers, to take 13 employes out of the Assessors office are "absurd." McMahon said:

"With these eliminations, we would cease to function in 48 hours."

Councilman Garland was successful in his efforts to have the city print a list of assessments on real estate. Council voted to appropriate $5,000 for this purpose in the 1933 budget. Garland, in questioning McMahon, brought out that five of the nine city assessors are ward chairmen.

McMahon declared that city assessments are available to anyone who asks for them. He said it would require more than $10,000 for clerical work to compile the list.

Education in Drinking Urged By Medical Man

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(Universal.)—Immediate education in the "art of drinking" is urged by Dr. William Muhlberg, of Cincinnati, former member of the Harvard University faculty.

Dr. Muhlberg believes that the amount of alcohol imbibed should be limited to one ounce a day, which, he says, corresponds to one quart of light beer, half a pint of light wine or two ounces of whiskey or brandy.

As medical director of the Union Central Life Insurance Company, he is here to attend meetings of the medical committee of the life insurance association.

Discussing the possibility of a change in the prohibition laws he urged that Americans interested in the consumption of alcoholic beverages adopt a plan of drinking similar to that used in the best families in Germany, where [illegible]

Mr. Muhlberg believes a properly controlled distribution of alcoholic beverages may even result in better health, provided people are taught to drink moderately.

STORK NEAR, FIGHT TO SAVE WOMAN DOOMED AS KILLER

SEWS AND HUMS LULLABIES IN DEATH CELL

Lawyer to Take Plea For Officer's Slayer To High Court

International News Service.

STATE PENITENTIARY, COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 9.—Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Snipes, 29-year-old expectant mother, whom the State of North Carolina has decreed must pay with her life for the slaying of a policeman, sat in a penitentiary cell today sewing baby garments and humming lullabies while a desperate legal battle shaped to seek her freedom.

Joseph R. Moss, defense counsel appointed by the state to defend the comely, red-haired woman because she is penniless, prepared at York, S. C., scene of the trial, an appeal to the Supreme Court.

The appeal, based principally on the contention that the state allegedly failed to show premeditation to support a first degree murder conviction which made the death sentence mandatory, will be filed within 10 days. Moss told International News Service:

"This is a rank miscarriage of justice. The evidence could have supported a manslaughter conviction at the most. I'll take this to the United States Supreme Court, if necessary."

EXECUTION DATE SET

Mrs. Snipes yesterday at York was sentenced to be executed in the electric chair April 7 after a jury of men had found her guilty of first degree murder in the fatal shooting of Elliott Harris, a rural policeman.

It was the first time in the history of South Carolina that a white woman has been sentenced to death.

She is expected to bear a child early next month. It will be born in the penitentiary hospital.

Handcuffed to a guard and carrying her few possessions in three pasteboard boxes, the mother-to-be was brought to the state penitentiary here yesterday afternoon to await the outcome of the battle for her life. She said:

"I'm placing my trust in God and my attorneys to get me out of this fix. God knows I didn't mean to kill him. He (Harris, the policeman) knocked Clyde (her husband) down and pointed his pistol at him.

SAYS OFFICER HIT HER

"I thought he was going to kill Clyde and ran to stop it. He hit me in the mouth with his fist and said, 'I'll shoot you.' Then the gun went off and he was lying on the ground. They say I shot him four times. I don't know. My mouth hurt and I didn't want him to kill Clyde. I didn't know what I was doing."

Harris, a rural policeman, was slain early last summer when he stopped an automobile in which Mrs. Snipes and her husband were riding with Spencer Morton, a friend, near Fort Mills, S. C. Harris sought to arrest them for reckless driving.

Mrs. Snipes testified Harris demanded $10 cash bail or he would take them to jail. Her husband and Morton corroborated this testimony.

Snipes, charged as an accessory to the slaying, pleaded guilty to an automobile theft charge by agreement with the state and accepted a seven-month jail term.

ROXIE'S LIQUOR CASE TO JURY

The fate of the 23 defendants on trial in Federal District Court in a liquor conspiracy case went to the jury shortly before noon today, after closing addresses by Assistant United States Attorneys Raymond D. Evans and Robert McKinley, followed by the charge by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker.

Rocco DiPippa, alias Roxie Long, a defendant in the case with an entered plea of guilty, who has been the chief government witness, was the center of attack by some of the defense counsel in their closing addresses yesterday.

He was described as the "Al Capone of Allegheny County," "an arch criminal," "a modern Fagin," "a weasel," a "headliner," and other names by defense counsel.

Twenty other defendants have entered pleas of guilty and the case was continued as to two others because of illness.

The defense counsel, Attorneys John D. Meyer, W. H. Coleman, J. A. Richardson, Jacob Shulgold, Louis Little, Louis Bowytz and S. L. Fuss, maintained there was no general conspiracy as alleged in the indictment and as described by DiPippa.

MARILYN TELLS OF NEW TROTH

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Marilyn Miller is engaged to marry Don Alvarado, the motion picture actor, but a date for the wedding has not been set, she said today.

Miss Miller was one of a party of seven "stowaways" which included Alvarado, who were permitted to land in England provided they returned to New York by the same boat.

Miss Miller fell ill, however, and doctors advised her it might be dangerous to sail until she recovered.

As a result, the Home Office granted Miss Miller and Alvarado extended permits to remain in England, while other members of the "stowaway" party caught the boat train for the Bremen on schedule last night.

COLD MARCHERS QUIT DISTRICT

Prevented from entering the city in a body, and finding their camp site in outlying districts too uncomfortable because of the cold, "hunger marchers" bound west from Washington were leaving the Pittsburgh district today. Only a few stragglers remained, some of them having found food and shelter in the North Side, Hill and South Side districts.

A score of marchers camped on Neville Island, but had resumed their trek today. Others stopped for a time at McKees Rocks. Police turned the travelers away from the city at the south end of the Liberty tubes last night.

Arrested for Nudism Book, Agent Freed

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Nathan Friedman, a book seller, arrested last month on the complaint of John S. Summer, of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, for displaying a book on nudism in his Wall street shop, has been freed by Magistrate Guy Van Amringe.

The magistrate said he considered the book in question, "Let's Go Naked," well written and its illustrations similar to many found in museums and other artistic exhibitions.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Anna Case, who retired from the Metropolitan opera upon her marriage to Clarence Mackay, has returned to recital.

At the Hotel Plaza's weekly musicale yesterday the former prima donna sang a group of operatic and concert pieces. On the program with her was Efrem Zimbalist, the violinist.

RIDING MASTER HOPES FOR BAIL

NEW CITY, N. Y., Dec. 9.—(INS.)—Hoping to obtain his release on bail sometime today, Sidney Homewood, riding master facing a prison term for betraying Charlotte Gibson, social registerite, sat in Rockland County Jail today while attorneys worked to perfect an appeal.

Still adamant in his refusal to wed the society girl, soon to become a mother, Homewood remained aloof and cold, declining to discuss the case.

Caesar Barra, chief defense counsel, today said he would apply for his client's release on suitable bond pending the appeal.

Robert Gibson, father of the girl, today announced there was "no question of marriage. Homewood's name would be no credit to the Gibson family after all this mire and muck."

DOG HERO SAVES OWNER'S LIFE

His master, Hans Naef, laborer on the farm of Sol M. Stroock, New York lawyer, entered the pen of a 4-year-old bull which had previously been docile. This time, however, the bull lunged at Naef, knocked him down and gored him.

Weather Conditions.

The western high pressure now covers most of the country east of the Rocky Mountains. It is centered over the central plains, the highest barometer reported, 30.76 inches, at Omaha. The southwestern low developed considerably in intensity, but there was little eastward movement. The lowest barometer reported is 29.50 inches, at Modena, Utah. There is an unusually steep gradient in the pressure over Colorado. There is much cloudiness over the country, even in the high pressure, and snow flurries are in progress over the lower lakes, the lower Ohio Valley and westward over Missouri and Kansas. The southwestern low is producing snowfall over the Central Rocky Mountain states. Temperature changes were slight, but mostly towards colder. Zero temperatures or lower prevail this morning over the country west of the lakes as far south as Central Colorado and Kansas.

BIRTH CONTROL ISSUE AVERTED BY CHURCHES

Federal Council Puts Off Action Until 1934 Session

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec 9.—(AP.)—Committal on the debate-provoking issue of birth control today had been deferred by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. The executive committee was instructed last night to study the issue and report to the next council meeting, in 1934.

The council also changed the wording of a reference to divorce and expressed itself as supporting the Eighteenth Amendment and "appropriate enabling legislation" and opposing submission of a repeal amendment. The prohibition action was contained in a resolution adopted by the council.

The action on the other two subjects completed revision of the council's social ideals creed.

A proposed reference in the creed which favored repeal of legislation against dissemination of birth control information by "physicians and other qualified persons" was stricken from the document.

A passage was retained, however, which said the subject of birth control "should be re-examined dispassionately, from the point of view of morality and hygiene, with due regard to the best means of maintaining desirable standards of living and fully discharging the fundamental obligations of parents to each other and to their children."

From the revised text containing the statement that "divorce or separation may be and often is preferable to the enforced continuance of a relation which has no true basis in mutual respect and affection" the words "and often is" were deleted.

FOOD-FOR-POOR SHOW SUNDAY

Don't bring any money—not even a penny.

Because they won't take it. They will accept a can of beans, a not-too-old hat, or a second-hand suit of clothes. In fact, any food or serviceable clothes.

That's the schedule for Pittsburgh's Sunday movies this coming Sunday. And it's all for charity.

From 2 to 11 p. m. first-class movies will be shown in the Warner Theater, Fifth avenue. And it looks like a big day. There'll be a dozen young men at the doors to refuse your currency but they'll eagerly accept a ham or a can of tomatoes or a pair of shoes, no matter the size.

Everybody is donating his services—the Motion Picture Machine Operators' Local 171, the Stagehands' Local 3, the ushers, the "ticket-takers" and all the other Warner employes.

The picture to be featured is "Deception," with Leo Carrillo, Dicky Moore, Thelma Todd, Barbara Weeks and Nat Pendleton. Short subjects to be shown include Harry Sweet in "Fire House Honeymoon," John Hix's "Strange As It Seems," a Betty Boop comedy and a news reel.

Jackie Coogan, Now Wrestler, Shows Ire

SANTA CLARA, Cal., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Jackie Coogan, former juvenile motion picture star, has taken up wrestling at the University of Santa Clara, where he is a freshman student.

Coogan matched his 110 pounds yesterday against "Chip" Cipolla, a second-year student. Max Baer, heavyweight boxer, acted as referee and stopped the match, students said, after the two contestants gave evidence their tempers were slipping.

County 'Gold Room' Holds Novel Devices

Electric Gate Bars Unwelcome; Foot Brings 'Silence'

In the flush of critical admiration which has been bestowed upon the beautiful carpet and the draperies and the paneled walls of the County Commissioners' new meeting room—the "Gold Room"—certain other modern conveniences have been overlooked.

These are an electrically-controlled gate to keep out unwelcome job-hunters and a treadle-operated silence sign, although Rube Goldberg had nothing to do with the job. The treadle-sign arrangement has not yet been put into operation.

Ray Sprigle, Director of Property and Supplies, is proud of these installations, although the Commissioners are anti-treadle, and much prefer a loud-sounding gavel.

The treadle is to be operated by Chairman C. C. McGovern. He presses his foot on the treadle and a commanding sign flashes the word SILENCE.

The electric gate seems a political triumph. Each of the Commissioners has a button he may press to open the gate to admiring vote-getters. But to those unwelcome the gate remains as firm as prison doors.

Ford, 'Feeling Fit', Returns to Work

DETROIT, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—On the twelfth day after he underwent an emergency operation for hernia and removal of the appendix, Henry Ford went back to work yesterday.

The 69-year-old automobile manufacturer spent about three hours in his office at Dearborn, and was reported by his associates as "feeling fit."

HUTTON MOANS AS LOVE BALM SLEUTH SUES

Aimee's Singing Mate 'Outraged' by Echo Of St. Pierre Case

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The leading baritone of Angelus Four Square Gospel Temple and husband of its pastor, Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, paused with a mashie in mid-air on a golf course and heard news of what had taken place back at the County Courthouse. David L. Hutton, Jr., dropped the mashie as he said:

"Good heavens!"

He had just heard of the filing of a bill of particulars yesterday in the $1,963 salary suit of Roy Watkins, former Temple employe, who aided Hutton in the latter's defense against a breach of promise suit. In this suit, Myrtle St. Pierre, a nurse, won a $5,000 verdict, asserting Hutton broke her heart.

BALM CASE LETTERS

The bill of particulars, which Hutton had demanded in Watkins' suit, reproduced correspondence which Watkins said he received from Hutton relative to the "love balm" case.

In the correspondence were suggestions that the suing nurse might "mysteriously disappear," that the "case must be killed," "give the gal a couple of hundred," and "she'd look better in a frame."

After learning the nature of Watkins' bill, Hutton mopped his brow and said:

"Well of all—well I'll be—why it's outrageous. But just wait until the case comes to trial (January 23).

"I'll have my say then. I'll have witnesses and I'll have stuff that'll shake up the town—mark my word.

"Why didn't I save Watkins' letters to me? Oh, why didn't I?"

WORRIED ABOUT AIMEE

Moodily, Hutton picked up his mashie. As an afterthought, he added:

"No, I have nothing to say. See my attorneys."

The letters Watkins told of having received from Hutton related that "Sister" Aimee, although having "splendid success" in Kansas City, was much worried over the suit.

The missives said the nurse "must not appear in court as it would kill Sister," that "I know Sister could not stand a trial," and "we'll go to Cuba if necessary."

In his suit, Watkins told of acting as an investigator for Hutton in the St. Pierre suit before it came to trial.

WIFE'S SECRET ON RUM UPHELD

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—What Mrs. Eugenia Jelke, wife of F. Frazier Jelke, millionaire stock broker of New York and Newport, did with the 75 cases of "pre-war liquor" she received from her father as a "pre-wedding gift" remains unanswered.

In Superior Court, where she is asking an allowance of $2,000 per month pending hearing of a divorce suit, Presiding Justice Hugh B. Baker ruled that to demand an answer would be a violation of her constitutional rights. Justice Baker asked:

"You mean to show that she got some benefit other than from the liquor itself?"

William A. Peckman, counsel for Jelke, replied:

"Yes."

Mrs. Jelke's father is A. H. Woodward, said to hold a controlling interest in the Woodward Iron Works, of Pittsburgh.

BOXER CHARGES SPITE TO GIRL

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—(Universal.)—Blaming jealousy for the $50,000 betrayal suit filed against him by Miss Frances Armenta, 17, Alberto (Baby) Arizmendi, Mexico's bantamweight idol and claimant to the world's bantamweight title, has filed an answer to her action.

He alleged that Miss Armenta's suit followed his refusal to pay her $500, and accused the girl of trying to cause him unfavorable publicity because he was engaged to marry another.

'MILLION' LOOT NETS $228 CASH

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—(Universal.)—Unless the five bandits who committed the $500,000 mail robbery here last Tuesday are able to convert some of the negotiable securities into cash, the profits on their daring crime are going to be a bitter disappointment to them, a complete checkup today revealed.

In all the registered mail which they snatched from a carrier and his guard, there was only $228 in currency, or $45.60 apiece.

Except for the small amount of currency, the loot consisted of about $178,000 in negotiable securities, which bond tellers throughout the country will be able to identify by their serial numbers, a large number of checks on which payment can be stopped and the balance in non-negotiable securities.

Girls Advised to Marry Men With Past Affairs

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Dec. 9.—(INS.)—The ideal bridegroom is a man who has accumulated—and discarded five or six love affairs, Prof Erdman Harris, of the Union Theological Seminary of New York, believes.

Addressing a conference on the "Ideal Husband," participated in by 50 men and women students of eastern colleges, Prof. Harris said last night:

"In studying the masculine side of marriage, I have considered 200 cases. I find if a man can't fall in love without apologizing to his mother for it, he is not a good marriage risk.

"A man who has had sisters is a good marriage risk.

"The best marriage risk is the man who has had at least a mild love affair. If he has had five or six affairs, it is better.

"A man who is easy to room with; easy to play with, is a better risk than one who isn't."

YOUTH SEEKING JOB SEES U. S. ON 48 CENTS

Joseph F. Szalanski, 22, after visiting the 48 states seeking employment, thinks conditions are rather bad, although he did it on 48 cents, a cent a state, with Mexico thrown in for good luck.

Szalanski left his home in East Vandergrift for Portland, Me., July 31, confident of a job there. Instead he was granted six months probation for taking a free ride on a railroad. He next set out to scour the country for employment.

He "bummed" down the coast to Florida, from there to New Orleans, up the Mississippi to St. Paul, over to Spokane, down the West Coast to Los Angeles and then to Las Vegas, Nev. Here he was again arrested—this time for vagrancy. He was told to leave the town, but stayed four days longer.

After leaving Las Vegas, going to Colorado back to California, he met the greatest trouble of his trip. He was thrown from a freight train in the middle of a desert. For three days he remained at a water tank on the railroad, thinking trains would have to stop for water and he could leave on one of them. But no trains stopped, and he at last had to walk to another water tank, 22 miles away, and jump a train there.

After visiting the rest of the states, without finding a job, he last returned to Vandergrift last Tuesday, with 27 cents in his pocket. He had 75 cents when he started.

Asked his strangest experience he said:

"My feet had been very sore, and for six weeks before leaving couldn't walk. After walking four miles through snow in Montana I found they were better, and they haven't bothered me since."

ADMIRAL FEARS SLASH IN NAVY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(Universal)—Thirty-nine of the Navy's fighting ships will have to be withdrawn from active service and placed in "rotating reserve" in order to fulfill the drastic budget cut recommended by President Hoover, according to Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations.

The "rotating reserve" plan is the only means by which the proposed budget cut can be put into effect and reasonable efficiency in the service still be maintained, Pratt said.

The ships to be temporarily withdrawn from duty are three battleships, two light cruisers, two heavy cruisers, 21 destroyers and 11 submarines. Pratt said:

"The greatest jeopardy to our national defense is the failure to build up to treaty strength. You can't keep any fleet in good condition unless you continue to supply new blood. That we have not been doing.

"It is as much an obligation to live up to treaty strength as it is not to exceed that strength. We are greatly in need of new submarines and destroyers."

FINDS DOG SAFE AFTER FIRE

Five-year-old Raymond Horvath, of Tenth avenue, Braddock, clasps his pet dog, Daisy, to his breast today and worries little about a fire which seriously damaged his home.

Daisy had her "baptism by fire" last night and lived to tell the story.

Alone in the Horvath home when fire broke out, the pup fled to "safety" beneath a wooden stairway. The flames ate through the first and second floors of the two-story frame dwelling, causing damage estimated at $1,500.

Broken-hearted over the apparent loss of his pet, when he returned home, Raymond told firemen. A search of the ruins revealed Daisy still crouching beneath the stairway. Except for fright, she was none the worse for her experience.

Writ Protecting Bakers Continued

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 9.—A preliminary injunction granted to the Haller Baking Company of Pittsburgh against the borough of Jeannette, restraining it from interfering with delivery of baking products, has been continued in effect until final decree by the courts.

Jeannette officers, enforcing an ordinance against sale of products without a peddler's license, arrested a Haller driver in November.

Checker Player Uses Alias in Tournament

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—If A. Peters wins the Oklahoma checker championship, you can believe he'll say nothing about it at home. Because of his family's objections to his playing, he enters tournaments under an assumed name. A. Peters is the alias.

Butler Jobless Keep Library Busy

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 9.—Unemployed in Butler are finding more time to patronize the public library. Miss Eleanor Beach, librarian, reports that 10,820 books were in circulation in November, a gain of 1,768 over the same month last year.

'IGGY' UNMOVED AS CHAIR LOOMS

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—A 17-year-old youth—confessed mankiller and attacker of a woman—remained unmoved today at the possibility of paying for his crimes by death in the electric chair.

A few days ago it was a boastful James (Iggy) Varecha who police said confessed the slaying of Frank Jordan in a holdup November 16 and an attack the same night upon Miss Lillian Henry, niece of Deputy Police Commissioner Alcock.

Wednesday it was an unperturbed, calm Varecha, escaped inmate of a state home for mental defectives, who told Chief Justice John Prystalski he wished to plead guilty to a charge of murder.

He was undaunted when the judge told him the state had found him legally sane and that at the trial next Monday the court might sentence him to death, life imprisonment or at the best from 1 to 14 years in a cell. He said he understood.

'SPELL' SLAYER CONVICTED

VICTORIA, Tex., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Henry Eguia, 16, was convicted by a District Court jury yesterday for the "witchcraft" slaying of Domingo Cisneros, 21, last June. He was sentenced to four years in the Gatesville reformatory.

Sheriff Robert S. Weisinger said a fortune teller had convinced Eguia that epileptic fits he suffered were the result of a spell cast by Cisneros.

Eguia's father, Manuel, and an uncle, Alfredo Flores, also charged with murder, will go to trial next week.

PLEAS OF NEEDY FOR AID SWAMP CITY DOCTORS

Calls from needy families to the Department of Welfare for doctors is almost swamping the department, Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director, announced today.

Conditions are made worse, she said, because of the absence, due to illness, of two doctors from the department's staff of 11.

Mrs. Rauh said it has been the rule to answer all calls received for doctors, but so many have been received in the last few weeks that it is now "humanly impossible" for the staff to reach all cases promptly.

Last Monday 192 calls were received, Tuesday 198, Wednesday 203 and up to noon yesterday, 107.

Dr. V. J. Yorty, who Mrs. Rauh says, is "so ill he can hardly stand," answered 10 calls yesterday.

Mrs. Rauh said much of the rush is due to an increase in influenza cases.

ROBBERS BEAT VICTIM ON HILL

Jacob Pollack, of 1911 Bedford avenue, was attacked by two Negroes and robbed of $4.85 at Erin street and Webster avenue last night. The thugs beat Pollack before taking his cash, Center avenue police reported.

Another bandit pair held up William Anderson, of Union avenue, Bellevue, an insurance agent, and robbed him of $11 in Mahon street, late yesterday. Both men were armed, Anderson told police.

East End police had found no trace today of two young bandits who held up the manager and a patron in Rom's wholesale grocery, Brushton avenue and Kelly street, late yesterday.

A. R. Kraus, of 307 Hulton road, Oakmont, the customer, handed the thugs $33 before they had a chance to demand money, thus saving $208 he had in another pocket. Maurice Kwasser, the manager, and David Rea, a clerk, also were held at bay. The pair looted the cash register of $100 and fled in an automobile.

SON VANISHES, MAN SUICIDE

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(AP.)—With his father a suicide and his mother prostrated in grief, 17-year-old Arthur Quirk was sought today by police to return to the home from which he ran away last March.

The body of the father, Charles D. Quirk, a lawyer, was found in a gas-filled garage at the rear of his home yesterday, his hand clutching a letter telling his widow of his grief over their son's disappearance. The letter read:

"If you ever see Arthur, tell him I left with him in my heart. Tell him to be good to you. I am sorry for you, but this is the best."

Mrs. Quirk told the coroner that her husband and son had been constant chums.

Highway Covers Grave of Dog, Army Mascot

FORT BRIDGER, Wyo., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—There will be flowers on the grave of Thornberg, bull dog mascot of the old army garrison here, for years to come. A highway was routed over the grave on which school children had placed flowers for a score of years. But Joseph S. Weppner, secretary of a historical landmark association, ordered the grave removed to a site nearer the fort. The dog died of old age 42 years ago.

Farrell Market Funds Aid Needy

FARRELL, Pa., Dec. 9.—Farrell Council will use proceeds of the city market to feed needy children. More than $800 is now in the fund and it was decided to operate the market until Christmas time to increase the total.

STEPSON HELD IN SLAYING

HACKENSACK, N. J., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Charged with murder of the boy's stepfather, Peter Clapsmut, 43, and Emmett Romaine, 14, were under arrest here today, following upon the discovery of the body of Abram Zabriskie, 58, of Ramsey, lying in a roadway. Police said Zabriskie's head and chest were crushed. He was a court attendant and former borough councilman.

Mrs. Zabriskie, the boy's mother, was held as a material witness.

Suspicion was thrown on young Romaine when Police Chief Harry Voss recalled he had attacked his stepfather a few weeks ago. The boy was found with his mother, who was living apart from her husband.

Clapsmut was a roomer in the house where the boy was found.

Word 'But' in Will Keeps $5,000 From Widow

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The little word "but" today stands between Mrs. Theodore Krause, of Allentown, and $5,000. In court, she asked Judge Ethan Allen Gearhart to view the will of her husband with that word excluded. Krause, she contends, had not meant to have it in the document.

Yet, there it is, in the otherwise concise and clear sentence:

"I bequeath to my wife everything but real and personal property."

"Everything," it appeared to legal and lay minds, means nothing when the real and personal property of the estate is excluded.

ADMITS PREYING ON MOTORISTS

INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Constable D. N. Bates, 67, of Black Lick, is in jail today, following his arrest on charges of extorting money from motorists.

Pleading guilty to the charge yesterday, the officer was held for court and, in default of $1,000 bail, placed in custody.

Corporal L. R. Feloni, of the state highway patrol, who made the arrest, said Bates forced motorists to pay him on threats of sending them to jail for driving through a "stop" sign on the highway between Indiana and Blairsville.

SCHOLARSHIP'S TALK BY HARRIS

Senator Frank J. Harris will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the recently organized Allegheny County Scholarship Association in the Irene Kaufmann Settlement December 16. His subject will be "Scholarship Service to Pittsburgh Universities."

Other speakers will be Miss Catherine Sayers, field secretary of Pennsylvania College for Women; Dr. S. B. Linhart, secretary of the University of Pittsburgh; Alan Bright, registrar at Carnegie Institute of Technology; Dr. Gertrude Blanchard, dean of women, Duquesne University, and Sidney A. Teller, director of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement.

HOOVER'S PLANS TO RESHAPE GOVERNMENT

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Climaxing years of consideration and debate, President Hoover today offered to Congress a comprehensive reorganization of the executive departments of the government designed to eliminate overlapping and duplication of effort.

No additional cabinet positions are involved, but the regrouping would give four assistant secretaries vast responsibilities. A total of 58 executive agencies are affected and about 15 independent agencies and commissions would be abolished.

SENT TO CONGRESS

The President's reorganization plan was sent to Congress in the form of a 76-page message embodying 11 executive orders making the necessary transfers and abolitions. Under existing law, these orders will lie before the legislative branch for 60 calendar days and then become effective unless adverse action is taken.

Mr. Hoover made no effort to estimate the amount of money that would be saved, nor did he offer any figures as to how many employes would be discharged. He pointed out merely that the total appropriations for the 58 agencies affected is approximately $700,000,000 for the current fiscal year.

The four new divisions that would be established, each under an assistant secretary, would be "the division of public works" and "the division of education, health and recreation," both in the Department of Interior; "the division of land utilization," in the Department of Agriculture, and "the merchant marine division," in the Department of Commerce.

Another major change contemplates consolidation of the border patrols of the immigration and customs services with the Coast Guard.

Significantly, the President did not at this time undertake any changes in the Army and Navy, but served notice he had further consolidations and groupings in mind affecting "certain functions" of these establishments.

These, he said, will be transmitted "at a later date." It has been suggested, variously, that the two departments be combined into a single "department of national defense," and that the air service be made a unit, but both ideas have aroused storms of opposition.

In its major phases the program centers around the Interior Department. If consummated, it would elevate that department to major importance in the executive establishment.

The President would set up two new divisions in the Interior Department, each under an assistant secretary. One would be a division of public works, the other a division of education, health and recreation.

Under the division of public works would be assembled the bureau of reclamation and the geological survey now in Interior; the supervising architect's office, now in Treasury; the non-military activities of the Army engineers' office, including rivers and harbors and flood control work, now under the War Department; the public roads bureau of the Agriculture Department and 10 minor public works agencies.

The division of education, health and recreation would take over the office of education and certain educational institutions now under Interior; the Bureau of Indian Affairs; also in Interior, the Public Health Service, now in Treasury; the division of vital statistics of the Census Bureau, now under Commerce, certain hospitals under Interior, and the National Park service together with National Parks, Monuments and Cemeteries also under Interior.

NEW DIVISION

The Department of Agriculture would draw a new division of land utilization under an assistant secretary, taking over the Forest Service, General Land Office, Biological Survey, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils and certain minor functions of the Agriculture Department.

The Commerce Department would draw a new merchant marine division under an assistant secretary. It would take over the coast and geodetic survey, the bureau of navigation and steamboat inspection and the bureau of lighthouses now in Commerce, the hydrographic office and the naval observatory of the Navy Department, the Inland Waterways Corporation of the War Department, and the United States Shipping Board Merchant Fleet Corporation.

In addition the program called for minor shifts of independent offices and commissions.

DO HEADACHES DRIVE YOU CRAZY?

It's the worst kind of folly to dope and drug yourself every time you have one of those blinding, throbbing headaches. For drugs only relieve the pain for the moment, and in a little while the headache returns worse than ever and you have to drug yourself all over again. You've got to get at the cause.

Poisons created in your own body cause these severe headaches, and you must remove the poisons to get relief of a lasting nature.

By starting the new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment, today, you may free yourself from this constant torment.

This new form of Nujol is specially designed to rid you of poisons which very often cause this condition.

Cream of Nujol contains no drugs, and does not in any way interfere with work or play. It is delicious to take. Moreover, you can use this modern treatment at a cost of but a few cents a day.

Take Cream of Nujol night and morning. Begin this very night and give it a real trial. Buy it at any drug counter.

ASTOR HEIRESS GETS DIVORCE

RENO, Nev., Dec. 9.—(Universal.)—Princess Ava Alice Muriel Astor Obolensky, the former Alice Astor, was granted a divorce here yesterday from Prince Serge Obolensky.

The divorce was granted quietly, after Princess Obolensky had succeeded in keeping her presence in Reno a secret until last Saturday. The Princess was accompanied in her Reno stay by her close friend, Mrs. Iris Tree Moffat, daughter of Sir Beerbohm Tree.

The Prince and Princess were married in London July 24, 1924, their wedding being one of the chief social events of the London season. The Russian Prince is a descendant of one of the oldest families of the Russian nobility.

His first wife was Princess Catherine Alexandrovna, daughter of Czar Alexander II. They were divorced in 1923.

Actress Arrested; 'Through With Cops'

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(Universal.)—She's through with cops, said Georgette Armfield, known in vaudeville as Georgia Gray, as she paid a $5 fine for parking. She explained:

"I told that cop I had been playing benefits for police departments as long as I can remember. I have played three of them in the last two weeks and I told him I'd never play another."

Fire Damages House, Flue Defect Blamed

A defective flue was blamed by firemen for a blaze early today that did $200 damage to a two-story house at 5803 Hays street. The blaze was confined to the basement and vacant first floor. Max Mallinger was named as the tenant of the second floor.

RECORD STEER ON VIEW HERE

"Texas Special," five times a champion and only 19 months old, came to Pittsburgh yesterday. The 1,245-pound Hereford steer will be on display at Donahoe's downtown store for at least a week. The store paid $1,550 for it.

The highest award that can go to any steer or heifer in the entire show, the coveted Grand Champion ribbon, was won by "Texas Special" at the thirty-third International Livestock Show, Chicago.

"Texas Special" was raised by a 12-year-old boy in the Lone Star state before being sold to C. M. Largent & Sons for a career amid the bright lights of cattle shows.

Pittsburgh apparently agrees with "Texas Special," according to William Hendry, his caretaker, who says the steer lost 35 pounds on the trip from Chicago, but recovered 40 after a short recuperation in Zelienople and arrival here.

Pacific Air Service To Use Zeppelins

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Trirty-six-hour airship service from Los Angeles to Honolulu and six-day service to the Philippines was forecast here by Paul W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Zeppelin Company.

The Pacific-Zeppelin Transport has been organized for trans-Pacific airship transportation and is associated with four American-owned steamship lines operating over the Pacific, he said. He did not indicate when service would be started.

SAVES HIS LIFE BY 'ORATION' AT GUN POINT

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Standing in a squalid North Side hotel room, confronted by a fear-crazed, hunted ex-convict heavily armed, H. Merle Smith, public speaker, has proved his power of oratory with his own life the prize at stake.

The story of how Smith looked into the muzzles of two pistols Jimmie Dunn, former Colorado convict, had fired frequently at pursuers within an hour, while Dunn debated the advisability of shooting the orator on the spot was related to police yesterday.

BANK ROBBERY

Smith had been forced to drive the hunted man to a small hotel in Dunn's efforts to escape the fusillades of vigilantes who gave chase after three men had robbed the Shawnee (Kan.) State Savings Bank.

The orator began his toughest assignment of all time when Dunn forced him to enter the hotel room and expressed his intention of slaying him. The fugitive snarled:

"They'll never take me alive, and only you could tell 'em where I am."

Smith recalled his service in France during the World War, when he, too, was a participant in gunfights. He related experiences that would suggest him as a man of honor. He said he could easily tell police he had left the gunman on a street corner.

TALK SAVES LIFE

Smith said:

"My promise, as man to man, is not lightly given. My own life is more important to me than one capture, more or less, by police. That is obvious, isn't it? Then isn't it natural that a man like you would have your friends who would be quick to avenge you if I should squeal to the police?"

Dunn wavered. Smith bathed a wound in the former convict's head. Dazed, he finally yielded. He said:

"I guess you're a right guy. But listen, fellow, if the police get me, my friends will rub you out. Don't ever forget that."

CHEMICAL MEDAL DESIGN PRIZE AWARDED TO 2

Frederick Fisher Florig, of 322 Melwood street, and Lois Whitcomb Rhead, of 4403 Center avenue, will receive the $100 award for the prize-winning plaster model of a medal to be used for the annual award of the American Chemical Society, Pittsburgh Section. Honorable mention goes to Olga B. Ravitch, of 5540 Phillips avenue.

The prize was awarded jointly by the committee on design, headed by Dr. Alexander Silverman, late yesterday. Florig designed the model and Miss Rhead executed the sculpture work.

The model, approximately six by nine inches, depicts a scientist holding a test tube and striding above a factory building whose chimneys are pouring out smoke that weaves into a background of retorts.

Thirteen models were submitted in the contest, under the supervision of Associated Artists of Pittsburgh. A bronze cast will be made from the selected model and will be presented each year to the Pittsburgh chemist named for outstanding service to chemistry.

The winning design was selected by a committee of judges consisting of Dr. Silverman, Dr. L. H. Cretcher, assistant director, Mellon Institute of Industrial Research; Dr. J. D. Edwards, assistant director of research, Aluminum Company of America; Christian J. Walter, president of the Associated Artists of Pittsburgh, and C. G. Fisher, president, Fisher Scientific Company.

TUBERCULOSIS GAINS HERE

An increase of 20 per cent in tuberculosis cases will be shown this year over 1931, figures of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh issued today show. The gain is ascribed to living conditions forced upon many by the depression, and the fact that many now idle take advantage of the dispensary for examinations which show them to be suffering from the disease.

The figures showed further that the number of deaths from tuberculosis in Pittsburgh up to November, this year, exceeded 200.

Plans for the booth sale of Christmas seals to start downtown next Wednesday were completed at a meeting of chairmen at the home of Mrs. E. G. Kuhlman, King Edward Apartments, at which Dr. C. Howard Marcy, medical director of the league, was the principal speaker. Mrs. J. Paul Warner is general chairman in charge of booth sales.

Receipts that came in yesterday's mail to the League headquarters, Bedford avenue, amounted to $1,000, bringing the seal fund up to $13,000. This leaves the league still short of its goal by $87,000.

HOMELESS PAIR GET AID HERE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 9.—The case of Mr. and Mrs. William Ballantyne, aged couple from Montreal, "without a country" because Canada refused to let them return after overstaying their time of three years in this country, will be taken up by Pittsburgh attaches of the Department of Labor. This information was given City Council by Solicitor R. M. White, who sought the action.

Lawrence County authorities are caring for the husband and wife, who are without funds. It is hoped Canadian authorities can be persuaded to re-admit them.

DARROW, JUDGE DEBATE HERE MONDAY

It was at a gathering of Pittsburgh newspapermen, at the penthouse of one of their number, that a seed was planted which will ripen into a public debate at Carnegie Music Hall Monday night between Clarence Darrow, celebrated Chicago lawyer, and Judge M. A. Musmanno, of the County court, on "Does Man Live Again?"

Judge Musmanno was a guest of his friends of the "fourth estate." They sat on a roof garden under a starry summer night. The coffee perculator burbled forth its brown flood. Trivalities were laid aside, and the talk was of serious things.

An editorial writer, who had recently lost a parent, said he wanted to believe his father lived again, but he could not get the evidence.

DEBATE SUGGESTED

Judge Musmanno replied there was no end of evidence if one only had an open mind, and followed this by citing many things. All listened intently.

One remarked that he would like to hear Judge Musmanno debate with Clarence Darrow on the subject, Darrow being noted for his atheistic stand. Later A. H. Brockett, local representative of the Redpath Bureau, which handles Darrow's time in this territory, submitted the matter to George R. Whitehead, Darrow's manager.

He in turn took it up with Mr. Darrow, and the latter readily consented to a clash of wits with the Pittsburgh jurist on the subject of the mortality of man.

CHARITY TO BENEFIT

It was arranged Darrow and Judge Musmanno would share alike in the receipts, but the judge declared that any money he made out of the debate would be given to charity.

The chairman of the debate will be Judge Elder W. Marshall, of Common Pleas Court.

Time divisions have been established as follows: Judge Musmanno, 25 minutes; Mr. Darrow, 30 minutes; Judge Musmanno, 10 minutes; Mr. Darrow, 20 minutes; Judge Musmanno, 15 minutes.

Mr. Darrow will reach Pittsburgh early Monday and will meet his opponent and the debate chairman at breakfast at the Pittsburgher Hotel.

Reservations are being made at C. C. Mellor's, 604 Wood street. Net proceeds will be turned over to local relief organizations through Pittsburgh's afternoon newspapers.

MARKS ON WILL QUESTIONED

Two witnesses to the will of Mrs. Emma Mitchell, Mifflin and Overland streets, Wilkinsburg, testified in the Register of Wills office when it was offered for probate, that erasures then apparent on the document were not on it when they signed it. The will, disposing of the estate estimated to be worth $6,000, was admitted for probate.

Mrs. Mitchell died in Seattle, December 4. Her will made her son, James W. Mitchell, the beneficiary. He died before his mother. In the event of his death the will provided that a third go to Le Roy M. Lemmon, a third to Everett T. Lemmon and a sixth each to Martin Lemmon and Elizabeth Lemmon.

The will had been changed to read that the first named two were to receive one-half each and the names of Martin and Elizabeth Lemmon were deleted.

THOMSON LAW PARTNER DIES

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 9.—Funeral services for James Rankin Martin, 80, president of the Farmers' National Bank here, law partner of the late Federal Judge W. H. S. Thomson, Pittsburgh, and oldest practicing attorney at the Beaver County bar, will be held Saturday at 2 p. m., from the home in Patterson Heights. He died last night.

In 1880 he was married to Miss Mary Eakin, Beaver, who died in 1910. Ten years later he was married to Mrs. Mary C. Barnett. He leaves his widow, three daughters, Mrs. Oliver C. Hurst, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Arthur H. Marks, New York, and Mrs. Walter Preck, Austria, and three stepchildren, the Rev. James M. Barnett, Arthur M. Barnett and Miss Laura C. Barnett; two brothers, William H. Martin, Beaver Falls, and J. Imbrie Martin, Midland, and two sisters, Mrs. Rose M. Duff, Beaver Falls, and Mrs. Robert Martin McQuaide, Leetsdale.

Woman's Corns Fail To Save Shoe Price

SEATTLE, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Corns on your feet have no legal standing. Miss Margaret Rebhahn, sued by a shoe store for $7.50, told a Seattle Judge she refused to pay for her shoes because they caused corns. The court gave judgment to the dealer, remarking he had given a pair of foot-pinching shoes to charity himself last week.

CHARLES L. MILLIKEN

Heinz Honor Awards Given 132 Workers

In the presence of 3,000 employes of H. J. Heinz Company, in Heinz Auditorium, yesterday, Howard Heinz, president of the company, presented gold medals and watches to 132 workers in recognition of faithful service. Attending the exercises were 200 representatives of the company's branches in the United States, England and Canada, here attending a sales convention.

J. R. Bechtel and H. N. Riley, of Pittsburgh, and R. A. McHarden, of Toronto, Canada, and G. C. Schueler, of Jacksonville, spoke for those who received awards.

DEALERS GIVEN PREVIEW OF NEW CAR

Approximately 1,000 Chevrolet dealers and salesmen from Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Western Maryland gathered at the Hotel Schenley today to hear an outline of the company's sales plans for next year and get a preview of the new 1933 Chevrolet.

A formal public presentation of the new models will be made December 17, at which time sample cars will be exhibited simultaneously at the showrooms of more than 10,000 dealers throughout the nation.

R. F. Hicks, regional manager from Buffalo, and W. G. Lewellen, sales promotion manager from the factory, attended the conference.

H. J. Klingler, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Company, was listed as the chief speaker, introduced by C. L. Milliken, Pittsburgh zone manager. Practically every department head of the Pittsburgh zone office participated in the activities. The new models were accorded an enthusiastic reception by the dealers and salesmen as was the talk by Mr. Klingler, who spoke optimistically regarding the outlook for 1933. He told how Chevrolet's activities had stimulated employment not only at points of manufacture, but throughout the United States.

He also pointed out that Pittsburgh steel workers and those employed by various other industries in Western Pennsylvania, who fabricate parts of automobiles, are largely dependent upon a continued demand for motor cars, as are the thousands who sell and service cars and the clerks employed by the dealers.

Following today's meeting, a special presentation of the new passenger cars and trucks will be held at the Schenley Hotel for fleet users.

Zone Manager Milliken announced the spirit of optimism prevailing at today's meeting indicated that dealers everywhere are looking forward to and preparing for better conditions during 1933.

Motor Fatalities Show Drop Here

Automobile deaths in Pittsburgh in November showed a decrease over the corresponding period of 1931, it was announced today by the Washington Census Bureau. Ten deaths were reported last month as compared to 13 in November, 1931. Philadelphia reported 18 as compared with 13 last November.

'JIGGS' STRUTS AS HE ENJOYS DAY IN COURT

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Jiggs had his hour in court yesterday.

Ignoring the beer bill hearing and other national questions under discussion at the Capitol, George McManus' famous cartoon figure, 4 feet 6 inches tall, stalked into the dignified chambers of the United States Court of Customs and Patent Appeals.

There, solemn judges in somber robes tried to maintain their usual decorum while opposing counsel argued whether the huge toy contrivance, imported from Germany by Adler Jones & Company, Chicago, depended for its life-like movements on internal clockwork dutiable at $4.50 plus 65 per cent ad valorem, or whether it operates by mechanism "not specifically provided for" in the Hawley-Smoot law and therefore taxable at a much lower rate.

The government, through Assistant Attorney General Charles D. Lawrence, contended that Jiggs couldn't possibly do all those stunts unless supplied with clock gear. On the other hand, James R. Ryan, Chicago attorney, insisted that Jiggs is just naturally polite and the device within his midriff is a simple machine never contemplated by Smoot or Hawley as dutiable.

When arguments were concluded and decision reserved, Presiding Judge William J. Graham gravely signalled to an attache and said:

"Take Mr. Jiggs away before someone mistakes him for a member of the bench or the bar."

WISE EVENING SHOES have always been famous around the town. First, with those women who need many pairs a season and think the Wise price just right; and, also, with those women who are budget-minded on evening shoes—but want something "just darling" to go with a new evening gown.

Wise evening slippers at $3.65 are the former $5 quality.

Slip into a Wise Shop and see the sparkling gems of silver and gold kidskin; the suavely smooth velvets . . . the crinkly crepes in black or dyed to match your gown.

Beauty and Quality to last the season through—at splendid savings!

Linked in Holdup, Woman Divorced

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Price, the former a Chicago manufacturer, who has a winter home here, were divorced yesterday after a two-day private hearing. Mrs. Price will receive no alimony.

Her husband charged that she was sentenced to six months in jail in 1930 for taking part in a fake holdup plot and claimed such action constituted mental cruelty.

Raids Same 'Speaks' Again and Again

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—There have never been as many speakeasies and cordial shops in New York City as "some people say," Prohibition Administrator Andrew McCampbell declared today. He said his estimate was 4,000. Asked how his office could make more than 10,000 raids a year if there are only 4,000 places selling liquor, he replied:

"We raid the same places over and over again. That's why?"

Monessen Traders To Demand Economy

MONESSEN, Pa., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—A resolution proposing drastic cuts in borough expenditures will be considered tonight at a meeting of directors of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce.

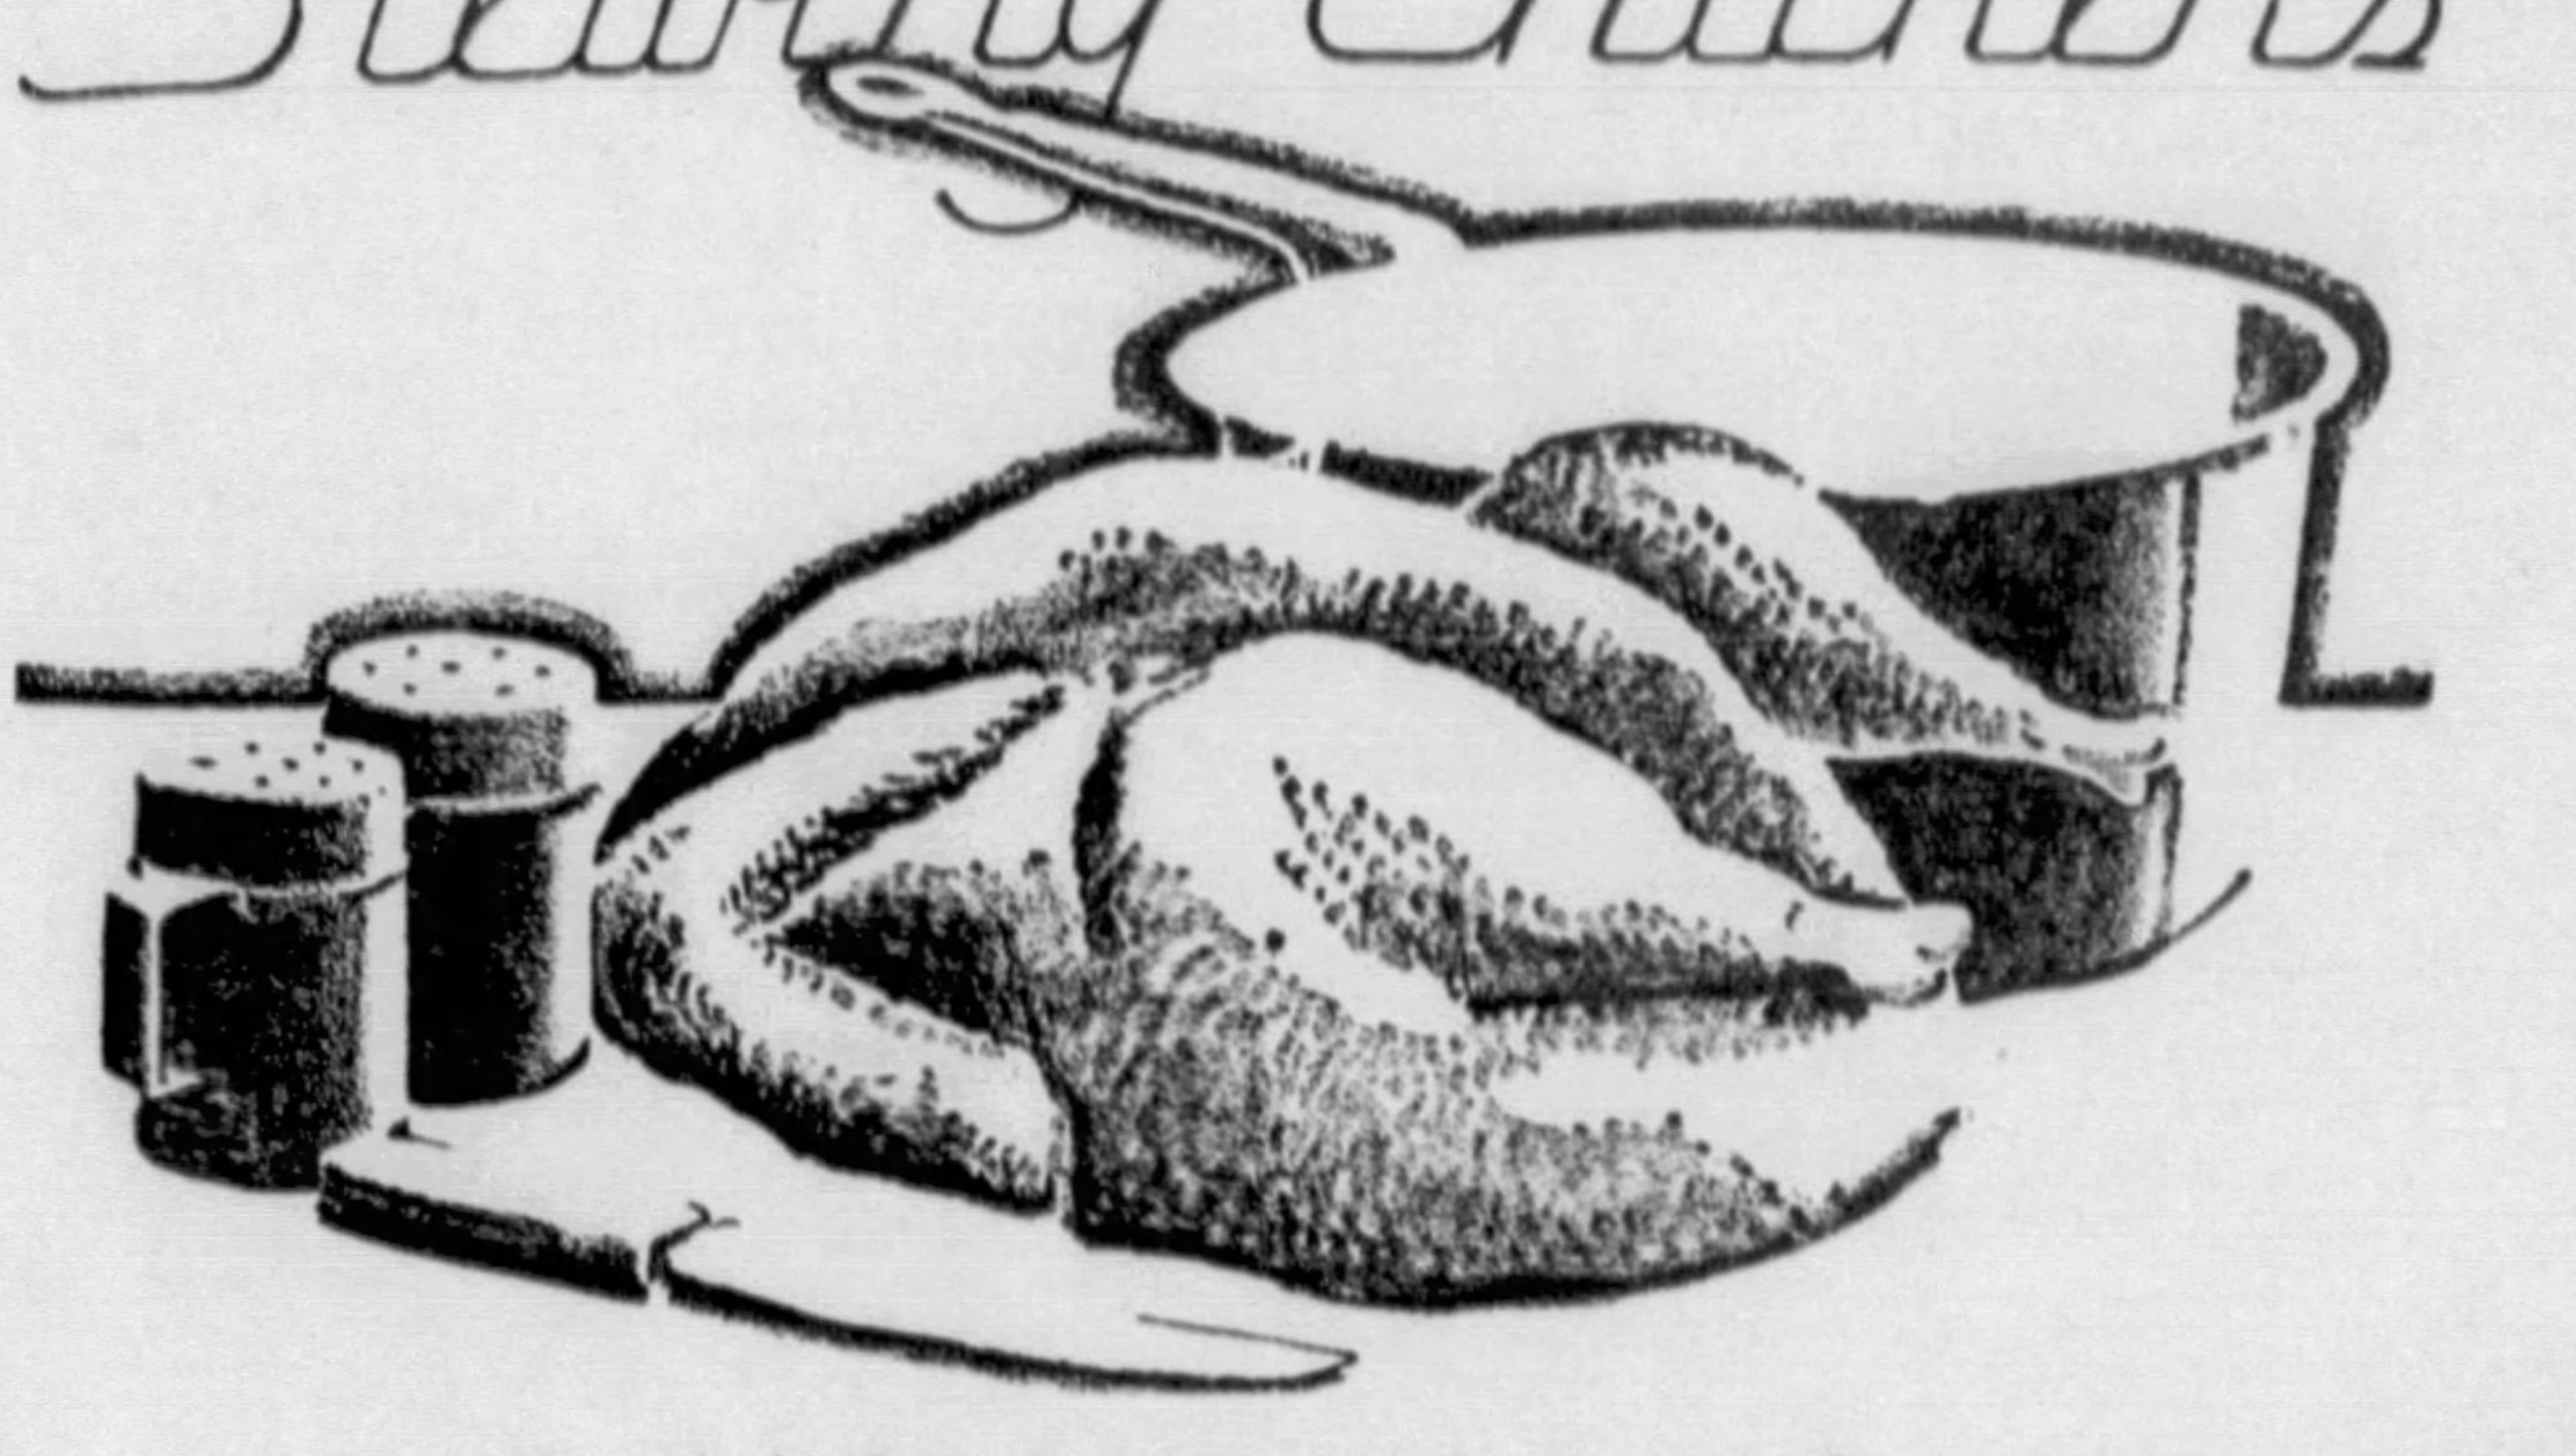
J. P. Regan, president of the organization, said the resolution recommends salary slashes for municipal employes. It also includes a letter to Harrisburg calling for reductions in state taxation.

Arrest of Teachers In Strike Ordered

HAVANA, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The Department of the Interior late yesterday issued orders for the arrest of members of the "central strike committee of teachers" which has called for a general strike. Only 25 instructors heeded the call.

The "strike committee" urged all teachers, as a protest against the non-payment of salaries, not to appear at classes.

Stewing Chickens



For a real old fashioned Sunday Dinner

These are some of the nicest chickens we've ever had . . . plump, fatted hens that will make richly flavored fricassees, chicken pies or Southern Style Stews. Incidentally, twenty-twocents a pound is the lowest price in many years for McCann quality chickens. They're freshly dressed of course.

Hulda Lefridge presented another program at the Hotel Schenley yesterday morning for a very congenial audience. For any who like to hear very pleasant music I can imagine no no happier way to spend an hour, and the musicale enables us to get acquainted with what ambitious singers and players are doing about town.

Mr. Lissfelt

Soloists yesterday were Margaret Garrety, soprano, and Helen Machette, pianist. Miss Garrety's voice is of good lyric quality. She sings with assurance based on secure musicianship and if she can shake off the consciousness of how she creates her songs, the added freedom of expression will enhance her singing tremendously. She chose songs of all schools, and to her credit, not the trite ones we are likely to hear on most occasions.

I believe Miss Machette's playing is still restricted by nervousness. She has a winning personality and should be able with broader experience to command attention.

Miss Lefridge played accompaniments.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

GUILTY IN CASE INVOLVING GIRLS

Harry Reitzell, of Buena Vista street, North Side, was convicted yesterday in Federal Court of violating the Mann Act by unlawfully transporting Agnes Ferich and Pauline Pisano from Pittsburgh to Steubenville, O. The case was heard before Judge R. M. Gibson. Defense counsel said a new trial would be asked.

Miss Ferich, a government witness, who was arrested on a perjury charge after leaving the witness stand Wednesday, was held for court yesterday by the United States commissioner. In default of bond she was committed to jail.

BUS FARE CUT IN FRANKLIN

FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 9.—Immediate reduction in inter-city and local bus fares during "off-peak" hours was announced today by the Citizens' Transit Company. Between Oil City and Franklin the rate will be 30 cents instead of 40 from 8:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. to midnight. On Sunday the special rate checks will be accepted as fare at all hours.

Superintendent V. A. Redfield believes the reduction will result in an immediate benefit, both to patrons and to the company. The reduction will help merchants during the pre-holiday season, he said.

Milk Producers To Shun 'Strikes'

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 9.—Milk strikers will not be countenanced, but production control and better prices will be sought, according to C. N. Snell, elected president of the Beaver County Chapter of the Western Pennsylvania Milk Producers' Association. Other officers elected were: H. L. Goehring, vice president; L. E. Eckhart, secretary; J. H. Marx, treasurer.

Roadhouse Owner Gets Four Months

Pluss Capo, who conducted the Rio Rita roadhouse at North Washington, Westmoreland County, was convicted in Federal Court of violating the national prohibition law and was sentenced by Judge R. M. Gibson to serve four months in the Westmoreland County jail. It was the third time the defendant had faced liquor charges.

Lewisburg to Take District Prisoners

United States Marshal J. C. McGregor was advised by the warden of the new Northwestern Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg that government prisoners will be accepted from this district there after December 15. No drug addicts will be admitted and all prisoners committed there must leave behind watches and other jewelry, the marshal informed.

Numbers Suspect Held; 26 Pay Fines

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 9.—Fred Cooper, alleged leader of a "numbers racket," operating in Monessen and the Monongahela Valley, has been held for court under bail. Twenty-six others, accused as agents, paid fines of $3 each and costs.

The headquarters was raided by state police last week.

Jobless Get $10 Monthly in Food

FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 9.—The 601 registered as unemployed heads of families here will receive on an average $10 each in grocery orders under the combined state and federal aid plan this month, the new official total of $51,599 indicated. The amount represents $11,916 state aid and $39,685 federal aid for Venango County for the month. Full market baskets for Christmas are assured.

Firemen Abandon Banquet for Charity

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 9.—Due to economic conditions and the need for charity the Greensburg Volunteer Fire Departments have decided to cancel plans for its annual banquet which was to be held in January. Christmas treats for orphans and children of each community will be provided by the firemen.

3 PRESIDENTS' WIVES AT RED CROSS MEET

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—(AP.)—Three Presidents' wives had a chatty time at a meeting of the National Committee of Volunteer Service yesterday at Red Cross headquarters.

Mrs. Hoover was there for an hour and a half, and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. William Howard Taft stayed the session through. All three are members of the committee.

When Judge John Barton Payne, Red Cross chairman, began to read a report on making cotton clothing for the needy, he stopped short and said:

"I'm sorry, but I can't read this, ladies; I've forgotten my glasses."

MRS. WILSON AIDS

Mrs. Wilson, long-time friend of the judge, who served as Secretary of the Interior in her husband's cabinet, smiled and said:

"Here, use mine, unless they are too old for you."

Thus challenged, Judge Payne did borrow Mrs. Wilson's glasses, and through them read to the group of notable women around the Red Cross table facts on how 150,000 women, organized all over the nation, were making clothes for approximately 3,500,000 needy families.

Miss Mabel Boardman, committee chairman, told the group that Mrs. Hoover had visited the District of Columbia Chapter and had seen the volunteer seamstresses at work making cotton print dresses and substantial shirts for school children. She said:

"Mrs. Hoover even aided by sitting at a machine herself."

MRS HOOVER MECHANIC

The President's wife then laughingly explained that on visiting the sewing room to watch the workers, she had been attracted to a machine not in use among the busy stitchers. She said:

"I found out that the reason they weren't using that machine was because it wouldn't run, but being a better mechanic than I am a seamstress, I made it work. It was remarkable, however, how many spare parts were missing from that machine."

Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Taft and Mrs. Wilson inspected them with housewifely eyes, and paid high compliment to the variety of design and freshness of motif of the prints.

MAN FORGIVES $25,000 DEBTS

CLEVELAND, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Christmas spirit is in the air and Joseph L. Spitz got tired of having his debtors slink across to the other side of the street.

Spitz, an attorney, decided it would be more pleasant to receive cheery greetings again than it would to hold a lot of "IOU'S."

He canceled the debts of 200 persons, amounting to $25,000, and announced those who owed him "are at liberty to start all over again." He explained:

"My debtors have been avoiding me, often passing me without the usual salutation. This became more embarrassing to me than my debtors.

"So, now that Christmas is almost upon us, and wanting to pass good cheer, happiness and joy to all, I thought this would be a good time to start anew."

Church to Entertain North Side W.C.T.U.

Rich Widow Fleeced, Stock Salesman Held

YORK, Pa., Dec. 9—(INS.)—Charged with operating fake stock deals with a resultant loss of more than $60,000 to Mrs. Bertha Noss, wealthy widow, a man describing himself as L. H. Baker, 41, of New York, was held in jail today in default of bail.

Baker allegedly set himself up as a representative of large New York banking and oil interests. Bail was fixed at $15,000 for one charge of violating the state securities act. Other charges of fraudulent conversion were lodged against him.

Canary 'Marathon' Won by 311 Notes

MISHAWAKA, Ind., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—In Mishawaka, the latest news is the canary singing contest, which "Pento," a bird owned by Dasil de Geyter, won by warbling 311 notes in a one-hour test. Twenty-five birds competed.

INCOME TAXES DROP 43 PCT. IN YEAR

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Failure of the income tax as the basis of the nation's taxation structure was further emphasized today by the annual report of Commissioner of Internal Revenue David Burnet.

With incomes shrunken by the depression, the levy on individuals yielded only $427,190,581 during the past fiscal year, falling off nearly 49 per cent from the total of $833,647,798 in the more prosperious preceding year, the report showed.

PROMPTS SALES TAX

At the same time, corporation taxes fell from $1,026,392,699 to $629,566,115, or more than 38 per cent.

Thus this form of taxation during the past fiscal year totaled but $1,056,756,697 as against $1,860,040,497 in the preceding year, a drop of 43 per cent.

It was the failure of the income tax to produce anything like uniform returns that prompted President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mills, in their messages to Congress this week, to recommend adoption of a general manufacturers' sales tax with its decidedly broader base.

COLLECTION COSTS UP

Due to the falling off in returns, the cost of collection increased from $1.40 per $100 in the fiscal year 1931, to $2.17 in the past year, Burnet reported.

Estate tax collections in the past year totaled $47,422,313, a decrease of $656,013, and tobacco manufacturers, $398,578,618, a decrease of $45,697,884.

URGES ARMY ADMIT JOBLESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—A plan designed to absorb into the Army, Navy and Marine Corps 200,000 or 250,000 of the young "floaters" rapidly being schooled through unemployment to become first-rate hoboes, was put forward today by Representative Celler (Dem.), of New York. Celler will draw up and introduce a bill embodying the plan, and make a fight to put it through the Military Affairs Committee.

Under the Celler plan, the youths, many of them just out of high school, would be permitted to enroll in the armed forces, but not for the regulation enlistment period. A much shorter term would be fixed, probably six months or, at most, a year.

It is not planned to pay these youths at the same rate as enlisted men in the regular Army and Navy. Their pay would be nominal only, but Celler pointed out today that they would receive many benefits from entering the service in the capacity his bill would create. They would be clothed and fed at a much lower cost than any possible dole, and would at the same time, at a crucial period in their lives, receive the benefits of military discipline.

WOLFF REMAINS GROCER HEAD

Mr. Wolff

Charles Wolff has been unanimously re-elected president of the Retail Grocers Association of Allegheny County. Other officers unanimously re-elected are L. M. Bonshire, vice president; William Stamm, treasurer, and Frank Fabry and Joseph Kasper, directors.

Resolutions were ordered sent City Council demanding a tax cut. Another was sent to senators and representatives protesting the Hagmaier sales tax.

Star Ill, Director Plays Lothario

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The show went on. When the singer of Lothario's role in "Mignon" suddenly fell ill, John Forsell, 64-year-old- director of the Stockholm Royal Opera, donned the costume and, with no previous rehearsal, sang the part.

Two Rabbits 'Ticket' At Irish Theater

CORK, Ireland, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—One can pay sixpence or two rabbits for admission to movies in the South of Ireland. Theater owners sell the rabbits, at something more than sixpence. The practice indicated a growing tendency to barter. One doctor accepted a young pig as his fee.

New Jersey Printers Adopt 5-Day Week

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The Newark Typographical Union today had approved a five-day week as a means of providing additional jobs for members. The union embraces workers in newspaper and job printing shops. The vote was 391 to 158.

Suspend Classes To Install Furnace

GREELEY, Col., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Until Santa Claus arrives with a new fireplace, students of Colorado Teachers' College here are going on extended vacation. Classes will be suspended at the end of this week until after the Christmas holidays while a new heating plant is installed.

Open Saturday 9 A.M. to 9 P.M.

APPEAL MADE FOR SHOES

Some school children of the "Strip" district are so badly in need of shoes, teachers have to huddle them around steampipes and radiators to dry out and warm their feet before they go to the daily classes. This condition prevails at the Parochial school in the shadow of Old St. Patrick's, Father Cox said:

"There was a time when we could buy new shoes for these little ones, but today we have no money for this. Consequently we will appreciate more than anything else, donation of shoes, old or new, for the destitute children. We have a repair shop and will gladly put the old shoes in shape so the children can wear them. We can also use old or new shoes for men and women."

It is the appeal in conditions like this that is bringing gratifying response to the subscription campaign the Sun-Telegraph has inaugurated for the Father Cox unemployment relief fund. Every subscription received on the blank on this page, or on the special cards Father Cox and his helpers are distributing, gives to his fund a liberal commission.

At all outlying Warner theaters in the Pittsburgh area special matinees open at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at which donations of food and clothing will be accepted for admission. Supplies of this character brought to the Sheridan Square theater will be donated to Father Cox.

Architects Here Designing New P.O.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—(INS.)—Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills today had announced that the new federal courthouse at Kansas City, Mo., will be designed by Wight & Wight, of Kansas City and Hornbostel & Wood, of Pittsburgh.

AMELIA TO TALK AT THIEL

GREENVILLE, Pa., Dec. 9.—Three Pittsburghers are to be honored at the annual Thiel College convocation to be held at 4 o'clock Sunday with Amelia Earhart as the main speaker. Grant Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Harvey, 1026 Sherman avenue, Duquesne; William Koehler, son of Mrs. William F. Koehler, 18 McKelvey road, Edgewood, and Miss Gertrude Schmotzer, daughter of Mrs. O. Schmotzer, 1031 Brownsville road, Carrick, are among the 19 students who have earned high scholastic honors.

The exercises will be held in the Thiel gymnasium. The academic procession will march from the administration building to the gymnasium.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. H. H. Bagger, of Pittsburgh, president of the Pittsburgh Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church. Miss Earhart will speak on "The College and Aviation."

NEED OF SOCIAL WORK TOLD

Due to economic conditions, social workers must be unusually vigilant in detecting heart impairments, it was pointed out at a meeting of social workers at the Montefiore Hospital yesterday.

Dr. Leo H. Criep, speaking on "Newer Concepts of Cardiac Disease," declared a lot depended on the social workers as the disease is one of the most common causes of death and medical treatment is of little help without them.

He said:

"It is a long time treatment which the patients require, and when their lives are complicated by social problems, medical treatment will be of little avail unless some one like the social worker can stand by to encourage the patient and help adjust conditions."

AWARD ESSAY PRIZES TONIGHT

Prizes will be awarded the 400 winners in the Better Traffic Committee's Sixth Annual Traffic Essay Contest at Syria Mosque tonight at 7:30.

Cash prizes totaling $2,375, ranging from $2 to $50, will be given winners by Council President John S. Herron. Five collegiate scholarships, with accompanying $50 prizes, will be awarded by representatives of the colleges and universities of Pittsburgh.

Talks by the Rev. Paul E. Campbell, superintendent of parish schools, and Dr. R. M. Sherrard, associate superintendent of public schools, and Frank L. Duggan, chairman of the Better Traffic Committee, are to be given. Walter Rosenbaum, chairman of the education section of the traffic committee, will preside.

Australian Jobless Hunt Cat Pelts

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Cats need more than nine lives in some Australian cities. The depression has led to a new industry; unemployed men can net a neat income from selling cat pelts, so night hunting of the animals is a popular work and sport.

1,000 'Indian Head' Settle Speeder's Fine of $10

ABERDEEN, S. D., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Fined $10 for speeding, Richard Jones, of Warner, hauled out a faded cornmeal sack and stepped toward the clerk's des. He said:

Judge John L. Ruckman, a deputy clerk and the police chief, counted out the fine—1,000 "Indian head" pennies. Several hundred were left over.

Jones said he had been saving the coins since 1907.

MOTOR TAXES GAIN IN STATE

Motorists in Pennsylvania paid an average of $43.60 a car in national and state taxes during 1932, it was revealed today by the Pittsburgh Motor Club. This is an average increase of $7.90 over 1931. The eight forms of taxes which Pennsylvania car owners must pay are registrations, driver's license fees, state gasoline tax, federal gasoline tax, federal oil tax, federal excise taxes on new cars, federal taxes on accessories and tires, and the state sales tax on tires and accessories.

Rod Saves Youths From Jail in Fraud

POTEAU, Okla., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The unspared rod spared three youths accused of mail fraud from jail sentences. When parents of Edmund Hollie, Marvin McFerrin and Ancil Nowlin, each 18 years old, had administered satisfactory whippings to their sons, Judge Robert I. Williams placed the youthful offenders on probation. They were charged with sending worthless checks in payment for merchandise ordered by mail.

Cut Coeds' Dance Books From Budget

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Co-eds at Oklahoma A. and M. College must learn ballet dancing, if at all, without textbooks. The State Board of Agriculture refused to approve a claim for $4.15 for the books after A. L. Clinkenbeard, member from Alva, wanted to know:

"Is it worth $4.15 to learn to dance?"

JAP MASSACRE REPORTER AIRS REVENGE HINT

(Edward Hunter, International News Service correspondent, whose dispatches confirming the massacre of 2,700 Chinese by Japanese troops near Fushun attracted international attention, disclosed today that some of his private papers had been stolen in Manchuria and that he was shadowed by detectives apparently seeking information with which to discredit his revelations. Hunter is now en route to New York.)

By EDWARD HUNTER

(Copyright, 1932, International News Service, Inc.)

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 9.—Energetic efforts are being made to ferret out the sources whose assistance enabled me to tour the region near Fushun, Manchuria, and confirm the slaughter of 2,700 Chinese peasants by Japanese troops.

Some of my papers have already been pilfered, including the draft of a long cable dispatched to New York recounting eye-witness stories of the Fushun massacre.

Throughout my journey across Manchuria I was kept under closet surveillance.

They held newspapers across their faces, poking holes through the pages with their fingertips so they could keep an eye on me constantly.

American authorities warned me upon leaving Manchuria that I was in personal danger owing to my expose of the massacre near Fushun.

Manchukuo propaganda organizations as well as official Manchukuo circles have gone so far as to charge that I am in the pay of Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, the former military governor of Manchuria who was dislodged by the Japanese.

JAPS REPORTED SOUTH OF WALL

TIENTSIN, China, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Japanese military activities, including firing on a Chinese water tower, were reported today near Shanhaikwan on the Chinese side of the Great Wall.

The city of Shanhaikwan, an important Chinese garrison, is on the Jehol border, where the Chinese wall comes down to the sea. Chinese reports said the Japanese, having wiped out the revolt in northwestern Manchuria, planned to extend their activities into the disputed Jehol province.

LEAGUE REFERS LYTTON REPORT

GENEVA, Switzerland, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The League of Nations assembly, closing an eventful debate on the Manchurian situation, voted today to refer that issue to the conciliation committee of 19 with a request that the committee report as soon as possible on proposals by the assembly for settlement.

The Lytton report, the record of the discussions in the assembly, and all pertinent documents were passed on to the committee without comment, and thus the clash over a resolution by four small powers condemning Japan's Manchurian policy was avoided.

This procedure was regarded as a success for Japan and for a policy of conciliation with the support of the big powers.

Among the several proposals referred to the committee was that for inviting the United States and Soviet Russia to participate in the work of conciliation.

Then the assembly adjourned indefinitely. The committee of 19 may meet on Monday.

Girl Driver Licensed 3 Days Kills Child

YORK, Pa., Dec. 9.—(INS.)—Elsie Buchen, 18, licensed three days ago as an automobile operator, was charged today with the death of 6-year-old Dorothy Ivo Nace, of Marburg. The child was run down and killed by the girl's car late yesterday.

Mayor of Phila. Cash Customer To Newsie

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—J. Hampton Moore is Mayor, but to a certain newspaper boy he's just another customer.

The Mayor, hurrying into city hall, ordered a newspaper from the young newsboy. Then he fumbled in his pockets, failed to find any funds, clutched the paper and dashed toward his office, saying:

"I'll pay you tomorrow."

"No you don't."

Somebody whispered to the boy:

"That's the Mayor."

But the lad held tightly to his paper. He held on, too, until a policeman produced the two cents.

Harvard Finds Iron, Calcium in Meteors

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Calcium, the essential element in human bones, strongly impregnated the Leonid meteors which streamed across the morning skies November 16. They also appeared to contain some iron.

These discoveries were made public today after study of spectrum photographs of these meteors taken by Harvard astronomical observatory instruments. The Harvard spectrographs were the first ever made of the Leonids.

SLEUTH KILLER HUNTED BY 200

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—Detective Michael G. Croskey's slayer was still at large today. After more than 36 hours of searching the Negro, who stabbed the young detective to death with an ice pick, was reported still in the vicinity of the scene of the murder. More than 200 policemen have been assigned to the task of capturing George (Sugarfoot) Green, Negro iceman, the alleged slayer.

A new motive for the slaying, however, had been uncovered today apart from the report that Croskey was "hot on the trail" of clues which he believed would solve the mysterious murder almost a year ago of Norman R. Bechtel, prominent Mennonite church worker. The new theory came from Harry Geons, 54, Green's Negro helper. He asserted that he was on Green's ice truck when the slaying occurred. The incident that led up to it, Geons said, was a collision between Croskey's automobile and Green's vehicle.

Fireman Doffs Dirty Boots to Fight Fire

Postal Employes To Meet Sunday

Reading of the new constitution and an address by Merideth M. Borden will be included in the program of a meeting of the Pittsburgh branch of the National Alliance of Postal Employes in the Center Avenue Y. M. C. A. Sunday night. Borden will speak on affiliation with other postal groups.

Consular Group To Honor Getting

Members of the Pittsburgh Consular Association will attend an informal luncheon in honor of Milan Getting, Pittsburgh consul of the Czechoslovak republic, in Kaufmann's December 15. Mr. Getting is retiring from the consular service January 1, due to ill health, Stephen Hayes, secretary of the association, announced last night.

Urge 125 Million For U. S. Highways

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—A federal appropriation of $125,000,000 for highway purposes in 1933 was urged in a resolution adopted by the asphalt paving conference here.

Citing the present unemployment, the conference said that if federal aid to the various states for road building was reduced thousands of persons would be thrown out of work.

Woman, 105, Still Does Housework

PARK RIDGE, Ill., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Mrs. Matilda Steiger says she's ashamed of herself, because for the past year she's been able to do only light housework.

She will be 105 years old December 13.

A. G. Allen, Ex-Ohio Congressman, Dead

CINCINNATI, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Alfred G. Allen, 65, attorney, and Democratic Congressman from the Second Ohio District from 1911 to 1917, died here early today following two heart attacks.

MAYVIEW MINE COST SURVEY AUTHORIZED

Thomas Liggett, downtown property owner, has been granted authority by City Council to make a trip through the Mayview coal mine.

Liggett, who has operated mines, asked for cost figures on the property at the taxpayers' protest meeting. He was told it costs the city $1.43 cents a ton to mine coal at Mayview. He went into Council yesterday with his own figures indicating that the cost to the city is $2.87 a ton.

President John S. Herron, of Council, dictated a letter to Dr. J. S. Hammers, superintendent of Mayview, directing that Liggett and any persons whom he may wish to take with him be given an opportunity to investigate the Mayview coal mine.

For years the mine has been a point of argument at budget meetings. The appropriation to run it this year was $33,740, which Liggett declares would buy much coal at present prices.

SEEK IDENTITY OF INJURED MAN

Coraopolis police have been asked to aid in the identification of a young man, about 21, found unconscious along a road on the outskirts of Peru, Ind. The only marks of identification, according to the Peru police, are the name "Richman Clothing Company" on the maker's label of his dark blue tweed suit and the name of a Coraopolis merchant on the label of his tie. He is described as follows:

Who Is He?

About 21 or 22, height 5 feet seven inches; weight 100 to 135 pounds; blue eyes, medium brown hair and medium complexion. He was wearing an oxford gray overcoat and blue suit.

COUNTYRAIDERS ARREST TWO

Two men were at liberty on $1,000 bail each today as a result of county detective raids on alleged speakeasies at 1840 Fifth avenue and 12 Boyd street yesterday.

The raid on the Fifth avenue place was the second within a week on complaint made to Judge Frank P. Patterson. Samuel Widowvitz, arrested in the place, was held for court by Alderman Thomas M. Geary.

At the Boyd street address, the detectives arrested Stanley Morris, 411 Arch street. He was held for court by Alderman Geary. Eight other men found drinking in the place were released.

Pittsburgh District C. E. Holds Session

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 9.—The Pittsburgh district of the Christian Endeavor Society is meeting today in the United Brethren Church with Dr. C. Bryce, Pittsburgh, presiding. On the speakers' program are the Rev. C. J. Fox, Sewickley; the Rev. A. J. Orlidge and the Rev. J. F. Strayer, McKeesport.

Icy Street Helps Capture Fugitive

JOLIET, Ill., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The weather is important. Lawrence W. Rader found it so yesterday, a cold wave froze water on the sidewalks and he slipped and fell, making it easy for police to recapture him after he had attempted to flee from the police station.

OBITUARY

McWade Funeral.

Funeral services for Robert M. McWade, Jr., 56, who died Wednesday, will be held from his home, 503 Bellevue Terrace, Bellevue, tomorrow at 9:30 a. m., followed by requiem high mass at 10 a. m. in the Church of the Assumption. The son of Robert M. McWade, formerly managing editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger and consul general to Canton, China, under President McKinley, McWade was born in Wayne, Pa., and was educated in St. Francis College, Loretta, Pa., and Villanova, at Philadelphia. He came to Pittsburgh in 1907. He leaves his widow, four daughters, Louise, Ethel and Betty, at home; and Mrs. Walter W. Ortner, of Bellevue; a son, Robert M. McWade, III; a sister, Mrs. Herbert Howe, of Boston, and two brothers, William M. McWade, of San Francisco, and George McWade, of Toronto, Canada.

Flaccus Funeral.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow from his home, 7070 Flaccus road, Ben Avon, for Elmer William Flaccus, son of the late William and Elise Wetzel Flaccus, who died Wednesday at West Penn Hospital. Mr. Flaccus was born in 1883 in Pittsburgh. He received his early education in Pittsburgh and later studied abroad. He succeeded his father as president of the William Flaccus Oak Leather Company, a pioneer in the leather industry in this district. He was a member of the Duquesne and Woodmont Rod and Gun Clubs, Ben Avon Presbyterian Church and all Masonic bodies. He leaves his wife, two sons, Elmer William, Jr., and Robert Irwin, and a daughter, Alice Eleanor.

The Rev. J. O. Callaghan.

The Rev. Jeremiah O. Callaghen, 85, for 35 years pastor of St. John's Catholic Church at Coylesville, Butler County, died yesterday in the St. John's rectory. Funeral services will be held Monday, when the office of the dead will be celebrated at 9:30 a. m., followed at 10 a. m. by solemn requiem mass in St. John's Church. Interment will be in the church cemetery. Father Callaghan was born in Ireland, and was ordained to the priesthood 59 years ago. He formerly held charges in Crafton, Derry and Duquesne, and was one of the oldest priests in the Pittsburgh Catholic Diocese. He leaves a sister in Ireland.

Lewis Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Lewis, 86, who died Wednesday, will be held at the home, 1472 Dormont avenue, Dormont, at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. Interment will be in South Side Cemetery. She was born in Wales and came to the United States with her husband, the late James M. Lewis, in 1867, locating on the South Side. She was one of the oldest members of the Welsh Church, Chatham street. She leaves a son, James G. Lewis, and four daughters, Mrs. W. C. Prosser, Mrs. George Edwards, Mrs. James Cornelius and Miss Martha Lewis.

P. H. Mattimore.

Funeral services for P. H. Mattimore, freight agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, who died in his home, 239 Pacific avenue, will be held tomorrow morning in St. Lawrence's Catholic Church, Penn and Atlantic avenues. The body will be taken to Galesburg, Ill., for burial. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Evelyn Mattimore, a son, Peter, and a daughter, Janet Mattimore.

CEMETERY CZAR HELD NEEDED

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—A cemetery "czar" to wield supreme power in a movement to beautify the graveyards of the nation is advocated by Horace W. Peaslee in a statement issued by the American Institute of Architects. He said:

"We can be practically unanimous as to which are the really good monuments, which ones are mediocre, and which ones are without any merit whatever except, unfortunately, permanence. But some one person must have supervisory authority to correct these conditions, just as the movies, organized baseball, shipping and other industries have found."

Peaslee, whose home is in Washington, is director of the institute and consulting architect for the Fort Lincoln Cemetery at Washington and the Wintergreen Gorge Cemetery of Erie, Pa.

MANY SOLVING SPY MESSAGE

What a surprise!

Cipher No. 21 is proving easy for many decoders. Letters and telegrams are received telling the contents of the "Spy Message." But, of course, there are many who are still having trouble and it is for the benefit of those that additional hints are published today.

Ignore the word spacing of the message. Copy off the cipher without spaces between words on a sheet of scratch paper, and leave room for the concealed message above the cipher.

This cipher will give you an opportunity to use the word-frequency system made famous first by Edgar Allan Poe in the "Gold Bug." But REMEMBER that in a short message it is quite possible that one or more letters may occur much more or much less frequently than they would in a larger context, so that you may have to do some shifting around and choosing between two or more letters.

There are different frequency lists in different trades, professions, etc., but in common usage the following frequency is generally found: E, T, A, O, N, I, S, H, R, D, L, C, etc. Now in the above cipher tabulate the number of times each letter occurs. Thus you will find one letter occurs many more times than any other. You can safely put that down as E. You will also find the second letter is well ahead of the balance. Consequently you can tentatively put that down as T. However, you will find that two letters tie for fourth place. We will tell you, confidentially, that one of these letters belongs in seventh place. When trying these two put both above each letter until you know. For the rest you'll have to do your own discovering.

Solution tomorrow—and a new cipher.

Tomorrow the Sun-Telegraph will print original ciphers, submitted by the cipher fans. These will be run throughout the entire week.

No, it isn't in a foreign language. This is a type of code often used in international diplomacy, partly disguised by devising a cipher which will result in some complete words. Watch for more hints tomorrow. "Bogie 1 hour 17 minutes—if you're good."

If, as yet, you have not solved this—look at additional hints in accompanying article.

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

You'd think that a guy who had been seasoned a little before the microphones wouldn't be such a 'fraidy when confronted again by one of them—after a few months' holiday . . . And maybe I'm not happier that the first broadcast is over, done with and buried in skies . . . There really shouldn't be a law restricting you from murdering your friends and other comforters, who soothe your feverish temples and coo: "Now, don't worry, kid. You'll be all right" . . . Yes, sir! . . . How do they know? . . . What can they possibly know about that indescribable (for me, at any rate) sensation that floods you during that endless second? After the announcer has left you alone with the cue that you're on the air . . . That's when your breath strands the body, your insides somersault—and your nerves have that empty and achey tingle right down to the tips of your chilled fingers . . . That's when you get a mad desire to die or run away, or something . . . Then, before you know it, someone behind you reaches over your shoulders and drops a slip on the table which says: "One minute to go!" . . . Then "½ minute" and finally "Sign Off" . . . Only a half-minute! . . . That's when you think, as you try to concentrate on your script: "I mustn't stumble. Mustn't fumble—mustn't—mustn't—mustn't—not now! It's nearly over!" . . . For, if you do bungle your wordage, you imagine your listeners are tittering and saying: "Hmmm—he's noiviss!" . . . Oh, well, thanks to the "breaks" which didn't let me choke when I wanted to, and which kept me from tripping over my heart . . . There really isn't a more miserable mental torture than that which goes with a first broadcast . . . Except, of course, when they tell you: "This is your last."

Interesting, at that . . . About Pola Negri, who weeps at any mention of Rudolph Valentino . . . Pola has a two-reel film of some extremely hot and pashy stuff that she and Rudy made—for her personal edification . . . And every time she feels weepy she runs off this flicker . . . But although Pola makes such a point of lamenting Rudy's passing, his body still rests in a borrowed crypt and if the community or someone doesn't do something about it soon, it will be dispossessed! . . . I'd like to stifle that lunatic who has just popped up around town, and who is giving the police radio squads a severe headache . . . She keeps turning in spurious robbery alarms — so she can see the speeding police wagons hasten to the alleged scene of the crime—never realizing for a moment that these cowboys might get into an accident . . . The coppers know this much, anyhow . . . That she is young, attractive, a brunette, medium-sized and slim, and that she wears long, black gloves! . . . Sounds spooky to me . . . And the penalty, when they decorate her wrists with their nickel-plated bracelets, will be too long in any prison! . . . To her I pass along the medal I heard I was getting from the Loyal Order of Chiropractors — for giving so many people a pain in the neck.

Funny about Chicago being bothered because of Noel Coward's pan of the town. One of the Chicago papers refers to Coward's blast as "merely another complaint from those 'art' persons!" . . . What Coward really said was this—that he wouldn't play his new show, "Design for Living," in Chi because when he played "The Vortex" there "the more I became sad, the more the audience laughed!" . . . If they did, then they certainly don't rate his stuff . . . For Coward's craftsmanship belongs among the capables.

Wilkerson Gray of 419 Broome St. rates anybody's orchids . . . He bought out a theatre for 3 performances, so that he could send his employes and friends to see the show there . . . He keeps raising wages, instead of trimming them, and he is hurling a huge party at a Broadway hotel after the show . . . His theory is that most of the depression comes from the fact that people are taking advantage of it to cut salaries, etc . . . And that if people would spend coin, the depressing state of affairs would be over . . . He prefers spending his money in the theatre, because he says showfolk are always so ready to help others who are unfortunate and distressed . . . Quite a guy, Mr. Wilkerson Gray . . . Wish there were more like him . . . I like that crack in "Gay Divorce," to wit: "Be feminine and sweet, if you can combine the two!" . . . Ann Andrews of "Dinner at Eight" has a trick to shoo away panhandling friends, who think she's making heavy coin . . . She shows them her contract, with her wage written in red ink, to prove to them all that hers is a normal salary—not too much—and not enough, if you asked me.

What the gazettes didn't include in their exciting yarns about that Raymond St. Jailbird who, while trying to escape, shot a guard dead and then himself—was this fact . . . That his bride (who was also shot at and missed) is a clever woman . . . When he was first jailed she warned the keepers and warden to search anyone visiting him for guns . . . she feared, she said, that he would commit suicide . . . So, naturally, they never suspected that when the gun came in it would be on her person! . . . But, for all her plans, the plot went fooey—she lost her man, as did the large family of one of the guards . . . And now comes the horrible angle of a conscience-stricken keeper who slew his wife and used bad aim on himself . . . what a mess it all is!

Hurst 'Lummox' Film In Avenue Cinema

Fannie Hurst's prize novel, "Lummox," is on view in its film version at the Avenue Cinema till the end of the week. The pathetic story of a servant girl who is divinely good at heart, but inarticulate, is told with appealing pictures of her career, from the scrubbing of floors to the great concert where poor and unknown, she hears her illegitimate son win a triumph as a piano virtuoso. While there is much sticky sentiment, it can't be called maudlin. Anyway, there have been worse things than sentiment in moving pictures. There is also a "Tom and Jerry" cartoon comedy that is worth walking around the block to laugh at.

Leads

Beer Picture For Keaton, Durante

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 9.—When Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer talked of Jean Hersholt for its beer picture, it was throwing a red herring across the trail to cross up other producers. The real plan of the studio is not a serious picture, but an uproarious comedy based on the red-hot national issue.

Now, when it is too late for other studios to cop the idea, officials admit that the story will be a co-starring vehicle for Buster Keaton and Jimmie Durante. They have Bob Hopkins, one of the ace comedy writers on the lot, giving it a final workover.

Jimmy Durante

Such coups, providing this is a coup, are the delight of the producers. Many a tale could be told of the machiavellian strategy with which the Hollywood nabobs seek to protect their ideas from lynx-eyed competitors.

Well may they plot, for the first studio on the market with a successful idea skims the cream of the profits. Even the cream is none too thick these days.

On a coolish night, Preston Sturgess, playwright, entertained the Baltimore Dairy Lunch Club with a dinner in his back yard. One end of the long table had its back to an open-air fireplace, and there Harry Ruby, the song writer, contrived to find himself a seat.

The lobster bisque was perfect, the chicken pie melted in the mouth, the flames crackled merrily behind him, but Ruby became more and more ill at ease. Finally, someone asked:

"What's the matter, Ruby, aren't you warm enough?"

"Am I warm enough!" exploded the song writer, "five more minutes and they'll be serving me!"

The Joan Crawford Company finally has gone into production without a leading man. Clark Gable appears to be out and Jack Gilbert and Lew Ayres have been mentioned as possibilities. With two weeks of shooting before he needs the leading man, Director Howard Hawks is not rushing to a decision . . . Charles Brabin, an ardent collector of English furniture and ornaments, is buying the crystal chandelier that once hung in the London home of Anna Pavlowa.

The film people are showing a lively curiosity in the German picture "Maedchen in Uniform," which is running here two-a-day in the Belasco Theater, until now stronghold of the legitimate drama. Clarence Brown tells me that it is one of the two current European films with hit possibilities in this country. The other is "M," the story of a child-murderer and of gang activities. When he was in Paris, Clarence says, the film was showing from 8 to 10 p. m. in French and from 10 to midnight in German. It was a big success, and, oddly enough, the leading man is an actor who is a double for Eddie Robinson.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Maureen Delaney, of the Irish Players, whose first production in the Nixon in 20 years will be "The New Gossoon," opening a week of repertoire Monday, likes policemen. Being Irish, she would, says you, but that isn't the reason at all, at all. She likes them because one was gallant to her on her first visit to America as a player from the Abbey Theater, Dublin. He was stationed at Broadway and Forty-second street, New York, and had seen her play in "The Whiteheaded Boy." As she was passing he took off his cap, in which he had a rose, and handed her the flower. There was a similar tribute daily as long as she played that particular engagement. This may be a tip for Eddie Graney, a fine Irish lad who handles traffic at the Nixon corner. But the police needn't get too chesty—Miss Delaney adores cats, too. As an artist, she is essentially a comedienne, yet she counts among her acting triumphs the portrayal of a tragic role, that of Bessie Burgess in "The Plough and the Stars."

* * *

Peggy Doughtery, home-town girl who is frequently called upon to play a role with the George Sharp Players in the Pitt, has received such a call for next week, when the production will be "Naughty Cinderella," farcical vehicle in which Irene Bordoni formerly starred. Miss Peggy not only is familiar with stock requirements but also with other forms of stage work, having had wide experience both in vaudeville and musical comedy. She even had her own act in Keith-Albee "time" for several seasons. Another player outside of the regular company in the Pitt also will be seen next week. Hunter Gardner, now appearing with the company for the first time, having been retained to portray an entirely different type of part. He has been doing fine this week in a very serious dramatic role.

Homewood Group Plans New Production

The Little Theater of Homewood will stage its second production, "It Happened in Hollywood," in the Homewood Carnegie Library Auditorium, Friday, December 16. Parts will be played by Roy E. Henry, Andrew Lennox, John H. Bresch, Lester Brecht, Ursula O'Hara, Helen Carelly, Ida Petrille, William F. Ross, Betty Eisner, Evelyn Hollahan, Elva Catley and Emil Johnson. Oscar E. Norbeck is the director.

Warner Star In Fulton

By MARY SHENE

"Should A Woman Tell," is showing on the Fulton screen, where it opened yesterday. The title tells you all. It's a sordid and mediocre story of a woman with a past (stop me, if you've heard this one) married to a district attorney, played by H. B. Warner. In the beginning we learn that a woman has just been condemned to die for shooting her assailant. The D. A. is handed the "razzberry" by the press for doing his duty as he sees it.

History has an inconvenient way of repeating itself, however, and the first thing you know, there is the D. A.'s sister falling for a notorious blackmailer. He takes her to a private dining room in a night club (the villain) and when the inevitable happens, the girl shoots him.

The proprietor of the club, Lew Cody, a former sweetheart of the district attorney's wife, played by Evelyn Brent, for her sake, sends the girl away and assumes blame for the murder.

To tell everything would reveal Evelyn's past to her husband, but as the press is about to print it anyway, she decides she may as well be responsible for the murder as her sister-in-law, so she claims she is the guilty one.

Between a blundering reporter, New Sparks, who puts two and two together and gets 16, and a little sane action by the D. A., the truth comes out and his sister, being a beauteous blonde, is acquitted, and "all's well that ends well."

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

EXCELSIOR HOTEL, ROME, ITALY.—This morning, at the frightful hour of 10 o'clock, there came a pounding upon my bedroom door. I sleepily told the knocker to enter. Whereupon a handsome young man bounded across the room and grasped my hand warmly.

"Good morning, Mark!" he cried. "You remember me, of course. I'm Ray Cozine. And I'm here to tell you that everything is all set."

"I'm very happy to hear it," I replied, "and it's a pleasure to see you again, Mr. Cozine. But may I ask what the devil are you talking about?"

Slowly—very slowly—the truth dawned upon me. I suddenly remembered that I had signed a motion picture contract with a famous picture corporation several days before I sailed on the Rex.

As closely as I can recall the contract at the moment, the picture outfit was to make several short subjects during this trip of mine to foreign lands. I was to act in these films.

Bit by bit the memory of that afternoon in New York returned to my mind. There had been six or seven lawyers and any number of legal papers. Yes, and Mr. Cozine had been there too. It was agreed that he was to dash to Italy and set all the details.

And now, here he was in Rome to be my director.

"My friend," I finally said, "did you ever see me act?"

The director said he hadn't.

"Then it is my sad duty to inform you, sir," I continued rapidly, "that I am very possibly the worst actor you have ever gazed upon."

"That's what they've all said," was Mr. Cozine's very indelicate response. "And that's why they sent me along. I may be able to make something out of you. Just a moment now, and I'll introduce you to the cameraman I picked out for you."

The director was already at the door. He opened it to admit a stout Italian gentleman who looked not unlike a walrus. The newcomer marched in very solemnly, raised his right arm in a sweeping gesture and cried: "How!"

My eyes almost popped from my head. I looked at Mr. Cozine.

"What in the world have you dug up?" I asked. "An Italian Indian?"

"Mark," asserted Mr. Cozine, ignoring my question, "this is Signor Lorenz Romognoli, who is to be your cameraman from now on. Please speak to him in Italian and tell him to meet us down stairs in an hour."

I grinned.

"Mr. Cozine," I replied. "I speak no Italian. You tell him."

"Good heavens!" ejaculated the director. "I don't speak Italian either. Now what shall we do?"

I told Mr. Cozine what to do—but I don't think he heard me because I was under the covers again.

Within an hour, however, I was in the Coliseum with my director and my cameraman.

"Listen, Mr. Cozine," I asserted, "before we begin, I want to tell you that this thing isn't as simple as it may look to you. In the first place, I'm not stuck on the idea of making movies. In the second place, I'm by no means the easiest guy in the world to get along with. And in the third place, I'm not so positive that I'm going to like you. You get me?"

From all over the place girls came running.

At this opportune moment, Mr. Cozine stepped in. He picked out four or five of the prettiest girls in the place and staged a little scene in which all the girls were to attempt to kiss me. Embarrassed as I was, I went through the scene for the sake of art.

When it was over, I took Mr. Cozine to one side.

"Ray," I murmured, "it goes without saying that I don't like to make pictures and that I don't like to work with girls. But just to get things right, would you mind taking that scene over? Especially the part where that big blonde tries to kiss me?"

The director nodded.

"Mark," he replied, "you were kidding me all the time. You're a born actor. We'll not only take the last scene once; we'll take it six times. And what's more, there's going to be a girl scene in each picture we make!"

I always knew I liked that Ray Cozine. What a director and what a swell guy! And how he understands us picture artists! . . .

FATHER, SON FINED AFTER EVICTING JOBLESS FAMILY

AUTO KILLS BOY LEAPING FROM STREET CAR

Daughter-in-Law of Walsh Injured In Crash

Victor Marcinowicz, 13, of 922 Washington street, Braddock, was killed when he leaped from a street car, on which he was said to have been stealing a ride, into the path of an automobile in Talbot avenue, Braddock, last night.

Several other boys jumped from the car with Victor, it was reported, but the others fled to safety when they saw the approaching automobile. Joseph Micenko, Jr., of 1415 Hays street, Homestead, alleged driver of the machine, took the victim to Braddock General Hospital where he was pronounced dead. Micenko was ordered to post bond at the Coroner's office pending an inquest.

Mrs. Mary Lou Walsh, 25, of 2786 Beechwood boulevard, daughter-in-law of Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, and Paul Craska, 21, of 530 Greenfield avenue, a United States Navy recruiting officer, were injured last night when a small government truck driven by Craska collided with an automobile driven by Alfred Walsh, of 805 Bluff street, son of the superintendent, at Bigelow boulevard and Parkman avenue.

Suffering bruises, Mrs. Walsh, wife of Dr. M. F. Walsh, a dentist, and Craska, were treated at Mercy Hospital and taken to their homes.

MRS. PINCHOT PITT SPEAKER

The problems of today and their effect on future generations were discussed by Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of Gov. Pinchot, at the annual women's day program of the University of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Pinchot spoke under the auspices of the Women's Self Government Association of the University in Memorial Hall.

Man's conquest by modern machinery presents one of the most perious problems of the age, Mrs. Pinchot declared. She said:

"One hundred men working with modern machinery can make all the bricks this country needs. What happens to the thousands thrown out of employment? This is something for the present-day generation to think about."

STORE TO HOLD 'RADIO NIGHT'

Tomorrow night will be "radio night" at Kaufmann's. Throughout the evening, WCAE artists will entertain shoppers with a two-hour series of programs, including one of an hour broadcast over WCAE from the fourth floor of the store.

From 6 to 6:30 the WCAE Concert Ensemble will offer a program of holiday music on the balcony. Immediately following the WCAE String Ensemble will provide dinner music from 6:30 to 7:30.

A broadcast featuring the Concert Orchestra and a mixed quartet is scheduled from 7:30 to 8:30.

Road Cavein Kills Relief Job Worker

FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 9.—Harry Trow, 37, was killed and George Stautler, 47, injured seriously, in a cavein along the Meadville road near here. They were part of a group of relief workers on a sewer project. Two slides from the Prospect Park road above where they were working, buried the men.

Drug Store Theft Charged to Youth

Alleged to have stolen merchandise valued at more than $100 from the Star drug store in Eighth avenue, Munhall, John Winkler, 19, of 661 Whitaker way, Whitaker, was to be given a hearing tonight before Justice of the Peace Thomas F. Johnston, of Munhall.

Bridge Rivals' Battle Lasts Into Early Hours

Leaders Named at Opening Session; Continue Today

Mrs. Hilda Stahl and R. J. Henderson were first and Mrs. R. Craig and W. W. Spear second in the initial session of the first annual Contract Bridge Championship Tournament of Western Pennsylvania finished early today at the William Penn Hotel.

The first session, for mixed pairs, had 18 couples play starting yesterday afternoon.

More than 130 players have been entered in today's card for team-of-four. The first session was to open at 2 p. m. with the second session scheduled for 8 tonight.

The tournament will close tomorrow with two sessions for contract pairs.

Son, 'Mercy Slayer,' Leaves $8,000 Estate

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—George Smith, who shot and killed his 84-year-old mother last July 7 at her home in Houghton, Mich., because he claimed he dreaded seeing her impoverished had an estate of nearly $8,000, it was revealed in an inventory on file in County Court today.

The mother, Mrs. Victoria Smith, was slain in her home as she knelt in prayer, a rosary in her hands. Smith also wounded his brother, Steve, and later committed suicide at the Houghton County Jail.

3 Good Children Willed $3,900 And Blessing

A parental blessing was contained in the will of Matthew Finley, of Sturgeon, filed for probate today. He left an estate valued at $3,900 to his three children, William, James and Mrs. McVickar, and wrote:

"I give you all my blessing, and may God guide and care for you. You have all been good children to me. God bless you all."

John W. Crisfield, of Clairton, left an estate valued at $18,000 in trust, the income to be shared by two sisters, Mary W. Crisfield and Caroline M. Crisfield. Upon their deaths, the estate goes to two nieces, Mrs. Guy R. Dalloch, Jersey City, N. J., and Mrs. Luther A. Oates, Princess Ann, Md.

Jury Indicts McCloskey On Vote Fraud Charge

EBENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Mayor Eddie McCloskey, of Johnstown, was indicted by the county grand jury today on a charge of false registration and fraudulent voting in the last general election.

Non-true bills were found on three charges of voluntarily releasing commonwealth prisoners from jail and misconduct in office and the costs in these cases were placed on R. Milton Good, Conemaugh private detective, who brought the charges.

The vote charge is the outgrowth of Good's allegation that Mayor McCloskey voted on an affidavit filed with the County Commissioners representing that he was out of the city on all three legal registration days prior to the general election. Good contended the Mayor was in the city and could have registered.

Court attaches indicated the fiery, red-headed Mayor will go on trial next week on the vote count.

TWO ACCUSED IN HOLDUP

Captured by Ambridge police after the holdup of J. V. Thompson and his wife in their drug store in Duss avenue, Ambridge, Samuel Kinder, 35, of Byersdale, and Edward Stern, of Sewickley, are to get a hearing tonight before Justice of the Peace J. V. Lewis, of Ambridge.

Police said the pair entered the store on pretext of making a purchase and, while one of them pointed a gun at Thompson and his wife, the other looted the cash register of a small amount of money. They were captured in Fair Oaks by Police Capt. Andrew Deer and Patrolmen Paul Troup and Richard O'Neil.

Bottle Hurled Into House Via Window

The crash of falling glass awakened Mrs. Maud Harvey, of 1221 Reddour street, from sound slumbers early today. Investigating, she discovered, she told police that a milk bottle had been thrown through the glass window of the front door.

RULING WAITED IN SCHOOL ROW

No further action against Chalfant Borough students attending Union High School, Turtle Creek, will be taken until court action, started by parents of 21 of them to oust members of the Chalfant school board, is settled, Cash K. Patterson, president of the Union High board, said today.

The board last month readmitted 50 Chalfant students to classes, but the threat of expulsion if the Chalfant board did not pay back tuition or sign a contract for the amount was not removed.

A petition asking board members to show cause why they should not be removed for failure to sign the contract was filed two weeks ago in Common Pleas Court by Attorney H. F. Carmack. The ruling is returnable Monday.

Councilman Faces Homestead Hearing

Councilman John Bower, of 488 Eighth avenue, West Homestead, was to be given a hearing tonight before Burgess John J. Cavanaugh, of Homestead, on complaint of a motorist that Bower's automobile was driven away without stopping after a collision in Seventh avenue, Homestead, Wednesday night.

Leonard Goldberg, of 21 South Twenty-seventh street, Pittsburgh, said he obtained the license number of the car after a collision in which his car was damaged. Police said the number had been issued to Bower. Arrested at his home, he posted bond for hearing.

Wets and Drys Badly Scrambled In Washington

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Wets made mistake with that repeal vote. They cranked the old amendment while it was still in gear.

Expect to do better with beer on the usual political sliding scale. Will demand four per cent, consider three and settle for two.

Everything in Washington is as mixed as a jig-saw puzzle in an earthquake. The dry Republicans are now wet. The wet demijohns are now dry demitasses.

There's only one office-holder who hasn't actually criss-crossed his constituents. He's the skittish saddlehoss type who stands for nothing and runs for everything.

He's the kind of faithful servant who holds down his desk with his feet. Like the pussycat with fur so warm if you don't tease him he'll do you no harm.

His services are worth a king's ransom. Which at the present rate of revolutions is about 12 for a nickel.

But he never made us a single promise. And he kept it.

FALSE ALARM REVEALS STILLS

Five stills, each of 5,000-gallon capacity and in operation for the first time, were reported seized by North Side police early today in a one-story brick garage at 844 Concord street. Two men were being held for questioning.

The stills were discovered, firemen from Engine Company No. 42, said, when they had been summoned there by someone who saw smoke coming out of the garage.

As firemen broke in the door two men said to have been the operators of the still escaped by scaling a ladder to a skylight in the roof.

Two men were arrested later, police said, when they failed to explain their presence in the neighborhood. They were Joe Martallo, 35, Congress street, and Joe Carmen, 28, of 1132 North Euclid avenue.

The stills and 50 gallons of moonshine, were seized by police.

CRUELTY STORY WINS DIVORCE

Mrs. Luba Roth Bayer, 20, of 132 Trent street, married March 8, was granted divorce from Mitchel I. Bayer just eight months after her marriage, in a decree handed down by Judge James H. Gray. Mrs. Bayer testified she was forced to leave him because of ill treatment.

J. William Shenkel, of 429 Winterhill street, has filed a divorce suit against Mercedes E. Shenkel, charging cruelty.

Bargain Barber Shop Windows Smashed

Defying the recent 50-cent haircut edict of the Master Barbers' Association, police say, Harry Wolcott, barber, at 12 West General Robinson street, continued to attract customers by charging only 25 cents.

Early today two bricks were heaved through windows in Wolcott's shop. But a sign advertising the bargain rate still hangs in the window.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 9.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Will Rogers

An awful lot of people are confused as to just what is meant by a "lame duck Congress." It's like where some fellows work for you, and their work wasn't satisfactory and you let 'em out. But after you fired 'em, you let 'em stay long enough so they could burn your house down. You know that Ruth Bryan Owen, the Congresswoman who had always been a Prohibitionist and was defeated in the primary on it. You got to give her credit, when she saw that the vote was against it, why she held no revenge, but voted with the repealists, so there you have a woman with more nerve than a lot of men.

Yours, WILL.

POLL VIOLENCE RULE DELAYED

Decision in the case of Leo Ford, charged with assault and battery while acting as constable in the First District of the First Ward, was reserved by Alderman Edward W. Haas, West Liberty avenue, last night, pending hearings for three others.

The four were arrested on informations filed by Mrs. Katherine E. Newingham, a clerk in the county tax transcribing office and Republican watcher in the district.

Injured Man Accuses Son of Clubbing Him

Found wandering in West Homestead early today, John Chuatto, 49, of 131 Hemlock street, was taken to the Homestead Hospital with lacerations of the head.

He told police he had had trouble with his son, Anthony, 22, and the latter clubbed him. Police were searching for the son.

POLICE CALLED AS SPECTATORS INTERFERE

Landlord and Tenant Both on Welfare Relief Rolls

John Evansis, 49, and his son, Stanley, 19, of 3164 Brighton road, alleged to have evicted a family from 3162 Brighton road yesterday without serving due notice, were fined $5 each or five days in jail by Magistrate T. D. Jones in Morals Court today. They were charged with disorderly conduct.

James Fox testified he had recently sold his automobile to pay three months back rent. Police testified disorder occurred when bystanders tried to carry some of Fox's belongings into a nearby garage. Evansis testified he was being pushed for interest on the mortgage. Both Evansis and Fox said they were being helped by welfare organizations.

Mrs. Alice Fox, the evicted mother, and her children, one 3 months old, were cared for by Woods Run police last night. Today they were taken in charge by welfare workers.

PARK RIDICULES 'RACKET' VOTE

The racketeer vote of Allegheny County isn't worth the snap of a finger to District Attorney Andrew T. Park.

Substituting for Judge Frank P. Patterson, who is ill, as a speaker before the Men's Brotherhood of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church last night, the county prosecutor discussing police, elections and rackets, said:

"I would not give a snap of my finger for all of the racketeer votes in the county. I have never figured the racketeer vote to amount to a hill of beans."

Park's solution for ending rackets was jail sentences instead of paroles and a police department that does its duty as it should. Jail sentences were likewise prescribed for the election law violators.

Really big politicians never ask favors that are violations of the law, Park said, adding:

REFUSAL OF U. S. AND STATE AID FEARED

The Allegheny County poor directors today stood adamant in their determination not to float a loan as their share of caring for the destitute in Allegheny County, although they have but a brief three weeks in which to borrow and have been cautioned that failure to borrow will result in possible refusal of state and federal aid.

Attitude of the poor directors is that they can sell bonds for relief purposes only after the money has been encumbered, although relief agencies have consulted their own attorneys and been told the board is entitled to borrow money for relief, past and future.

AGENCIES SILENT

A strict silence had been adopted, meanwhile, by heads of private relief agencies, in evident fear of political retaliation.

J. Clyde Miller, chairman of the poor board, has expressed himself in favor of a relief loan under provisions of the Steedle act, passed in last summer's special legislative session to empower the poor directors to borrow. The power vested in the board by the act expires automatically on December 31.

DENIES EMERGENCY

Harry W. McIntosh, counsellor for the poor board, has opposed such borrowings since they were first contemplated. He has repeatedly declared:

"There is no emergency. There is no call for the Poor Directors to borrow."

McIntosh's stand has not changed, it was learned, although the list of families on relief in the county has passed the 40,000 mark.

AVAILABLE FUNDS LOW

Little money is in sight for this county's relief problems during January. The district is expected to be refused federal relief monies unless it "does its bit," according to repeated letters from Gov. Pinchot.

The city has already borrowed $800,000 on bonds, is prepared to borrow an additional $2,200,000. The situation, it was thought today, may boil down to the place where the needy in Pittsburgh have relief and those in the county have none.

DOUGLAS WHARF PROSECUTION REBUFFED

John Douglas, Jr., is "officiously intermeddling in the business of the city," Judge James H. Gray held today in restraining Douglas from prosecuting George Vang, with whom Douglas is disputing wharf rights.

The court held that Douglas as a citizen could not prosecute Vang criminally or civilly for alleged failure to pay to the city wharf fees.

Judge Gray ruled that the restraining order against Douglas should be effective until Douglas' court battle with the city over possession of wharf sites is decided. The order applied also to Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan, before whom Douglas filed information against Vang, head of the Iron City Gravel Company.

SANTA'S TRUCK KILLS CHILD

Charitable organizations had provided a truck load of toys to be distributed. Christmas this year would be a joyous one for them, despite hard times.

Suddenly, the laughing crowd pushed forward with a rush and under the wheels fell Little Mary. She was killed.

DEMOCRATS SET STATE CAUCUS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Planning to make the most of their biggest chance in 20 years to influence legislation in the General Assembly, 8 Democratic legislators meet tonight to form their program.

The 65 state and 11 congressional representatives, with seven state senators, constitute Democracy's greatest legislative representation in Pennsylvania in 20 years.

The Democrats, it is anticipated, will decide on holding to a "middle of the road" course in state legislation, depending on their balance of power in the House to swing the two Republican factions to them for help when it is needed.

Students Record Native Zulu Songs

BOISE, Idaho., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Maybe it's like carrying coals to Newcastle but David and Elmer Schwelzenbach, students of Northwestern Nazarene College at Nampa, are making phonograph records of Zulu songs here which they intend to take to Africa for the entertainment of Zulu natives.

INSULL PROBE UP IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(Universal.)—The United States Senate will investigate the Insull crash. First hearings will be in Washington shortly after Christmas.

Since mid-summer evidence has been accumulated by a group of investigators for the Senate committee on banking and currency, of which Peter Norbeck, South Dakota Republican, is chairman. Norbeck is interested in the Insull collapse and his men have been in Chicago, Springfield, New York and other cities digging facts. A list of prospective witnesses was withheld.

The banking and currency committee has both money and unusually broad powers to go into the Insull debacle.

'Santa Wind' Blows Food to Needy

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—A "Santa Claus wind" blew ashore tons of foodstuffs in Puget Sound and scores of needy gathered up the "gifts." More than 100 tons of assorted food, including tinned peas, milk, cocoa, salad oil, spinach, hams, bacon and sausage, went overboard when the wind swamped two Navy barges. The cargo, valued at $36,000, was intended for the naval base at Cavite, P. I.

NEW DOWNTOWN STORE OPENING

The Truly Warner Stores Corporation is expressing confidence in Pittsburgh by opening its new store at 205 Fifth avenue tomorrow.

The opening marks 17 years of continuous operation in Pittsburgh. Until a year ago the store sold hats exclusively, when a line of shoes was introduced, necessitating larger quarters.

B. Guy Schubart, local manager for eight years, will be in charge of the remodeled store, one of 45 operated by the Truly Warner organization throughout the country.

Coroner Holds Wife As Husband's Slayer

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Dec. 9.—(INS.)—Under the verdict of a coroner's jury, Mary Jane Covert, of Williamsport, today was held responsible for the slaying of her husband, Raymond, last November 2.

Mrs. Covert attempted to end her life at the time, but recovered.

MILLS' BANKING PLANS SPURNED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The administration proposal for a new study of the banking question was discarded today by Senate leaders. Instead they pressed ahead with plans to take up again next week the Glass bill designed to strengthen the Federal Reserve system and block use of Reserve funds for speculation.

Secretary Mills' recommendation, in his annual report, for creation of a joint congressional committee to draft a bill reforming the banking system, found a cool reception among Senate leaders, both Republican and Democratic.

They pointed out the banking committee had spent the better part of two years studying the situation and in drafting the bill now before the Senate bearing the name of Carter Glass, Virginia Democrat, former Secretary of the Treasury and sponsor of the Federal Reserve system.

Depression Unfelt By Fiji Islanders

ST. JOHN, N. B., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Maybe the Fiji islanders don't know how lucky they are. In the Fijis there is no unemployment, no governmental debt and there has been no increase in taxation since the depression started. So says Sir Murchison Fletcher, governor of the islands.

Extradite Suspect In Ohio Arson Plot

William Mansberry, 21, of Chatham street, was turned over to the police of Canton, O., in Central Police Court today in connection with a fire in Canton. Detectives testified Mansberry had admitted being hired by the owner to fire a Canton house.

SURETY BOND RULING UPHELD

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—Action of the State Supreme Court had been confirmed today by the United States District Court here in holding that bonding companies are responsible to the state for the full amount on bonds protecting state deposits in closed banks.

Bonds of surety companies constitute contracts binding upon the companies, Judge George A. Welsh held in his ruling on the subject.

The decision thus means that various bonding companies must pay the state more than a million dollars on money on deposit in closed institutions throughout the state.

JEKYL AND HYDE LIFE REVEALED

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 9.—(INS.)—An amazing account of a Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde existence was incorporated today in the records of a commission investigating the affairs of John A. Machray, who is serving a seven-year term in prison for embezzling more than $1,000,000 from the University of Manitoba.

D. A. B. Murray, accountant, studying the books Machray kept while he was the university's honorary bursar, testified that Machray had secretly pursued the life of a financial gambler, while appearing to his neighbors and associates as a trusted official.

Using the name of his bookkeeper, James Kerr, the former bursar, according to Murray, lost $23,000 in marginal trading in securities and $14,150 in grain trading. His personal investments of money appropriated from the university trust fund totaled $163,493, the accountant testified.

Murray said he discovered that Machray lived luxuriously, wining and dining his friends.

Truck Helper Burns To Death in Crash

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Lewis Carberry, 47, helper on a grocery truck, was burned to death today in a fire that followed a collision between the truck and another driven by Llewellyn Ramson.

The cars crashed at an intersection. Charles Malner, 29, driver of the grocery truck, lost control, and the heavy vehicle swerved across the street into a pole. The load of groceries was thrown forward and pinned the two men in the cab as gasoline from a broken feed line ignited.

Printers Union Votes On Five-Day Week

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The vote taken by local unions to determine whether the International Typographical Union shall observe a five-day working week will not be counted until next Friday, it was said at international headquarters here today.

Charles P. Howard, president of the international union, said only a day would be required for the counting of the ballots.

RALLY IN FIGHT ON BELLEVUE ACCOUNTING

Depositors of the closed Citizens' Trust Company, of Bellevue, will meet in the Bellevue Borough Hall tonight at 8 o'clock, to hear an explanation of exceptions filed against the first accounting of the bank's receiver.

Park H. Martin, chairman of the depositors' committee, was to explain the exceptions taken to the account of George F. Taylor, Jr., deputy secretary of banking, in charge of the institution.

Court hearing on the exceptions is slated for Monday, when the committee's attorneys, John Winner and George E. Morcroft, will push their objections.

In a statement to the Sun-Telegraph yesterday, Martin called Taylor's expenditures "unreasonable, unwarranted and reckless."

Martin also objected to failure of the District Attorney's office to set date for trial of Ansley D. Smith, secretary-treasurer of the institution, on embezzlement charges. The date was later announced for January 16.

SERGT. WILLIAM F. HALLINAN . . . . HEADQUARTERED IN A ROLLING PATROL SUB-STATION

Officers Assigned To Duty Posts At Border

Six mobile sub-stations of the State Highway Patrol will be in operation on the Pennsylvania-Ohio border. They consist of six trailers for highway patrolmen operating with the Bureau of Liquid Fuels Tax. The furnishings are a stove, chairs and a desk.

The Department of Revenue reached an agreement last spring with the gasoline tax authorities of Ohio whereby each would maintain a border patrol along the state line to check gasoline tax evasion. Six points in Pennsylvania and a like number in Ohio were designated as points of entry and exit for trucks and tank wagons hauling gasoline.

The Pennsylvania posts are named by highway patrolmen paid by the Bureau of Liquid Fuels Tax. All such gasoline shipments are required to produce clearance papers approved by Pennsylvania or Ohio before they can enter or leave either state.

The Pennsylvania control posts are located as follows: No. 1, West Springfield, about one mile east of the Ohio border on Route 20; No. 2, Linesville; No. 3, Jamestown, at the junction of Routes 458 and 322; No. 4, Greenville, Route 358; No. 5, Sharpsville road, outside of Sharon, Route 718, at junction of Route 518; No. 6, Route 51, outside of Beaver Falls, at intersection of Black Hawk road.

PINCHOT DENIES RELIEF BARTER

HARRISBURG, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—Charges of Representative Morton Witkin, Philadelphia, that relief funds were being used for political purposes, were denied today by Gov. Gifford Pinchot. The charges were contained in a letter received by the Governor yesterday from the Philadelphia Legislator.

Witkin cited a case of an applicant for a job as inspector in the highway department who was told to obtain the approval of a Pinchot leader in his district.

There are no highway inspectors being paid from relief funds, the Governor said, and he defended the practice of looking into the qualifications of applicants for positions.

NAZI BREAK UP RUMOR GROWS

BERLIN, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Rumors of a spilt in Adolf Hitler's National Socialist party gained strength today and evening newspapers blamed the retirement of some of his chief aides on Hitler's determination to keep the party power in his own hands.

Gregor Strasser, long regarded as his right-hand-man, resigned as national organizer of the party this morning, explaining that his health would not permit him to continue the work. Gottlieb Feder, one of the party's economic experts, requested three weeks leave and this, too, was reported to be a prelude to dropping out of the party.

There was a rumor that Chancellor von Schleicher himself had brought about the split, possibly by offering Strasser a cabinet job.

ELLENBOGEN FOR REFORMS

Election law reforms will be advocated by Congressman-elect Henry Ellenbogen at a caucus of the Democratic members of the Pennsylvania Legislature in Harrisburg tonight. He has been asked to discuss particular defects in the state election law and propose remedies to block fraud and cheating.

To prevent overnight election frauds, Ellenbogan recommends the sheriff collect election boxes upon the completion of the count, with guards and overseers available, to each party.

Boy Dies in Vain Rescue Attempt

BUCKLIN, Kan., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Thirteen-year-old Lawrence Day lost his life today in a gallant but futile effort to rescue his grandmother, Mrs. S. D. Aulls from their burning home.

The boy broke a window and re-entered the house. Firemen found the bodies in a clothes closet where Lawrence and the 70-year woman had been driven by the flames. Mrs. Sandford Day, Lawrence's mother, escaped.

Three Women Face Shop-Lifting Charge

Three women arrested late yesterday in a North Side department store as shoplifting suspects were held for court today in Central Police Court. They were docketed as Mrs. Nell R. Sullivan, 46, of South Highland avenue, and Miss Celia Burns, 57, and Mrs. Bertha Burns, 40, both of Reiter street.

SENATE SCANS FILIPINO BAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The advisability of limiting Philippine immigration to Hawaii as well as to the United States was discussed in the Senate today as it began the second day's consideration of island independence proposed in the pending Hawes-Cutting bill.

Senator Johnson (Rep.), of California, presented an amendment to accomplish that, but it was not offered for action. The pending measure would limit Philippine immigration to the United States to 100 a year.

Johnson said he had been informed Hawaii had been allotted relief funds by the Reconstruction Corporation because of unemployment conditions and that this was one factor prompting his amendment.

BLONDE TELLS OF FREIGHT RIDE

Blonde Betty Wilson, 21, of Denver, Col., was on her way home from New York. She appeared before Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Morals Court today to explain why she was using a Baltimore and Ohio freight car for transportation.

She smilingly told the judge why hitch-hiking had become too difficult, and at Connellsville last night the box car looked good. Then two men came along, she said, Harry Jackson, 28, of Kansas City, Mo., and Roy Clark, 27, of Los Angeles, both jobless like Betty, wanted to go home for Christmas.

But they slept too late yesterday morning and railroad police found them. Betty asked the judge not to be hard on the men—they had helped her.

The magistrate held her for word from her father and social workers are trying to obtain fare for her. The men he sent to jail for five days to get sleep and warmth.

MEXICANS MOVE UPON REBELS

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—Making good his threat to crush agrarian "anarchy" in the state of Vera Cruz by powerful means, President Rodriguez today dispatched 12 regiments of cavalry to Jalapa to put down the risings alleged to be led by the former Gov. Adalberto J. Tejeda.

The president's order constituted the largest mobilization of mobile forces since the Escobar uprising in 1929. Gen. Miguel Acosta, former chief of military operations in Vera Cruz, was reported under orders to take the field against the agrarians.

Cold Wave Melts Fur Coat Bandits

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The cold wave was followed by a reform wave for a pair of robbers.

It was so cold the two didn't have the heart to keep a valuable fur coat they stole from Agnes Fitzgerald the other night in a holdup, so one of them called her on the telephone. The voice said:

"Look in the vestibule."

When she looked, there was her coat.

SENATE PROBE CLEARS R. F. C.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—A "clean bill of health" for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was indicated today following a meeting of the special Senate Committee created to investigate the relief organization's loan policy.

After a review of the corporation's loans in an executive session, members indicated no fault would be found with the administration of the gigantic government agency on the basis of records so far examined.

These did not include loans made for a short period early last summer, however, before the House began to make the transactions of the corporation public.

The committee agreed, Chairman Couzens announced, not to recommand making public the loans made by the corporation prior to the enactment of the relief bill last summer.

Loans since that time have been published by the clerk of the House.

VEILED PROPHET MONARCH HERE

Ousting by ballot of public officials who make wasteful expenditures of the people's money was urged here today by Lamar Field, of Anniston, Ala., grand monarch of the Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, guest of the Islam Grotto, to obtain better government.

Good citizenship demands every person to vote, but places added duty of faithfulness on the office-holder, Field said. The official was here for a Grotto ceremonial tonight. He said the Islam Temple was the finest in the country.

Field is on a tour throughout the country until June. He lauded the value of organization membership to keep up the morale of the nations in times of stress.

Reed Opposes Vet Revenue Cut

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Paul Griffith, of Uniontown, Pa., commander of the Pennsylvania American Legion, has reported that Senator David A. Reed and 16 Pennsylvania representatives have agreed that present federal benefits to World War veterans should not be disturbed by the economy movement.

House members who concurred, Griffith said, included Campbell, Kendall, Boland, McFadden, Temple, Estep and Swick.

Gossipy Chat
—By NANCY JANE—

There's an artist coming here in April, and she's been here often before, who refuses to meet music critics, no matter how charming her friends tell her they are.

The reason—she wants absolutely unbiased judgment. She always reads what they write about her, and appreciates their constructive criticisms.

This artist is Jeanette Vreeland, who's Mrs. Percy Rector, of New York, in private life. She visits her old friend, Mrs. Robert Lee Wilson, of the King Edward Apartments, when she's in town.

By the way, the artist does have a weakness—it's Paris made gowns.

* * *

Betty McCrady has an unusual hobby—it's wood carving. And she teaches it at a private kindergarten over her father's garage.

* * *

She was christened Ida Jeanette Burleigh. But now she's Inette. When she grew up, this young woman decided Ida Jeanette was just too much; so she coined herself a new name.

Graduates of more than 15 colleges and universities are on the membership roll of the College Girls' Club which has been organized at Central Branch Y. W. C. A. The club is now meeting twice a month for a varied program of lectures, discussions and social events.

Officers who have just been elected are: Frances Stewart, president; Mabel Schreiber, vice president; Jane Wille, secretary; Louise Blank, treasurer, and Mary Timmins, program chairman.

Plans are being made for a German Christmas party on Tuesday evening.

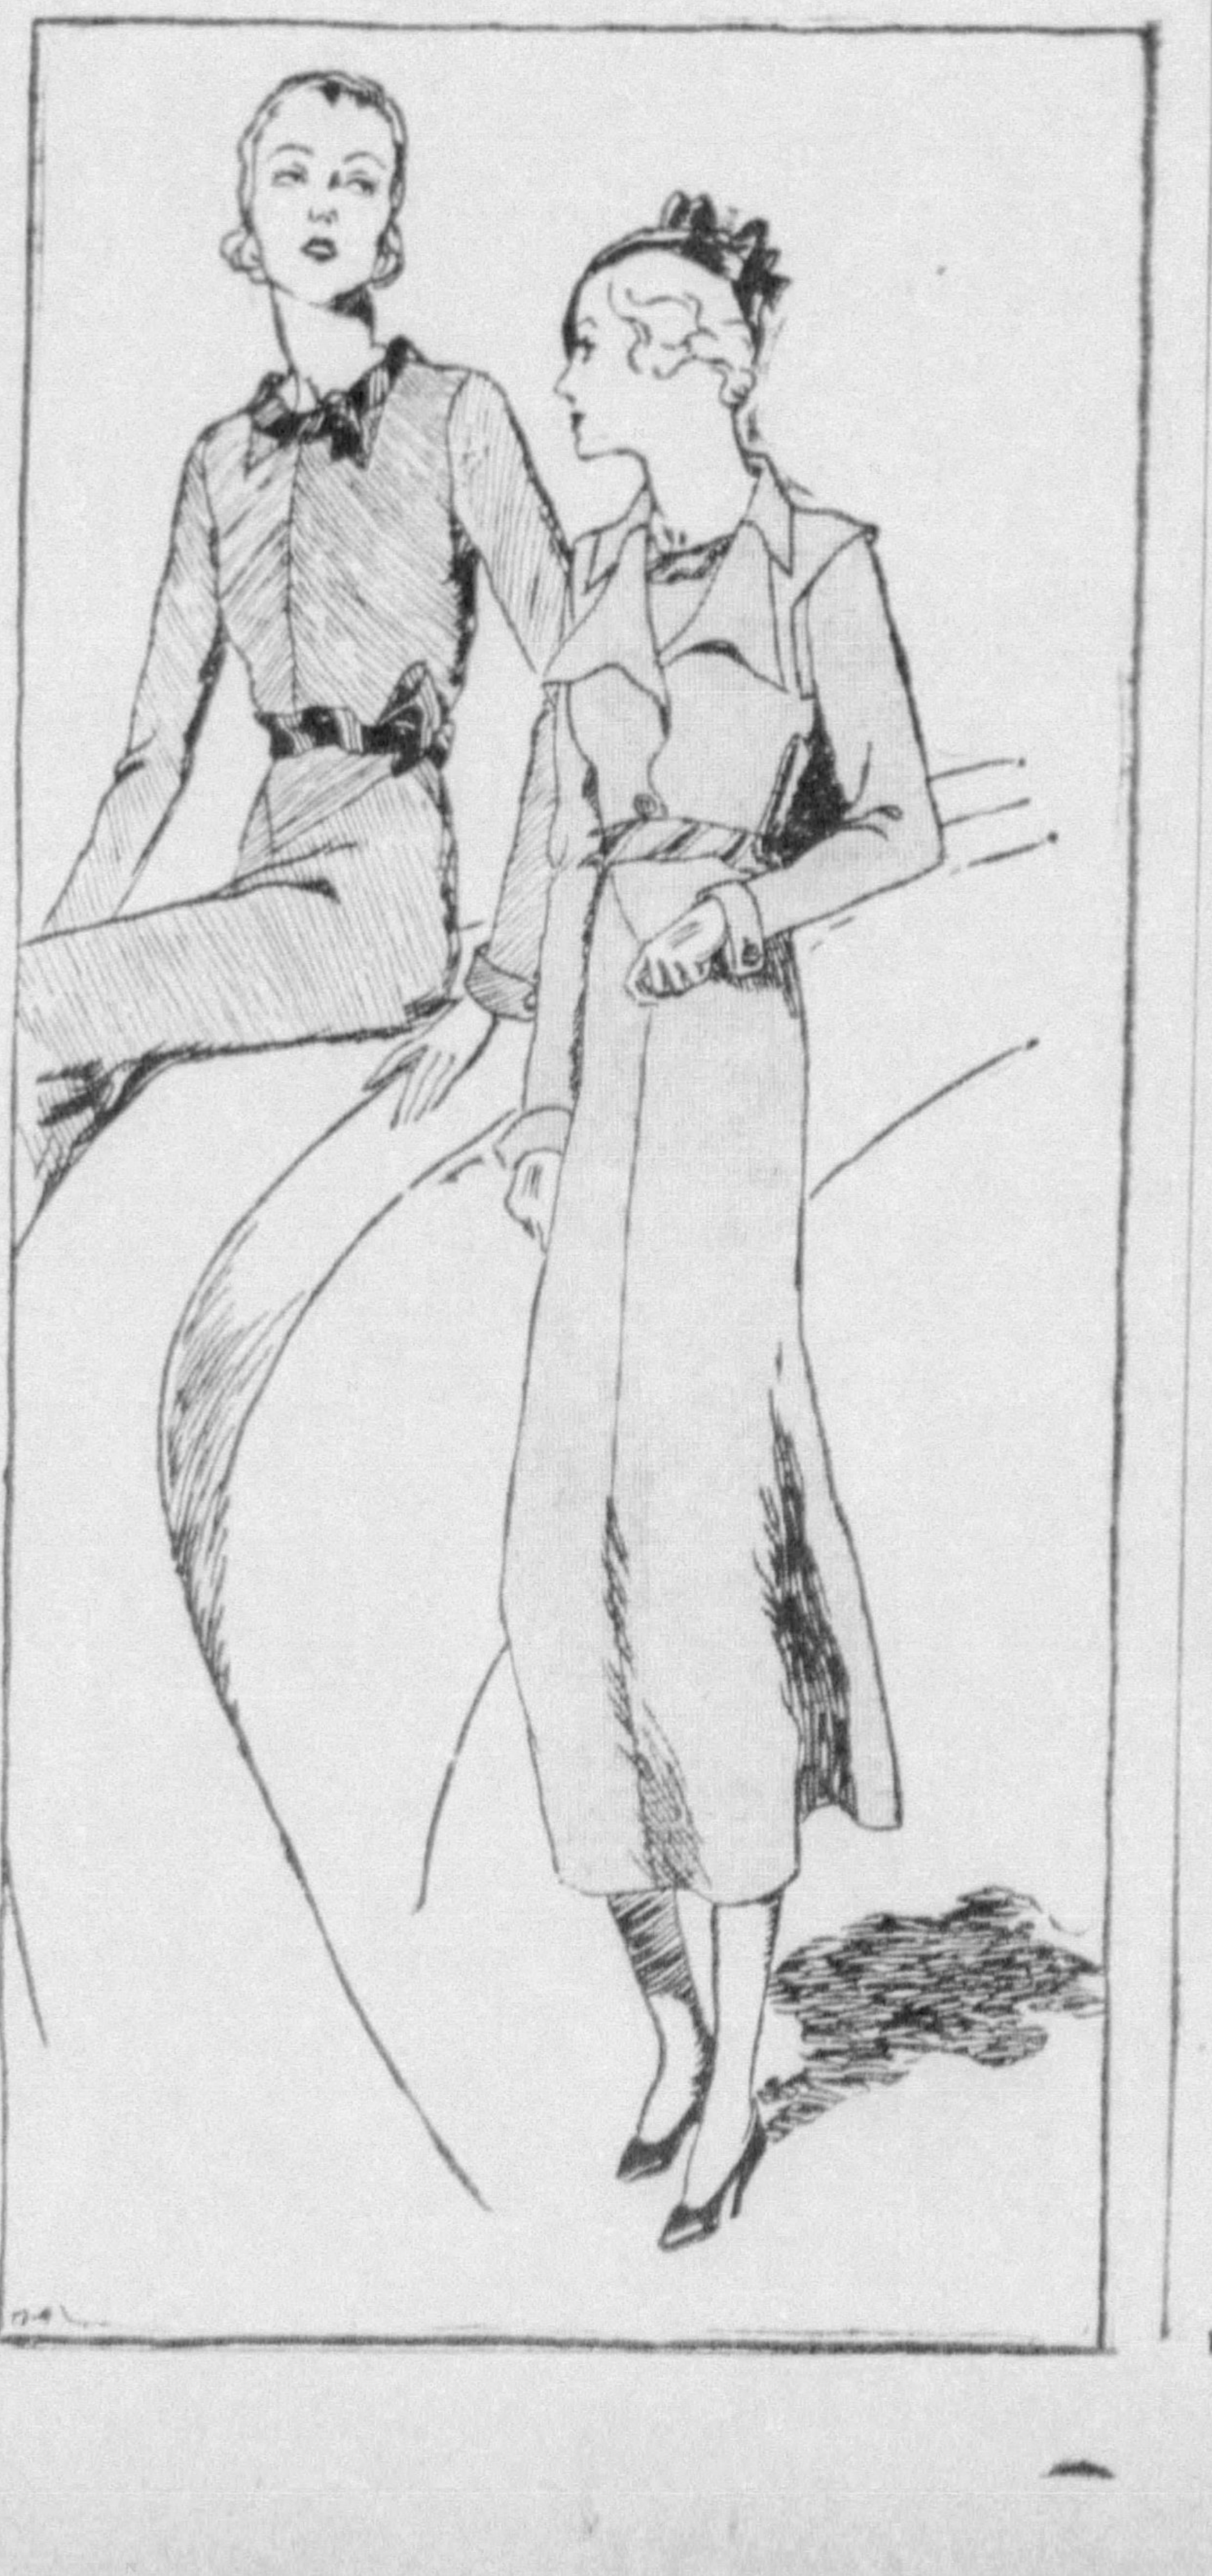
A formal supper dance will be held by the Sigma Alpha Chi Sorority, at the Chatterbox, William Penn Hotel, December 14. This marks the seventh anniversary of the sorority.

Arrangements for the affair were made by Miss Lillian Lois Rosner and Miss Pauline Janice Lauar, members of the social committee.

BROWN VIES WITH BLACK FOR DAME FASHION'S COLOR FAVOR

—Sketched in Paris—



Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Dec. 9.—Browns continue to cover the favorite range of colors in Paris for the winter season. They seem, almost, to have taken the place of the old Paris reliable—black.

* * *

BROWN, IN dark cold shades, is used for the classic afternoon coats and suits that Paris wears perennially, no matter what the fashion—simplified costumes with heavy trimmings of fur, preferably astrakan or fox. Lighter, softer browns make the sports suits for the younger generation; and browns of all varieties appear in evening dresses and wraps—either to fashion the costumes themselves, or to serve as trimmings.

* * *

MOLYNEUX has a warm, dark, soft shade of brown as his special favorite. He uses it in many ways—from house coats to evening dresses of lace. He keeps it in solid color, or trims it with beige or some bright touch of green or red. But, in any case, wherever brown is used, the dress or wrap is kept simple, all the better to make use of the richness of the color.

* * *

ONE OF the most popular of his winter models is the dress and jacket in today's sketch. Like many of his daytime dresses, the neckline is rather high, the blouse undecorated and the skirt rather straight. The only trimming on the entire costume is concentrated in the tri-color fabric which is folded and rolled into belt and scarf—brown, beige and red.

* * *

KELVINATOR

HERE is the biggest event that has happened in the electric refrigeration industry in the last five years—an event that will be welcomed by thousands of families who have long wanted to own a Kelvinator but who felt they could not quite afford it. A Kelvinator—with Kelvinator Quality all the way through—for only $112, plus freight from Detroit. This price includes the Federal tax and all installation charges.

In this new, inexpensive Kelvinator you will find many of the features of the larger, higher priced Models. It freezes exceptionally fast, from water to ice in approximately 80 minutes. It has a porcelain interior with rounded corners for easy cleaning. The Temperature Selector has 8 freezing speeds. And the quiet, powerful, economical compressor is the same used in the higher priced Kelvinators.

One of its outstanding features is an important new Kelvinator engineering development which eliminates the usual trouble and inconvenience when defrosting the unit. With this new device, refrigeration continues during the defrosting, protecting perishable foods and conserving the supply of ice cubes.

From the convenient Table Top to the sturdy legs—all the way through—this New Model has Kelvinator Quality, craftsmanship, and dependability.

You are cordially invited to see it. On the ReDisCo Monthly Budget Plan and at this remarkably low price you can now easily own a Kelvinator and enjoy the advantages and economies of the finest electric refrigerator.

Yule Festival Of Alliance Thursday

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

During the illness of Mrs. G. W. Greer, publicity for the Outlook Alliance is being looked after by Mrs. H. D. Stark and from her comes word that plans are now complete for the club's Yule festival Thursday in the Congress of Clubs. Under the hospitality committee with Mrs. Roy A. Shipley as chairman there will be the usual Christmas luncheon preceding a program by the drama committee and the party supervised by the Curtis Home committee for the children of the home.

The entertainment will consist of a pantomime, "The First Christmas," each member of the drama committee participating and the chairman, Mrs. H. Kloman Schmidt, reading the lines. During the pantomime a quintet of music members, Mrs. Mary Rhoads McBride, Mrs. E. J. Vetter, Mrs. George H. Blume, Mrs. Herbert G. Lytle and Mrs. H. E. McKown, will sing carols, the music chairman, Mrs. Martin Leiseder, directing and accompanying. As a closing number Mrs. Lytle will sing the aria "He Shall Feed His Flock," from Handel's "Messiah."

Westminster Group To Be Active Over This Week-End

PUPILS DENIED WATER

School children in a Versailles Township portable school and 25 families of Greenwood Terrace plan today are without a water supply.

The streams running through the mains were shut off by orders of the McKeesport city treasurer, despite an ordinance which prohibits landlords' turning off the water of delinquent tenants. Back payments of $538 are involved, officials said.

Councilman A. J. Richards, head of the McKeesport water department, stated the city officials were seeking W. H. Wilson, who last week offered $150 on account. This was refused, Richards said, when Wilson would not guarantee the remainder of the account.

Charles Painter, of the Versailles School Board, today was attempting to have the city officials rescind their order. Many in the district affected felt an outbreak of disease might result.

Painter charged that the Carnegie Gas Company, owners of land in the Terrace, were more than a year in arrears. Officials of the Carnegie company, a subsidiary of Carnegie Steel Company, declared today that their land in the vicinity was unoccupied, consisted of vacant property.

Jewish Juniors' Council To Hold Bundle Bridge

HUNTS FAWCETT LONE-HANDED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—With the avowed intention of securing definite information regarding the fate of Col. P. H. Fawcett, English explorer who disappeared seven years ago in the Brazilian jungles, Albert De Winton, explorer and actor, sailed from Los Angeles yesterday for Para, Brazil.

De Winton is undertaking the trip alone. On reaching South America he will employ but half a dozen natives, to act as bearers, and crew of the boat on which he will sail up the Amazon to Manaos, the village at which the Dyott search expedition abandoned the trail in 1928 because of hostile Indians.

Col. Fawcett went into the jungles of Central Brazil in 1925 hoping to unearth buried cities of ancient civilizations he believed to have once existed there.

New Kensington Juniors Will Give Play

The New Kensington Juniors will give "Mother Goose in Christmas Land" at a children's matinee tomorrow in the Elks' Home as a benefit for welfare work among the children of the community.

The fantasy is an original one, the work of one of the juniors who modestly refuses to allow her name to be used. In it, Mother Goose takes her children to visit Santa Claus' workshop where the toys and the children sing and dance.

Miss Kathryn Zeigler, chairman of the drama committee, is the French doll; Miss Ann Thompson, junior president, makes a lovable Raggedy Ann who does a counterpart of the French doll's dance; Jack and Jill are represented by Millicent Reighter and Jeanne Evans; Mrs. John R. Willard is Little Boy Blue and others in the colorful spectacle include Miss Virginia Cowan, Mrs. Boynton J. Fletcher, Edna Cowan, Jean Morgan, Margaret Anderson and the toy soldiers, Mrs. R. E. Sheffer, Ruth Reynolds, Mrs. T. A. Burnett and Helen Faye Brown.

Mrs. Donald Heath Tilson is directing.

Members of City Club To Hear Lecture by Henry M. Busch

Now that women are becoming more and more interested in international problems, the speaker for the monthly Woman's City Club luncheon tomorrow will find an attentive audience.

He is Henry Miller Busch, the lecturer and assistant director of Cleveland College of Western Reserve University. His topic will be "Trends in World Affairs."

The luncheon will be held at 12:30 o'clock in the club's rooms in the William Penn Hotel.

The speaker and Mrs. Busch will be week-end house guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Pitcher, of Heberton avenue.

Monnett Club to Meet At Luncheon Tomorrow

The Pittsburgh Monnett Club of Ohio Wesleyan will meet tomorrow at the Congress of Clubs for luncheon and gift exchange. Miss Mary Dawson will give several humorous readings and carols will be sung. Hostesses are Mrs. Thomas Gable, Miss Margaret Dodge and Miss Roanna Pickering.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

EVERY ONE of the family who stirs the Christmas pudding as it cooks adds hours of happiness to his life for the coming year and an element of happiness to the pudding to be passed on to every one partaking of the pudding.

* * *

AS LIFE, after all, is mostly what we think of for ourselves and others, this happy thought over any Christmas dish in the making will increase the sum total of joy for you and yours. But the story goes farther. Every one has increased happiness for a month for each separate family Christmas pudding he tastes during the open house holiday period.

That idea gives zest to the holiday visiting and refreshments. You must visit at least 12 households to have your 12 months' quota. And perhaps you'll be generous and take some of your Christmas puddings to each hostess you visit, thus bringing a month of happiness to that household.

In England the Comtesse Marie de L'Argent tells us each homemaker lays in a supply of small boxes similar to our boxes for individual wedding cake slices. She takes one of these with some of her special Christmas puddings and so added happiness to each hostess her family visits. It's a jolly little idea and gives opportunity for some delightful little ceremony in the serving of these puddings.

* * *

AS I HAVE already suggested, keep the tea service ready during the open-house week. Have little sandwiches, gherkins, nuts, stuffed dates and hard candies or mints ready to serve.

When the pudding comes, have it decorated with holly or studded with lighted Brazil nuts or piled high with a creamy hard sauce.

* * *

CHRISTMAS PUDDING FROM ENGLAND — (Comtesse Marie de L'Argent.) — ½ pound beef suet, 1 pound raisins, ¼ pound mixed peel, ¼ pound bread crumbs, 2 ounces almonds, salt, 1 lemon, ½ pound granulated sugar, 4 eggs, ¼ pint milk, ½ nutmeg, grated; 1 wine glass of brandy or brandy flavoring.

Chop the suet, wash and dry the currants, clean the raisins and cut the peel finely. Blanch and chop the almonds.

Put the flour into a bowl and rub the suet into the flour with your hands. Sprinkle in a little salt, add the crumbs, raisins, sugar and peel and mix well together. Grate in half a nutmeg, the rind of the lemon and add the nuts.

Put the eggs into another bowl, stir in the milk and brandy, then mix with the fruit, etc. Be sure to mix thoroughly, turn the pudding into a mold or floured pudding cloth. Put into boiling water and let it boil for five to six hours. Serve with a hard sauce.

PORK CAKE—1 pound fat salt pork, ground fine; 1 cup boiling water poured over the meat, 2 cups light brown sugar, 2 eggs, well beaten; 1 cup molasses, mix well with the meat. Chop the following: 1 pound raisins, 1 cup currants, ½ pound citron, 3 ounces candied lemon peel, 3 ounces candied orange peel.

Over the first mixture sift 4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon allspice. Add the fruits and mix well. Bake slowly from three-fourths to one hour.

* * *

VEAL SUPREME—1 thick slice of veal steak, ½ cup of vinegar, ¼ cup flour, 1 cup water, 1 cup tomato juice, 1 bay leaf, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 whole cloves, ½ teaspoon salt.

Place the veal in vinegar for two hours. Remove, drain, season with salt and pepper, roll in flour and fry in hot fat until brown, then add water, tomato juice, bay leaf and cloves, and about three tablespoons of the vinegar the veal was soaked in. Cover and cook slowly for three hours.

* * *

CHEESE FRITTERS—½-pound cheese, grated, 1 cup cooked rice, ¼ cup milk, ½ teaspoon onion juice, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, 1 egg.

Mix the rice, cheese, milk, paprika, salt and onion juice. Beat the egg well and mix it with the other ingredients. Fry by spoonfuls on slightly greased skillet and turn when brown. Serve with jelly, or may be served plain. Serves seven.

A CHRISTMAS VISIT GIVES BILL A HOT BAKING TIP FOR MOTHER
WELL, THE DEAR OLD COLLEGE DOESN'T GIVE US A VERY LONG HOLIDAY BUT WE'LL GET A TASTE OF MOTHER'S CAKE AND PUDDING ANYWAY. AND IS THAT SOMETHING!
MY MOTHER CAN ROAST A TURKEY LIKE NOBODY'S BUSINESS, BUT SHE ISN'T SO MUCH ON BAKING!
NO WONDER YOU BRAG, JIM. I WOULD TOO, IF MY MOTHER EVER MADE A SPICE PUDDING LIKE THIS!
SEE HERE, BILL. I'M GOING TO GIVE YOU THAT SPICE PUDDING RECIPE TO TAKE HOME TO YOUR MOTHER FOR NEW YEAR'S, SINCE YOU'RE SO CRAZY ABOUT IT.
OH SAY, WOULD YOU, MRS. BLAKE? THAT WOULD BE GREAT! BUT DO YOU THINK SHE CAN MAKE IT?
NONSENSE. OF COURSE SHE CAN MAKE IT. IF SHE'LL USE CALUMET IN ALL HER BAKING, SHE'LL ALWAYS HAVE LUCK. CALUMET GIVES LOVELY, FINE TEXTURE... RAISES EVERYTHING SO HIGH AND LIGHT. IT ACTS TWICE, YOU KNOW.
WHAT DO YOU MEAN 'ACTS TWICE', MOTHER?
WELL, YOU'RE BOTH STUDYING CHEMISTRY... I'LL GIVE YOU A LITTLE LESSON IN THE CHEMISTRY OF BAKING. SEE HERE...
NOW I'LL SHOW YOU WHAT HAPPENS WHEN A BATTER OR DOUGH BEGINS TO GET HOT.
SAY, THATS A REAL SCIENTIFIC REASON FOR BEING PARTICULAR ABOUT BAKING POWDER, ISN'T IT? WAIT TILL I TELL MOTHER! WHERE DO YOU GET THIS CALUMET?
OH, ALL GOOD GROCERS HAVE IT AND ADVERTISE IT. IT'S THE WORLD'S BIGGEST SELLING BAKING POWDER. AND HERE'S YOUR RECIPE...
CALUMET

Put two level teaspoons of Calumet Baking Powder into a glass, add two teaspoons of water, stir rapidly five times and remove the spoon. The tiny, fine bubbles will rise slowly, half filling the glass. This demonstrates Calumet's first action—the action designed to begin in the mixing bowl when liquid is added.

After the mixture has entirely stopped rising, stand the glass in a pan of hot water on the stove. In a moment, a second rising will start and continue until the mixture reaches the top of the glass. This demonstrates Calumet's second action—the action that Calumet holds in reserve to take place in the heat of the oven.

STEAMED SPICE PUDDING

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1½ teaspoons nutmeg
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
4 tablespoons butter or other shortening
⅓ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg, well beaten
¼ cup milk
½ cup molasses

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and spices, and sift together three times. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together thoroughly. Add egg, then flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Add molasses. Stir until smooth. Pour into greased molds, filling them ½ full, cover tightly, and steam 2 hours. Serve hot with raisin sauce. Serves 12. (All measurements are level.)

Heat and Energy Supplied By Breakfast Cereals

Farina is an energy food that everyone should include in the diet.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

No one can question that a warm and wholesome breakfast is of the utmost importance in maintaining health. We may differ as to what we want in the morning, but it is certain cereal will be included in the average breakfast.

Medical authorities agree that cereals supply the necessary heat and energy demanded by the body in its day's work. It is well they are so popular.

"Farina" is the general name given to the flour of any grain or root. In this country it is particularly applied to corn meal and wheat cereals. The "breakfast foods" are merely different types of cereal products.

UNFORTUNATE DISLIKE

Unfortunately many children and adults avoid cereals. Improper training in childhood may account for this attitude. A lack of variety in the choice of cereals may lead to this dislike. There are too many from which to choose to justify objections on the ground of monotony.

I am frequently asked what particular cereal is most easily digested. All cereals are easily digested when properly cooked. They are best prepared in a double-boiler and must be cooked thoroughly. Half-cooked starch is difficult to digest and of course the cereals are rich in starch.

Farina is an energy food because it supplies carbohydrates containing many calories. It consists of 12 per cent protein, 4 per cent fat, and 84 per cent carbohydrates. In addition, it contains valuable vitamins, particularly vitamin B. This vitamin is necessary for normal growth and development.

NUTRITIONAL FOOD

Milk, cream and sugar are served with all the cereals. These increase their nutritional value. Children who dislike milk may be encouraged to take their necessary quota by serving it with their cereal, or by substituting it for the water and in cooking it.

Cereals may be given even to the infant as early as the fourth month. Please remember that no child's breakfast is complete without a dish of cooked cereal. It is also an excellent supper dish.

The cereals are a nutritious and economical food. They can be purchased throughout the year, and can be stored without spoiling. You know their food value and should take advantage of this knowledge.

High School Pupils In WCAE Program

The department of music of the Taylor Allderdice High School presents the Sun-Telegraph Family program for the children on WCAE from 4:45 to 5:15 today. The presentation is directed by Jane A. White, assistant curator of education at Carnegie Museum, and Laura Zeigler, Emma Steiner and F. M. Becktolt, of the high school faculty.

James J. Long, sports columnist of the Sun-Telegraph, gives an authentic review of happenings in the world of sports during his weekly talk from the studios of WCAE at 7.

The Globe Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News flashes the latest bulletins over WCAE and WJAS at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. and over WCAE at 2:15 p. m. today. Tomorrow, all four broadcasts are listed on both stations.

SPAGHETTI
A LA MILANAISE
(TOMATO SAUCE WITH CHEESE)

Is it worth while?

Why take your time to cook spaghetti and prepare the sauce? Why pay the cost of materials and fuel?

No spaghetti made anywhere is more delicious than Franco-American.

The tender, golden strands of spaghetti are made from selected wheat. Famous chefs blend a sauce of ripe, zestful cheese and red-ripe tomatoes, prepared according to a favorite old Italian recipe. But it is their skill in blending that gives Franco-American Spaghetti its final distinction.

Surely it doesn't pay to do all the work yourself, when spaghetti of such incomparable quality is all ready for you to serve—and costs but 9c a can! Get a supply of Franco-American Spaghetti today. Delight your family with it often.

MRS. ROOSEVELT Next 'First Lady' in Reisman Program ON AIR TONIGHT

Trojan Coach In Walsh's Grid Show

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President-elect, makes the first of a series of 12 microphone appearances as guest speaker on Leo Reisman's program over an extensive NBC-WEAF network including WCAE tonight at 9:30. Mrs. Roosevelt, to appear each Friday night at the same hour, will contribute all remuneration she receives for her talks to charity. One-half will be given to the unemployment fund of the State of New York, and the remainder distributed among special cases which already have been receiving her assistance.

Mrs. Roosevelt

In her talks Mrs. Roosevelt will deal with the problems of the day, particularly as they affect women and girls. Her topic tonight is "Problems Which Confront the Modern Girl as Contrasted With Those of My Childhood."

Howard Jones, coach of the University of Southern California football team, is interviewed by Christy Walsh as the highlight of the "All-America Football Show" on WJAS at 9 tonight—on the eve of the annual classic between Notre Dame and Southern California. The game itself will be broadcast over KDKA and WWSW tomorrow, beginning at 4:15 p. m., and Glenn (Pop) Warner will speak between halves. The program tonight includes Pitt and Tech songs.

Program Pointers

Frank A. Vanderlip, banker, author and economist, outlines the work of the Home Mortgage Advisory Board in aiding home owners when he speaks over an NBC network including WCAE at 7:30 tonight. During his talk, Mr. Vanderlip explains how his organization, working in cooperation with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, is attempting to help the small home owners to preserve their property against foreclosures. One time a newspaper reporter and financial editor, Mr. Vanderlip became president of the National City Bank and later headed other large organizations.

Mr. Vanderlip

A variety program featuring the Funnyboners, Fred Feibel, Jay C. Flippen, Charles Carlile, Eddie Duchin and his orchestra; Ted Husing, Connie Boswell and Freddie Rich's orchestra is listed on WJAS at 10:30.

"The Shadow of the Guillotine," a drama of the French revolution, starring June Meredith, Don Ameche and Clifford Soubier, is the First Nighter presentation at 9 on KDKA.

Listening In- WCAE Girl Star Broadcasts in Boy's Attire

Strange scene in the WCAE studios the other night: Helen Wayne, portrayer of one of the leading roles in the Juggernaut Murder Mystery, made up as a boy but being her own sweet feminine self to her listeners. Why? Helen, as a senior at the Carnegie Tech School of Drama, was scheduled to go on the stage at Tech's Little Theater as a boy in "Ticket of Leave Man" shortly after the broadcast and didn't have time between appearances to put on her makeup and costume. Helen, who also plays Lillian in "Our Family," lives in Beechview, and has been appearing in radio dramas for about two years.

Miss Wayne

Report from the Pacific Coast says Zasu Pitts turned down an offer of $1,500 a week for a radio series.

It's not very likely, but someone's suggested:

"What if Cantor, Bernie, Wynn, Groucho and Chico, Ray Perkins, Ray Knight and Jack Pearl were turned loose simultaneously on an unsuspecting network?"

Eugene O'Neill is reported to be the most recent critic of radio drama . . . Says that there will be no radio drama worth serious consideration until the writers forget the alleged 12-year-old mind of the radio public and turn out the best and most sincere work they can. He infers that the average radio writer writes with the thought of how much fan mail the show will bring, whether it will please the sponsor and whether it will get by the many self-appointed censors of the air.

Russ Columbo opens at Cocoanut Grove in New York's Park Central Hotel tonight . . . Among those present will be Edward G. Robinson, George Raft, James Cagney and Paul Muni.

Coincidence? Agnes Moorhead, Mysteries in Paris actress, specializes in detective dramas . . . She's a third cousin of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes.

The Mills Brothers are going on the air currently from Chicago, while Don Redman's orchestra and Dale Wimbrow work from New York on the quartet's program.

Kerr Gives NBC All-Star Team

The National Broadcasting Company announces its first All-America football team, as selected by Andy Kerr, famed coach of Colgate University, and NBC observers and announcers, over NBC-WCAE at 10:45 tonight.

The names of the 11 college players who make up NBC's first mythical championship team are announced by Kerr himself. Graham McNamee, who has reported most of the leading gridiron battles this season for NBC, introduces the Colgate football expert.

'Friendly Program' Makes KQV Bow

The first of a new series of broadcasts billed "The Friendly Program," and presented by Aden K. Lowther, tenor, and Ruth Ley, pianist, is listed on KQV tonight at 8:45 o'clock.

House Repeal Vote In News Drama

Speaker John N. Garner's action in forcing a vote on a resolution for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment on the opening day of Congress is dramatized during the "March of Time" broadcast over CBS-WJAS from 8:30 to 9 o'clock tonight. Sections of the debate which took place after a special suspension of the House rules, and the roll-call, falling six votes short of a repeal victory, are re-enacted.

Prof. Albert Einstein's anger when questioned on his political views and subsequent ultimatum which resulted in the ordering of an American visa within 24 hours provide the material for the second news dramatization. Einstein's views on American women also are included in the episode.

Globe-Trotting

With the Globe-Trotter Of the Sun-Telegraph-Hearst Metrotone News

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, ladies and gentlemen!

We'd hoped to be back on the job today, but our esteemed medical adviser issues the ultimatum: not until tomorrow, anyway. . . . Aided and abetted by our tableful of pills and medicinal liquids, we're in the final round (Old Man Flu and I) and my opponent seems to be tiring a bit. We finally coaxed our temperature down to normal—in fact, it continued to drop, and at last reports was hovering around 97 . . . and although our voice is a bit husky and unsteady (you know how it is), we're feeling fine.

* * *

The trouble is that Old Man Flu seems to be making the rounds—now he's tackled Ted, who's having a much worse time than we did. His temperature is 101½ and he's far from his usual exuberant self. Following the usual custom, Ted also has collected a table of pills and medicinal liquids.

* * *

The mail seems to be piling up. Mrs. G. Urban wants to know how to carry the bridge score from table to table in progressive contract . . . and R. J. Henderson, director of the Pittsburgh Bridge Club in the William Penn Hotel, supplies the information. Here's how:

A separate score sheet is kept by each player. Using five rounds for the example, the player progresses to the next table after each four hands, carrying his or her individual score tally. At the close of the fifth round, scores are tallied. A bonus of 250 points is given for each round won and 125 points for each tie round.

If two players remain as partners throughout the five rounds, the score is kept for the team rather than for the individual, and the points are given on their combined scores as a team.

Mike Joyce: "B" is right. Ted Husing did not attend Notre Dame. His collegiate ambitions were disrupted by the war, in which he served as a member of the Intelligence Service of the Army.

Sometimes It Is Necessary To Demand Consideration

He was "too proud to let his wife work"—

So he couldn't bear to marry Lola "until he could support her."

But that didn't prevent him from demanding, and receiving, all the privileges of marriage while he kept putting off the wedding day.

And did it work? Is Lola glad that she was modern-minded and big-hearted? See for yourself.

Dear Miss Martin:

Will you please help me find an answer to this problem that is causing me so much worry? I don't dare go to any of my friends, because I don't want them to know what I've turned out to be.

MARRIAGE POSTPONED

Fifteen months ago I began going steady with a young man, 29, who had been married for seven years but was getting a divorce. After we had been going together about three months he asked me to marry him, and I said "yes." We planned to marry the first of this year, as soon as he got his decree, but that day has come and gone and, due to an unfortunate incident, we are not married.

I was bitterly disappointed, so I didn't hesitate long in saying "yes" when he proposed that I live with him on and off. Thus I am only his mistress, instead of the wife I hoped to be. A couple of months ago we set another date, and everything was going fine, when he said we would have to postpone it again, as he'd received a cut in salary and he is heavily in debt.

He says he will not marry me until he can support me because he doesn't want his wife to work.

I love him more than anything in this world, and am willing to work to help out until we can get on our feet, but he won't hear of it. Besides, by the end of the year he will only owe $500. Is that such an awful lot that it should make a change in our plans necessary?

IGNORE HER

He says he considers me his wife now, but it takes him an awfully long time to tell anybody that we're even engaged, and when he introduces me to anybody—and sometimes he doesn't bother to do it—it is always "my friend" instead of "my fiancee."

He doesn't want me to tell his aunt of our engagement, and he never mentioned me to his folks until I made him, and they wouldn't even look at my ring. They never ask me any place with him. My folks always ask him wherever they ask me.

Doesn't it mean anything that I'm engaged to him? Will I have to expect to be ignored because I will be his second wife, or what? It hurts me terribly for them to be this way. I don't know what to do.

I love him a whole lot, and don't want to give him up, but I am so frightened I don't know what to do. He always tells me he loves me, and acts like it when we are alone, but does he mean it? Or have I spoiled everything by doing what I did?

What shall I do? Shall I go on now, as I am, and wait till he is ready to marry me? Or shall I insist that we marry at the end of the year, as we'd planned to do? Don't I deserve a little consideration? Or am I just a simple little fool? I am 22.

LOLA.

DEMAND CONSIDERATION

Don't you deserve consideration? Of course you do—if you have the gumption to demand it. But you won't find it handed to you unless you demand it. If you hold yourself cheaply you can expect to be held cheaply, for we establish our own rating in this world, Lola.

Of course you were wildly reckless to listen to his requests in the first place. What you should have done was to tell him that if his scruples wouldn't let him lower his dignity, your scruples wouldn't let you lower your decency.

But you know all that now, don't you? And I am not going to make your shame and remorse more bitter by rubbing it in.

Instead—here's my hand; and let's get going, girl! You've blundered, and you're wiser now. Then show it. Show it by telling him now what you should have told him at first.

Personally, I think he'll be the world's worst bargain as a husband, but if you still want him, get busy and make him get regular. Tell him that it's wedding bells or nothing.

Maybe you'll lose him; but you won't be losing much. And you'll be regaining your own self-respect—and the chance to lead a proud, free, happy life once more.

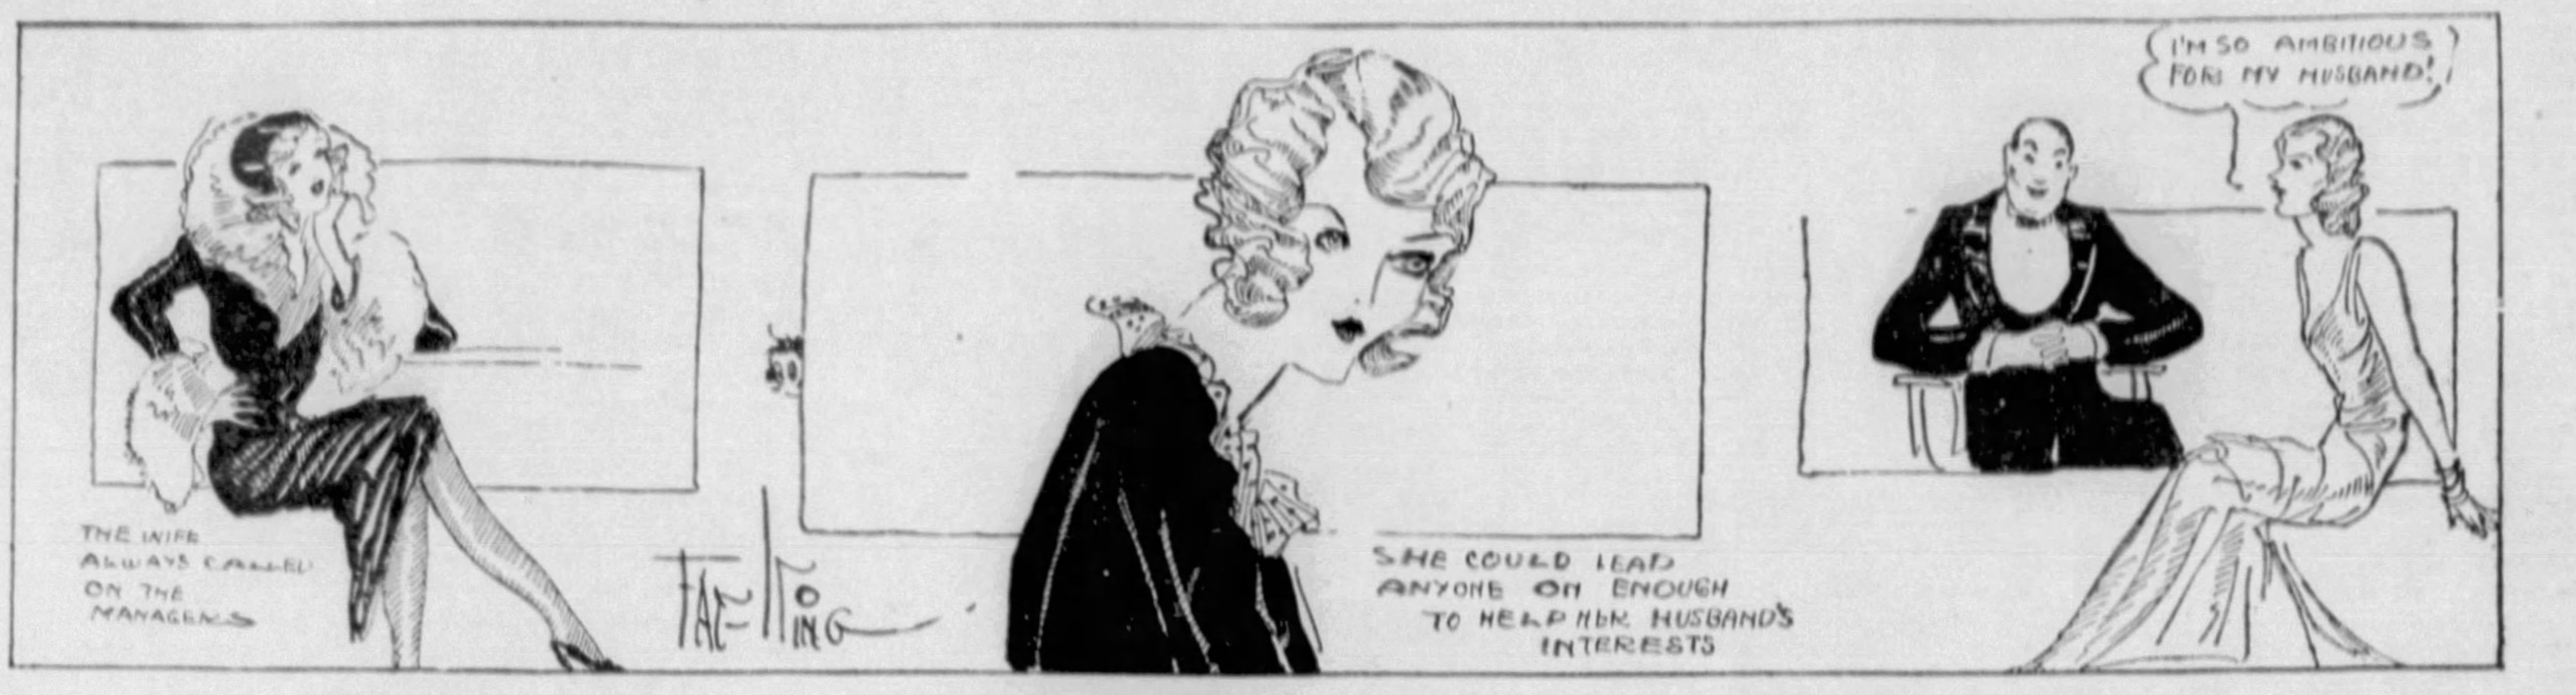
Fay King Extols Wives Whose Charm Aids Their Husbands



THE WIFE ALWAYS CALLED ON THE MANAGERS
FAE KING
SHE COULD LEAD ANYONE ON ENOUGH TO HELP HER HUSBAND'S INTERESTS
I'M SO AMBITIOUS FOR MY HUSBAND!

By FAY KING

Among the wives it has interested me to observe are those who further their husbands' careers by a persistent but always perfectly proper method with men who can help the husbands.

Flattery and affectionate attentions are here lavishly bestowed but never beyond the safe barrier which marks the wives' loyalty to their husbands.

The husbands are fully aware of the wives' clever ways, and are perfectly willing to let them exert their charming powers where it will help most.

They let their wives negotiate business transactions knowing that much better results will ensue.

Madge's Quick Thinking Averts a Disaster

There is enough Celtic blood in me, even though it is well diluted, so that it sent a little rippling shiver down my spine at this revelation of Ronald's, that he had told Marion he hoped never to see her again.

But I had no time to think of omens. Ronald was so lost in his remorse and mental torture that I think he actually had forgotten he was driving a car. Luckily we were going very slowly, and as the machine lurched to one side, I put my hands upon the wheel and spoke sharply.

He obeyed me almost as if he were walking in his sleep, and I guided the car to the side of the road, stopped it with the emergency brake, reached past him and turned off the ignition switch. Then I turned to him, my throat constricting as I saw the look upon his face. He was in a self-hypnosis of mental agony. I was glad that he had appealed to me, for he was not fit to be alone in his present mood.

"Those were the last words I said to her," he went on in a monotone. "Will they be the last words I'll ever have a chance to say to her?"

I turned to him and slapped him first on one cheek and then on the other.

"I'm sorry, Ronald," I said, "but I had to do something to snap you out of this. Do you realize that you lost control of the car just now, and that if we had been going fast we would have been killed?"

"I don't remember doing anything like that. I must be crazy. I shall go mad, I think, if I can't find her and tell her——"

MADGE STERN

"You're not helping to find her by acting this way," I told him, with a sternness that I had to force. "Aren't you ashamed of yourself? Look at the way her mother is bearing up, and you a man, are talking about going mad!"

"I know," he said, "but they have only the kindness and love they gave her to remember, while I— Tell me, did Marion say anything to you—about—me? I don't suppose she would, but—if I just could know she didn't feel bitter."

"Yes, she did say something to me," I said, "and I am going to tell you what it was. Under ordinary circumstances I wouldn't violate her confidence, but I'm sure she'd wish me to tell you this just now."

"Oh! What is it?" he implored with an impatience at my prolixity for which I could not blame him. But I had been compelled to give myself time to concoct a believable tale.

BELIEVES STORY

"These were her words as nearly as I can remember them," I said, using as much of Marion's real speech as I could manage: " 'Auntie Madge, I'm terribly sorry about Ronald. I've treated him so badly that I'm afraid he's going to take a long time to get over it. I guess we're pretty even, though, for he said some horrid things to me when he went away. But he'll get over it after a while, I'm sure of that. And when he does, you'll see little Marion ready for the clinch. I sure did give him a dirty deal when I was looking sidewise at that moth-eaten old Owen, but I've had my lesson. I can't blame Ron for giving me a beating, but I'm an optimist. Maybe I'm conceited, but he was too sore at me to have stopped caring a bit. If he'd been indifferent, I'd be scared; but he'll come around sometime, you'll see. I hope it will be before the football season opens.' "

"Oh! How wonderful!" he cried. "It sounds just as if I could hear her speak. I'm all right now. I can stand anything as long as I know I didn't hurt her. Shall I drive you back now?"

"Please!" I salved my conscience with the reflection that I had saved the boy's sanity, and when he had left me I walked swiftly to the school, for it was near the hour when the white flag was to be hoisted to the flagpole as a signal to the kidnapers.

"There is someone in the living room you will be glad to see," Mrs. Barnes said, as she came into the side hall to greet me, and the next minute I was in my father's arms.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

The Ten as an Entry

One of the most interesting of the new bids brought out in the development of Contract bidding is the use of a no-trump bid to overcall an adverse pre-emptive bid. Naturally, such a bid requires great honor strength and ability to stand by any declaration partner may make or to have a safe bid of one's own.

The following hand is an interesting illustration of the use of this bid, and the manner in which it was played is also interesting, although the final declaration should be severely criticized.

East—Dealer.

North:
♠ 8 6
♡ Q J 10 9 7 2
♢ 10 4
♣ 10 7 6

West:
♠ 7
♡ K 8 6 5
♢ J 6 5 3
♣ J 9 8 4

East:
♠ K Q J 10 9 5 4 3
♡ 4
♢ 8 7 2
♣ 3

South:
♠ A 2
♡ A 3
♢ A K Q 9
♣ A K Q 5 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
			4♠
4 N T	Pass	5♡	Pass
6 N T (1)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—The correct bid here is either five no trump or pass, but South suffers from the no-trump complex and is anxious to cash in not only on the Slam, but for the honors as well.

West decided not to lead his singleton spade, but chose instead the heart 8, unwilling to disclose the fact that it was a four-card suit.

When the lead was made, South realized that despite his irregular lead West must hold the heart King, but the lead gave to the Declarer a clue to the possible making of his ambitious contract. West certainly did not hold two spades, otherwise he would have opened the suit which his partner bid. Possibly he held none, but, in any event, he must be permitted to make the heart King, and the chance had to be taken that one of Dummy's Ten-spots in the minor suits would afford entries for the established hearts. Otherwise, the contract must be defeated.

South won the first trick with the heart Ace and then laid down the Ace of spades to remove a possible spade from the West hand. The heart 3 was then led, and West ducked twice. The suit was continued, however, and he was compelled to win the fourth lead of hearts, and now chose to return the club 9. This was covered with the Ten in Dummy, and the balance of South's losers discarded on the established heart suit.

A very lucky hand, and played much better than it was bid.

TODAY'S QUESTION

North opened with a bid of one club; East passed. What should South bid with the following hand:

♠Q J 10 5 ♡K J 5 3 ♢A 9 7 6 ♣2

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Coarse pores start to reform if they are given an ice rub twice a day, if the skin is laved with witch hazel at bedtime. Any treatment that stimulates blood streams will help to refine the texture of the complexion.

No wonder the cosmetic outlay is so heavy! Girls and women waste more face powder than they use, slapping it on heavily, wiping most of it away. A light film produces a better effect, wards against spottiness, imparts a velvet finish. In cosmetic departments they are showing small complexion brushes of camels hair to use for the removal of surplus calcimine.

NEW BRIDE DISCOVERS HUBBY'S WEAKNESS

Mrs. Hall advises all wives to give husbands LOG CABIN SYRUP with hot cakes on frosty mornings!

"I'll never forget the first dish that my Jack actually praised," said Mrs. R. K. Hall. "That was an event!

"It was a batch of hot cakes ... covered with rich, golden Log Cabin Syrup. And Jack's exact words were as follows: 'Sweetheart, these are the lightest, most delicious pancakes I have ever tasted.' Welcome words!

"Now I must confess! Log Cabin really deserves the credit. Its delicate, maple taste gives cakes such extra flavor. And it makes them seem so light and tender, too, I know!"

TAKE YOUR CHOICE! Log Cabin Syrup is now sold in a lovely glass bottle as well as in the famous old Log Cabin tin

THAT'S right, Mrs. Hall! And this is the reason. Log Cabin Syrup has just the right body to really saturate pancakes with delicious maple flavor. And as a result the cakes simply fall apart at the touch of a fork. Try it for yourself—and see!

To achieve this consistency and flavor, we use three distinct kinds of sugar in making Log Cabin. Delicious Vermont and Canadian maple to give that delicate, mellow maple flavor. Then just the right amount of fine cane sugar to give that smooth, penetrating consistency that makes pancakes served with Log Cabin seem so amazingly light and tender.

Give your husband hot cakes and Log Cabin Syrup for breakfast tomorrow! And you'll want to use it, too, on muffins and other hot breads, just as you do on pancakes and waffles. Log Cabin Syrup is a product of General Foods.

Why does Kroger have 4500 COFFEE GRINDERS like this— instead of ONE like this?

BECAUSE it means the best-tasting coffee in your cup! Sure, it's more work to grind the fast-selling Kroger Coffees pound by pound as you buy them in the store, but no coffees can equal them in flavor.

It's a Kroger law—French Brand and Jewel Coffees must never be ground a minute before they're sold. Fresh-roasted daily, rushed to the stores in the whole bean in simple paper bags, these coffees are at the peak of their flavor.

No fancy packages to push the prices up. No shelf-loafing to pull the flavor down. Just try these ground-to-your-order coffees and see.

Felon Too Dangerous to Neglect

Dr. Copeland

There is an uncomfortable human ailment known as "felon." Infection of the finger may result in felon, a condition that becomes serious when neglected. Amputated fingers and sometimes loss of a hand may be traced to neglect of what in the beginning seemed an unimportant infection.

Usually the injury is so slight as to be entirely overlooked. So simple a thing as a pin-prick may result in infection.

A throbbing sensation is the first sign of trouble. The finger becomes red and swollen. The pain becomes so severe as to make rest and sleep impossible.

The pain, throbbing and swelling can only be relieved by making an incision. There must be an opening to allow the accumulated pus to escape. It should be sufficiently large to provide adequate draining.

Small incisions, such as were made in the old days of lancing are frowned upon today. When the incision is small, drainage is poor and a second, or even a third incision may be necessary. In the end the scar will be much less if a wide opening is made in the beginning.

Too often a felon is neglected because of the fear of operation. This is foolish. The procedure is a very simple one and made painless by local anesthesia. Delay in having the incision made may mean many incisions in the long run, with possible deformity of the finger or hand.

Bear in mind that the pus may travel up the finger to the palm of the hand and to the wrist. In these cases a major operation becomes necessary to preserve the usefulness of the hand.

Let me warn you against continued soaking of the hand in hot solutions. This is a common method of home treatment, resorted to by sufferers who fear surgery. It may do harm by encouraging the spread of the infection. Though the pain is lessened by it, it may be that the actual danger is merely masked.

If you prick or scratch your finger apply an antiseptic. Pain and swelling mean infection. If that occurs immediate medical attention is demanded. Delay in obtaining proper medical advice often results in prolonged and painful recovery.

We regard with suspicion infections which follow wounds from rusty objects, such as nails, iron and tin. Any accident in which dirt is carried into the wound may cause tetanus.

This is a serious and dangerous disease. It can be prevented by the administration of "tetanus antitoxin." To be useful this should be injected immediately after receiving the injury.

The hands come in contact with many objects. They carry germs of disease. Your work soils your hands. On this account do not neglect to wash them before handling food.

Certain occupations require the wearing of gloves. Even this precaution is of little value if minor scratches, injuries and cleanliness of the hands are neglected.

Fashion Flashes

By ALICE ALDEN

A dream of beauty is a new evening wrap made of royal blue velvet. It has long, slim lines and is sleeveless. It is worn with a deep cape collar of ermine, applied to the wrap.

Take three bows and make a dress. Chanel's new evening frock is of apple-green Lyons velvet, the material drawn at the back into two bows, while a scarf makes the third bow at the neckline. In front the tight bodice is fastened with a row of tiny strass buttons.

Hold out your hand to see if it is raining and your gloves won't be soiled if they are of the new rain-proofed corduroy velvet. This corduroy is done in a wide rib and the gloves have the fabric on the outside, while the palm is of leather in matching or contrasting tone.

We can't resist telling you about a new powder jar, even if this isn't the right place for it. It has an adjustable handled lid inside of which is a magnifying mirror. The handle can be folded down flat or held like a hand mirror. The jars have enamel effects.

Household Hints

Wipe up any spilled grease immediately after the accident and avoid a bad fall.

In mixing batter of any kind, lumps will be avoided if the salt is added to the flour before it is wet.

When you run a curtain rod through a net or a muslin curtain give its end a cap of folded tissue paper, and it will open up the hem without catching or tearing.

Mops gather up all sorts of microbes from the floor, brought into the home on boots and shoes, and blown in from the street. Kill the germs and help to ensure the health of the family by sousing these germ-carriers in boiling suds from the family wash, rinsing and drying in the wind.

-:- Correct Manners -:-

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Serving at Table

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—When serving should one remove the dishes from the right or left?

My girl friend and I have had a dispute over this. I think that everything should be served and removed from the left, with the exception of beverages, and these should be served to the right. She thinks that the dishes should be removed from the right.

2—Will you please let me know the color given to a new born baby? Is it blue for a boy and pink for a girl?

3—When with two girls should you introduce the girl you are with first, or the one coming up to you?

4—Does one eat corn on the cob with both hands or with a fork?

K.

1—It is the general custom to serve dishes on the left of the guest, and to remove them from the right. As you say, beverages are an exception . . . they are, of course, placed and removed from the right.

2—I wish that some very wise and influential person would be given the right to settle this much debated question for good and all. But up to date, it never has been definitely settled.

To me it has always seemed to be so much more appropriate for girls to be given the more delicate shade of pink and for boys to be given the more "sturdy" blue shade. And, as far as my researching has gone (and I've inquired a great deal in layette shops and in other shops dealing with baby clothes and the like), this is the suggestion that is generally given.

What has happened of late, though, is that there has been a distinct preference for white for babies of both sexes . . . and surely this is an easy way to settle this!

3—It makes no difference which name you mention first.

4—We shouldn't eat corn on the cob either with both hands or with a fork. The best and most convenient way to do is to break the cob in half, and eat one part at a time. Then it is convenient to take a small piece in one hand, and this is and looks better. Rest the piece on the side of your plate, and prepare one small space at a time, with butter, salt, pepper or whatever accompaniments you prefer.

Extra Juice makes Florida oranges more economical

AVOID COLDS

• YOU have only to squeeze a Florida orange alongside any other kind to see how much juicier Florida oranges are—how much more economical.

It's easy to tell Florida oranges by their skin—smooth and tight—never thick and pebble-grained. If you want more juice, insist on thin-skinned Florida oranges.

TREAT YOURSELF TO TANGERINES
Have you ever tasted Florida tangerines, most piquant of all citrus fruits? You don't know what you've missed. They are lower priced than ever this year—at your grocer's.

TERMS SMITH, POCAHONTAS STORY MYTH

LAWRENCE, Kan., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The story of Capt. John Smith's rescue by Pocahontas has been banished again to the realm of fantasy by Ernest D. Tyler, a professor of history at the University of Kansas.

Tyler not only wrests the doughty warrior from the legendary embrace of the Indian princess but characterizes him as a "braggart and a martinet" as well.

The dramatic tale of last-minute escape from impending death, so thrilling to generations of school boys, was described by the Kansas historian in an address as nothing more than a splendid testimonial to the captain's abilities as a fictionist.

CITES EARLY ACCOUNT

As first evidence of the falsity, the historian cites that it differs widely from an account of the capture 16 years before, the year it occurred, and at a time when details should have been vividly retained in his mind.

In the earlier writings, Smith told of his capture far up the Chickahominy River by Indians after all his followers had been slain, Prof. Tyler relates. Then followed a three-day trek from village to village, which ended in the presence of the mighty Powhatan. Smith was treated well—so well, in fact, that he feared he was being fattened for slaughter. Later four Indians escorted him to Jamestown.

Not a word about the lovely Pocahontas, the rock or the branished clubs. Elsewhere, however, in his account of this same exploration, the Virginian told of having imprisoned some Indians he suspected of treachery.

TELLS OF POCAHONTAS

He wrote that Powhatan sent Rawhunt, an Indian messenger, and the great chief's daughter, Pocahontas, to ask for their release.

Smith described the girl at that time as a "child of tender years, which not only for feature, countenance and proportion much exceedeth any of the rest of his people, but for wit and spirit the only nonpareil of his (Powhatan's) country."

Tyler says the more brilliant Pocahontas myth of later date obviously was embroidered by Smith in an effort to recall his feats in England and thus bring about restoration of his political power in Virginia where he had been ousted.

BALKS WEDDING BY SUICIDE

RED BLUFF, Cal., Dec. 9.—(Universal)—Mrs. Cora Watters, 69, arrived here Wednesday from Preston, Ia., to marry S. J. McMillan, of Tehama, widower of her best friend. She had never seen him before.

McMillan went to his quarters in the rear of his shop yesterday to claim the bride he had won through four years of correspondence and take her to Reno for marriage.

He found her dead on his bed, a bullet in her heart, a revolver in her hand. On a souvenir post-card she had written:

Act Before Wales Fulfills Jester's Life Desire

MANCHESTER, England, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—White-haired Tommy Duff, who for 72 of his 83 years has been a circus clown and street performer, has had his greatest ambition fulfilled. He has performed before every member of the royal family, but it was not until recently that he had a chance to show before the Prince of Wales. Tommy said the Prince liked his somersaults.

SING SING SHOW DELAYS DOOM

OSSINING, N. Y., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The last performance of the Sing Sing prisoners' gangster show, based on the plot that crime does not pay, will be given tonight.

After the audience has left and the performers have been returned to their cells, a real life drama with the same plot will reach its final curtain in the prison death chamber.

Gentro Akiyama, Japanese butler who slew his employer, is to pay the death penalty.

Usually executions take place Thursday nights after 11 p. m. Akiyama's execution for the slaying of J. William Schatz, 56, wealthy Poughkeepsie (N. Y.) manufacturer, was set for the week of December 4. Warden Lewis E. Lawes has the authority to carry out the court's order on any one of the seven days.

Warden Lawes decided that it was better to conduct the execution after the last performance of the show. The hour for Akiyama's death has been set for 1 a. m. Saturday.

Woman Slams Door On Peddler, O. K.'d

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Slamming a door in a peddler's face won court approval in Oklahoma. H. G. Caverly, cereal salesman, complained to Police Judge Mike Foster that Mrs. Ed Sammetinger had slammed her door. Mrs. Sammetinger said the salesman swore when she said she didn't want any cereal. Said the judge, as he fined Caverly $11:

"A citizen doesn't have to listen to peddlers if he doesn't want to."

Collector Secures Services Of Marooned Sailor to Help With Cargo

CHAPTER XLIX.

The animal fan isn't as plentiful as the football fan, the fight fan or the movie fan but he's as definitely sold on his favorite subject as any type of fan in the world. If anything, he's a little more rabid.

Invariably when word gets into the newspapers that I am about to launch an expedition, I get letters from different parts of the country—sent by boys, young men and a sprinkling of adventuresome damsels—telling me that their love of animals is so great they are willing to accompany me, without pay, to the remotest jungles of the earth and work, work, work, as long as they can be assured a real close-up of wild animal life.

Some of the letters sound as if written by people who have a fair knowledge of animals that they would like to apply, others sound like perfectly human bids for a free trip to the wilds. Some of them are hard to classify, as, for instance, the following classic which was forwarded to me by a newspaper that had been kind enough to interview me on my recent return from Singapore:

Dear Mr. Buck:

I would like to go shooting wild animals with you. I would shoot enough to pay for my keep, being a crack shot and 19 years old. My brother is also writing you. But I had the idea of writing you first. Having told him about it, he tried to beat me to it. So don't take him. Take me. I am a better shot and thought up the idea first and he went and stole the idea. I will gladly shoot it off with my brother against any kind of target you think best and then you can decide which is the best shot and which of us you want to take. I am sure you will want me as I am the better shot and thought up the idea of joining up with you first. Will join you anywhere you say and you will not need to send much car fare if you are sailing from New York as it isn't much of a trip from here. But will need lots more help if you are sailing from San Francisco like you say in your stories you sometimes do but will return same from what I make from what I shoot.

Your friend, etc.

GIRL WANTS CHANCE

The young man had somehow managed to read my stories without grasping that my job is bringing back live animals for the zoos and circuses. One way to keep them alive is not to shoot them.

Another interesting letter comes from a militant young woman who accuses the male sex of hogging the wild animal field. "Why not give the woman a chance?" she queries. "Women have demonstrated they can make good in any field, too, if given the opportunity." The lady then goes on to offer her services to my next expedition, belligerently announcing I can prove myself a good sport by taking her on. I'm afraid that hereafter I'm going to be known —to at least one young lady— as a bum sport.

A few of my experiences with self-styled animal lovers assumed real proportions. One was made possible by the misguided Jones law, a maritime regulation that is well-meaning but works out badly in many cases. Under this law any stranded American sailor—worthy or unworthy—can have himself sent home by applying to our consul in the port involved.

The consul, if he cannot arrange to have the sailor returned as a "workaway" (meaning one who pays for his passage by working on board), has the seaman returned at government expense. Repeatedly sailors who desert their ships—and even worse offenders—have managed to benefit by the provisions of this undiscriminating government regulation.

SAILORS CARED FOR

One of those who was struggling with the Jones Law about 10 years ago was Consul-General Harris of Singapore, one of the ablest government officials I have ever known. With patience and fortitude he was providing food and shelter—under the same law—for a number of marooned sailors, many of them shiftless wretches who spent most of their time lying around drunk on the waterfront.

One night at dinner Harris was telling me of the trouble these sailors were making for him. He was hard at work at the job of finding transportation back to America for them, conscientiously striving for a program that would cost our government the least amount of money.

He had worked out a plan whereby most of these chaps would be sent on their way. Only three of the lot remained to be cared for. "One of them," Harris earnestly told me, "is a fellow you may be able to use. He's heard about your work and he's anxious to sail with you. He's crazy about animals. Talk to him and see for yourself."

I was not keen about Harris' suggestion, having shortly before had a rather disillusioning experience with another volunteer assistant who was "crazy about animals," but Harris was such a good sport that I made up my mind to take one of his stranded sailors off his hands if I could possibly convince myself that it was even mildly sensible to do so.

CAPABLE ASSISTANT

I was due to sail soon for the States with a fairly sizeable collection of animals, reptiles and birds and the Consul-General's plan was to get me to ship his marooned sailor as a workaway. Harris seemed confident that the chap would make a good general helper.

Harris arranged for me to meet his seafaring animal fan. I was agreeably surprised. The man, a fairly presentable specimen, actually seemed enthusiastic about animals in an intelligent way. He appeared to know something about them and acted as if he would write down his destiny as unfulfilled unless promptly set to work looking after my collection.

The fellow—we'll call him Bill because that was his name—was delighted when I decided to take him on as a workaway, as suggested by my consular friend.

The afternoon we sailed from Singapore Bill proved of great help. Our job was to get my specimens loaded and temporarily placed on the main cargo deck of the freighter on which we were shipping. Then on the next day we would put every cage and crate in its proper place.

Bill worked like a demon, performing his duties with more enthusiasm than any assistant of mine had ever displayed. He did things quickly and properly, making comments as he worked that showed an even keener knowledge of animals than he had displayed on our first meeting. Here he was a capable assistant and an animal fan who knew something about animals, a rare combination. I mentally decided that Bill and I were starting a long and pleasant friendship.

Citizens Shun City's Fingerprint Offer

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Berkeley citizens can have their fingerprints added to police records free of charge, but no line is forming. A. J. Greening, police chief, wishes there were. Inviting citizens to be fingerprinted at the newly created bureau of personal identification, he said:

"If fingerprinted persons get lost, suffer amnesia attacks or get bowled over in traffic accidents, we shall be able to identify them."

Thieves Loot Home, Take Watchdog

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—The investment Alfred E. Kalberger made in a watchdog looked like a gilt-edged proposition until burglars came along, stole his $200 fur coat, and departed—taking the dog, too.

'Possum Saves Life By 'Playing 'Possum'

HARRISBURG, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—"Playing 'possum" certainly saved the life of this animal. Driving home late at night, R. M. Hutchinson saw what he thought was a large cat roll over in front of his car as though dead. He stopped, picked up the animal, found it to be an opossum, very much alive, and took it home where it is now the family pet.

'Sweating' Walls Lead to Rum Raid

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—If your house "sweats," look out for the police. Patrolman Walter Hart and Elmer Zwissler found one house whose second floor walls were wet, while those below were dry. Deciding this was suspicious, they raided the place and said they found a still, liquor and mash. Joe Mascari, 20, and his wife were arrested.

How Coughs and Colds Yield to Creosote

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

FANS APPROVE STAND OF BUC CHIEFS

THE FAILURE OF Pirate efforts at the minor league meeting in Columbus to swing a trade for Fredie Lindstrom, or any of the other players sought, doesn't necessarily mean it's all off. There will be further conferences on the subject during the major league conferences in New York next week, when President Benswanger will join with Manager Gibson and Vice President Watters in a renewal of the drive to obtain new material of a grade that would strengthen the Buccaneers.

Freddie Lindstrom

By that time, the clubs holding title to the services of the players desired, may be more reasonable in their demands, having found that other owners are not to be coaxed into paying the absurdly high prices first asked. If not, local fans will heartily approve the stand of the Pirate management in refusing to give up players of greater value in order to acquire the services of Lindstrom or any other athlete, a step that would mean the wrecking of the Pittsburgh club in other departments to strengthen it in one spot.

THE NEW FOOTBALL coach at Fordham next year will find things pretty will set for him. As far as being spared rebuilding work goes, he will step into one of the softest spots in the major college ranks. For all of the Ram veterans except one will return.

The only player whom the squad will lose by graduation is Joe Zapustas, this being the first time in six years that Fordham has gone from one season to another with such a light loss. Zapustas was out with a broken leg during the greater part of his first campaign. In 1931 he played halfback. This year he was converted into a lineman, but in midseason was shifted to quarterback.

IT IS SUGGESTED that should Temple continue to play night football next fall, opposing teams will find it more difficult to follow the pigskin when the Owls go through their hidden ball plays from the Warner formation. Usually it is rather hard to follow the ball in Warner's offense, even in daylight.

Pop may be depended on to add a lot of deception to the Temple attack. Most of the offensive plays used by some of the leading coaches of the country were devised by the veteran mentor.

THE SINGLE WINGBACK formation, which has been so popular for years, was invented by Warner in 1907. He was one of the first coaches to see the value of pulling guards from the scrimmage line to run interference ahead of the ball carrier. He was the first to employ the double wingback formation, now used by many college teams. Many of the spinner variations and fake reverses, which make up the main part of the double wingback attack, came from his inventive brain. No other coach has devised or perfected as many tricks as Pop. His teams always are colorful and attractive to watch, and football men estimate that it won't take Temple long to get back in extra receipts the $75,000 invested in Warner's five-year contract.

Max Carey

HOPING TO BE discharged from the hospital in time to attend the major league meetings in New York next week, Max Carey plans to resume his trading efforts with a view to bolstering the Brooklyn club. Carey thinks baseball is returning to its former more scientific lines, and wants to shape his team accordingly.

"The old style is coming back," Carey remarked to Sid Mercer. "The time has passed when tours of the bases were merely the result of batting outbursts. We still need the hitters, of course, but they can strengthen their positions with me if they show me speed and judgment on the bases."

CAREY DOES NOT intend to drop all of the material he now has that fails to measure up to the changing conditions, but any replacements he may be able to get will be picked out with an eye to the new order of things. The Dodgers at present are not overly rich in speed.

Gordon Slade is to be used in a deal if Brooklyn can get in exchange a shortstop able to fill in acceptably for Glenn Wright on occasions. Slade, though a capable understudy for three seasons, is numbered among the Dodgers' stationary baserunners.

MAJ. RALPH SASSE leaves West Point with an impressive record for his three years as head football coach. During his regime, Army was defeated only five times, while hanging up 24 victories and two ties. In 1930, the Cadets won nine games, lost one and tied one. In 1931, they won seven, lost two and tied one. In 1932, they won eight and lost two. Two of the five defeats were administered by Pitt, two by Notre Dame and one by Harvard. Both ties were played with Yale.

THE SAME SCHOOL that sent big Ed Krause to Notre Dame, where he became one of the greatest tackles in the land, will send along another fine prospect for the same position who is expected to follow in Krause's path on the Irish varsity.

The young tackle looming as a future star at De La Salle in Chicago, under the coaching of Norman Barry, former Notre Dame player, is George Strabis. He is a Lithuanian, standing 5 feet 11 inches and weighing 190 pounds. Strabis will captain De La Salle's team next year, and plans then to go on to Notre Dame. He is rated just as good as Krause was as a high school junior.

IT WILL BE Kid Chocolate's first defense of the featherweight championship when he enters the Madison Square Garden ring in New York tonight for a 15-round fight with Fidel La Barba, on which the 126-pound title will be at stake.

Kid Chocolate

That is, the crown will be at stake as far as New York state is concerned. Chocolate is only one of three title claimants. The National Boxing Association recognizes Tommy Paul and California recognizes Baby Arizmendi. The majority of ring followers at large lean to Chocolate as the rightful holder of the 126-pound leadership, inasmuch as he defeated Tommy Feldman, who previously had beaten Paul.

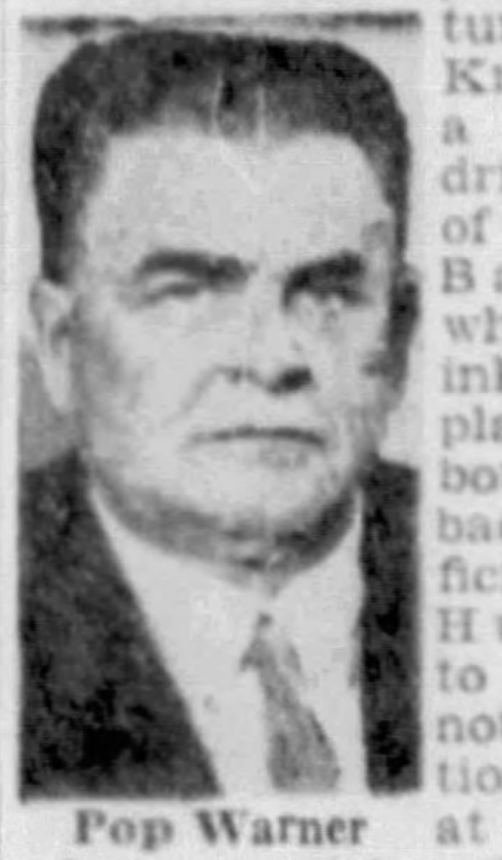
TONIGHT'S BOUT WILL be a renewal of a feud that started in 1929, when Chocolate received a disputed decision over La Barba. The rivals clashed again in 1930, and this time La Barba won by a margin that left no room for argument. On the face of the first two engagements La Barba would appear to have the better chance to win tonight, but that dope may not run true. At the time of the previous meetings, Chocolate, somewhat spoiled by success, had fallen into loose habits. Lately he has been paying strict attention to business. Besides, he has a championship to defend now, and conditions in general are such as to promise a better fight on his part than he put up on either of the previous occasions. The only doubt about him is as to whether he can take, without weakening and slowing down, the body punching La Barba will give him. Chocolate is thin waisted and doesn't thrive on that sort of fare, and La Barba, a converted southpaw, specializes on left hooks to the body and hits harder to the liver with his port mitt than any of the other little fellows. Chocolate's chances of keeping his title depend on his ability to stand up under that body fire. If he can do that he may win, but only after a close fight that will tax him to the utmost.

PITT SET FOR GEORGETOWN

BATTLE LOOMS AS CLASH OF GRID GIANTS

By GLENN S. (POP) WARNER
Former Pitt and Stanford Coach.
Member All-America Board of Football.
(Reg. U. S. Pat. Office.)

PALO ALTO, Cal., Dec. 9.—The 1932 model Notre Dame machine probably has as powerful a personnel as any Notre Dame outfit has ever had. Besides a rugged, powerful line featuring Kurth and Krause, there is a fast, hard-driving backfield of Brancheau, Banas, Jaskwhich and Melinkovich. The replacements for both line and backfield are sufficient to permit Hunk Anderson to keep a top-notch aggregation in the game at all times.



Pop Warner

In my opinion, the defeat received by Notre Dame at Pittsburgh was beneficial in this respect:

"It made Notre Dame twice as hard to beat in their remaining games."

From that game on, the Fighting Irish have been coming back playing the kind of ball of which they are capable. The Army debacle is ample proof of that.

TROJAN LINE POWERFUL

U. S. C., the winner of the coast championship, will place its hope of victory in a big, powerful line. Both their tackles, Smith and Brown, are veterans who have been honored as All-America caliber in numerous selections. Rosenberg, the running guard, is big and fast. He should be in top form against Notre Dame. There is little doubt among close followers of Coast football that the present Southern California line is the strongest of the many strong lines which have graced Trojan gridiron history.

It was in the backfield that the men of Troy received their major losses from their powerful team of 1931. Such boys as Pinckert, the great blocking back; Shaver, the barrel-chested ball carrier, and Sweet Musick, the hard-hitting fullback, Mohler, a real threat on any gridiron, are gone. This leaves that powerful line functioning in front of a quartet of unsung backs of whom Cotton, Warburton, Griffith and Clark have become the most outstanding.

IRISH BACKS SUPERIOR

However, they do not measure up to those of the previous year. It is here that Notre Dame may show enough superiority to win, even though the play in the line may be even.

Both teams will use a shifting style of offense. This would lead you to believe that the offenses would be greatly similar. Nothing is further from the truth, as the attacking methods employed by both teams are very different.

I believe U. S. C. will employ the more stereotyped defense, with their defensive men playing in the groove as pre-arranged by the Board of Strategy. Each player operating in this manner contributes his unit in perfecting the whole plan which then becomes U. S. C.'s defense. On the other hand, Notre Dame will probably perform with more defensive elasticity, permitting more latitude on the part of the individual performers.

BOTH TEAMS ON EDGE

Neither team should benefit from a psychological angle, as both teams realize the great power of the other and no gossip will be able to lull either team into a feeling that they will have an easy time winning.

Seldom will a spectator have the opportunity of seeing greater personnel in action, for the men composing these two teams are probably the best of any two teams in the country and it should be a great battle.

I believe Notre Dame will win.

Schools, Officials Draw Battle Lines

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 9.—Fayette County basketball adherents are settling themselves to witness a showdown struggle between the basketball officials and the school authorities of the county.

The schools have announced that they'll pay $5 per game for referees and no more. The officials say their voluntary cut to $7.50 is their rock-bottom figure. Both sides appear adamant.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: CATCHING LIVE COUGARS—The capture of a cougar is fully as dangerous as that of a tiger or lion in the Orient, but Bob Bakker, of Libby, Mont., has succeeded in capturing 202 of them alive during the last 10 years, and never suffered accident or injury. Bakker's methods are ingenious, however. After he gets the cougar treed, he climbs the tree himself and lassoes it in true Western style. His ranch is equipped to care for the wild beasts until they are disposed of to circuses, zoos and animal shows. The cougar, or American lion, as it usually is called, greatly resembles the panther and leopard in habits, size and ferocity. DANCED MORE THAN 1,200,000 MILES—R. G. Huntinghouse, of 4616 North Clark street, Chicago, estimates that during the 56 years he has conducted his dancing academy he has danced a total of more than 1,200,000 miles. During his daily grind of 14 hours, he has averaged 66 miles a day on week days and 15 miles on Sundays—a total of almost 22,000 miles a year.

Epinard Boosts Record For Sea Crossings

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Epinard is out to protect his all-time thoroughbred record for Atlantic crossings.

The famous French race horse was booked for passage on the American Banker, sailing today, the thoroughbred's sixth Atlantic crossing. The most luxuriously appointed stall on the ship has been engaged for him.

WOMEN FORM SPORT BODY

With field hockey, basketball and swimming on the program for this year, and Women's Sport Organization in Pittsburgh has been formed, membership open to all women not at present undergraduates in any college or high school.

The association will hold its meeting each Saturday morning in Trees Gymnasium at the University of Pittsburgh. Women interested in joining the organization can secure further details from Miss Dolores DeMartini, the executive secretary, at Trees gym.

The following basketball program has been scheduled:

December 10—Rules discussion.

December 17—Demonstration of new rules and the opportunity for officials to practice refereeing.

January 7—Re-examination of officials.

January 14—Examination for new applicants.

January 21 and 28 [illegible] for members of the sports [illegible] to participate in playing basketball.

February 4 to 18—Same program for participation.

VANITIES WIN FIRST GAME

The Y. M. H. A. passers today are celebrating their sixth victory in as many starts for the still young basketball season and the Goldenson Vanities, leading girls' team, have captured their season inaugural.

The Y passers defeated the Wilmerding Y. M. C. A. quintet last night with comparative ease, 43 to 21. Alman and Malamude led in the scoring with 11 points each.

The Vanities almost doubled the score on the Salem Pennzips, winning, 29 to 15, with Mae Robinson, former Aliquippa High School star, and Miss Meyer sharing the high scoring honors for the victors with six points apiece. Miss Zelle, of Salem, was high pointgetter with 11.

In a West Penn League encounter, played as a preliminary to the Y. M. H. A.-Wilmerding engagement, the Y. M. H. A. B team defeated the Goodwills, 43 to 18. The North Siders defeated the Penn Five, 54 to 36, in another West Penn loop fray.

In other games, the Frank Ferris team defeated Carnegie Alumni, 51-12; Duke quintet trimmed the Forester Reserves, 18-14; St. Gabriels downed St. Andrews, 32-29; Senators upset the Cathedral Chapel team, 25-21, and the Goldenson Juniors defeated the Press Club, 33 to 22.

BOUT 'NO CONTEST'

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The New Jersey State Boxing Commission has a job of investigating to do on the Duane [illegible] light-heavyweight bout. The bout, scheduled for 10 rounds here last night, was stopped by Referee Rorren in the first round and declared "no contest" when Duncan went down seven times in the first round, twice without being hit.

Columbia Star Plans Varsity Bridge Team

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Not satisfied with his activities as stroke oar of the varsity crew and tackle on the football team, MacRae Sykes, of Columbia, has added a new sport to his athletic repertoire.

He has issued a call for candidates for a Columbia varsity bridge team which is to meet the faculty at contract in the near future.

Sykes said he expected 50 candidates would respond to the call.

VINES REACHES NET FINAL

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Ellsworth Vines, Jr., and Jack Crawford, leading players of the United States and Australia, respectively, today won their way to the final of the victoria lawn tennis championships.

Vines, leader of a touring United States team, defeated Cliff Sproule, Australian Davis Cup player, 5-7, 5-7, 7-5, 6-2, 6-2, in one semi-final while Crawford disposed of another leading Australian player, H. O. Hopman, 6-3, 4-6, 0-6, 6-2, 6-2.

COACH RESIGNS

HAVERFORD, Pa., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Elwood Geiges, for the past two years head football coach at Haverford College, has announced his resignation to take effect January 1. Geiges today said he is through with coaching, but plans to retain his connection with the gridiron as an official.

AL BROWN WINS

PARIS, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Panama Al Brown, generally recognized bantamweight champion, outpointed Franz Machtens, Belgian featherweight title holder, in a 10-round bout here last night.

AMATEUR CUP RIVALS MEET

By TOM BIRKS

Three soccer games are scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, one of them, featuring the German Sport Club and Valley Camp at Leslie Park, in a National Amateur cup affair. The other two contests are Central League tussles and will find Mt. Lebanon at Westinghouse and Union Switch and Signal at McKeesport.

Much interest naturally will attend the cup tie battle in the Strip district. Not often do the soccer critics pick a Central League club to beat a member of the Keystone circuit, but soccer men feel that Harry Sickles and his upriver outfit are going to have a tough 90 minutes tomorrow.

The German Sport Club, after many lean years, is having a successful season and is within reach of the leadership of the league.

Frey, always a good fullback, in the past, was prone to lose his head when the going got tough, and was forever battling the referees. This season, however, he is sticking to the business of getting the ball away from his goal.

The Harriet brothers have put a punch into the team's attack and Sickles, the popular Valley Camp center halfback, is going to have a merry afternoon keeping track of the young German Sport star.

LONG'S REVIEW ON AIR

James J. Long's weekly radio sports review is heard over WCAE at 7 o'clock tonight. At 9 o'clock Christy Walsh presents his All-America Board of Football football review over the Columbia chain (WJAS), from California, with Howard Jones and Hunk Anderson, coaches of the Southern California and Notre Dame elevens' which meet tomorrow, as his guest speakers.

CAPTAIN SMITH ABLE TO PLAY IN OPENER

By JESS CARVER

The Braddock Bombardier, otherwise known as Dr. Clifford Carlson, Pitt's explosive basketball coach, begs to report that the stage is set for tomorrow's basketball clinic, the third annual affair of its kind to be sponsored by the University, and that his varsity basketeers are primed for their inaugural Eastern Intercollegiate Conference game with Georgetown's Hoyas.

The Bombardier will call the clinic to order (and keep on calling for most of the day) at 9:45 o'clock tomorrow morning. The Bombardier will deliver the opening address. Following Doc's talk, Chuck Taylor will give an exhibition of ball-handling, some explanations and illustrations of plays will take place and then, just before time for the putting on of the noontime feed-bag, Dr. George Kowallis will discuss the importance of diet in training.

COACHES TO TALK

In the afternoon, other college coaches of the district will take the floor and after they are through their speechifying, Boxing Coach Joe Orsini will have his varsity and freshmen leather slingers put on a program of eight exhibition bouts.

The game in the evening is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock.

Trainer Bud Moore announced last night that Capt. Don Smith, who this year has been converted from a guard into a forward, will be able to start against Georgetown. Paired with the Bellevue star will be Willie (Skippy) Hughes, sophomore star from Hollidaysburg. Claire Cribbs, rangy and hard-passing center, will be at the tap-off post, with Don McCamant and Russ Ochsenhirt at the guards.

REIDER SHOWS FORM

Capt. Bulldog Reider, of the football team, paid a visit to the hospital yesterday where the medicos chiseled the cast from off his game leg. Then the Bulldog went through a spirited workout with the varsity, who were sent through an extra strenuous session by Assistant Coach Andy Gustafson, designed to work off the weight the lads put on yesterday noon at the Chamber of Commerce's annual gridiron luncheon.

At this luncheon, at which Pitt and Perry High School, as city grid champs, were honor guests, the Panthers were awarded the C. of C. and city trophies. Perry was presented the C. of C. statue.

Ray Montgomery, coach of the alumni football team, which meets the Panther in a practice game in the Stadium next Sat'day, has received replies from a goodly number of former stars, enough to assure his putting on the field next week an eleven which will be capable of giving the varsity a busy afternoon.

So far, Monty has heard definitely from Jimmy Clark, Jess Quatse, Jim MacMurdo, Rip Collins, Jim Rooney, Franklin Hood, Toby Uansa, Honey Guarino, Whitey Fyock, Joshua Farmer Williams, Ralph Daugherty and Eddie Baker and Joe Donchess.

The Tipoff

Former teammates will be foes on the morrow as Southern Cal. clashes with Notre Dame before 100,000 cash customers at Los Angeles in one of the football classics of the season. Ford Palmer, right end for the Trojans and Laurie Vejar, one of the Rambler quarterbacks, both members of the Hollywood High School team five years ago, probably will come face to face some time during the struggle.

The two were important members of the metropolitan championship prep eleven of 1927, coached by Vic (Choctaw) Kelly, one of the famous Carlisle Indians in the days of Jim Thorpe. Palmer was classed as just an ordinary end. Vejar twice was selected on the all-Metropolitan team and there were many who thought he was a better back than Orville Mohler, former Southern California signal shouter.

Palmer prospered at Southern California. As a junior this season he earned a first-string position on Coach Howard Jones' eleven and figured prominently on the receiving end of numerous forward passes to touchdowns.

On the other hand, Vejar apparently became just another candidate at South Bend, and for two years was swallowed up in the maze of gridiron talent. This season he blossomed out as starting quarterback in several of the early games, but slipped back into semi-oblivion after the defeat of the Irish arms (and legs) here.

Regardless, those who saw him run wild on prep school gridirons will look for him tomorrow . . . Another hometown boy who made good. Those who like their true story fiction believe Vejar is one of Coach Hunk Anderson's aces in the hole.

Chick Collins, of North Carolina, isn't the only football coach who thinks the grid officials have been stealing too much of the game's spotlight and becoming entirely too autocratic in their handling of games, but so far, he's been the only one to come out in the open and say so.

Knute Rockne once told me that a certain official, and a well-known one, too, when trying to clip Notre Dame for a larger fee for a game, made the following remark:

"You know, Rock, I draw a few people at that gate myself."

Think I'm kidding? Ask Elmer Layden!

Frank Wolf and his ambitious Waynesburg Yellow Jackets have arranged themselves a nice opening football game for next fall. All the Jackets have to do is meet Bucknell, never a cinch for any eleven, in their initial start. The game will be played at Lewisburg under the lights September 22.

MINOR LEAGUERS ELECT JUDGE BRAMHAM PRESIDENT

DURHAM JURIST SUCCESSOR TO COMMITTEE

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Judge W. C. Bramham, of Durham, N. C., today was elected president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs. He was named for a one-year term at a salary of $6,000.

Bramham will take over the duties of the committee of five which was appointed head of the association last year when Michael Sexton was ousted. Nomination of Judge Bramham was made by Sexton and seconded by Warren Giles, of the Rochester Club of the International League.

By unanimous vote, the association named Sexton, of Rock Island, Ill., honorary president at $2,000 a year. He headed the organization for a number of years before retiring in 1931.

Another unanimous vote elected J. H. Farrell, of Auburn, N. Y., treasurer, at $3,000 annually.

FIGHTS TO KEEP CLUB

Sam Colacurcio, president of the Jersey City Club in the International League, declared emphatically today that he will obtain capital by Monday to prevent league officials from taking the club out of his hands.

Due to debts against the club, the league has given him until Monday to obtain new financial support.

He admitted he is dickering with Jack Hendricks, former manager of the Cincinnati Reds and Indianapolis Indians, to supply him with funds. Under that arrangement, Hendricks would be given an officership in the club.

A meeting is to be held in New York Monday when the club will ask for Colacurcio's definite answer.

Later today the convention will vote on the unanimous adoption of salary limits and provide drastic penalties for those exceeding the payroll bounds.

The Good Doctor Operates

DR. H. C. CARLSON, OF PITT, READY FOR THE ANNUAL BASKETBALL CLINIC

Out in the Pitt Stadium Pavilion tomorrow Dr. Carlson, Pitt's head coach, will stage his annual basketball clinic for coaches, players and spectators, free to the public. There will be both morning and afternoon sessions, which will attract huge turnouts not only from the district colleges and schools, but from distant points as well. Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture shows the good doctor doing a bit of "pre-clinicing" to tune up himself for the big day.

FOUR CUE STARS TIED FOR LEAD IN TOURNEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Except for young Jimmy Caras, veterans have completely dominated the first four days of play in the National pocket billiard championship, now in progress here.

Of the three new-comers to championship play, only Caras has been able to meet the oldsters on their own ground and dish out a little more than he has been forced to take. James Mills, of San Jose, Cal., and Walter Franklin, of Kansas City, both appearing in the national tournament for the first time as is Caras, have lost six games between them.

Caras, on the other hand, had chalked up two successive victories and was tied for the lead today with three of the game's "ancients," Ralph Greenleaf, of New York, and Erwin Rudolph and Pasquale Natalie, both of Chicago.

A shakeup in the standing was certain today with Caras and Allen battling in the first afternoon match. Ponzi was paired against George Kelly, of Philadelphia, in the second game. Kelly, runner-up for the title last year, has lost two successive contests. Tonight Greenleaf meets an old rival in Frank Taberski, of Schenectady, N. Y., who has been beaten back in his first two starts of the current tournament.

Caras, Natalie and Rudolph all won their second games yesterday. Caras defeated Mills, 125 to 76, in 19 innings; Natalie whipped Franklin, 125 to 73 in 26 innings, and Rudolph defeated Kelly, 125 to 46 in 22 innings.

IRISH, TROJANS PRIMED FOR AIR BATTLE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—University of Southern California's football team went into seclusion today to meditate on its impending grid battle with Notre Dame here Saturday. Coach Howard Jones said:

"I am satisfied that everything that could have been done on the training field has been accomplished. I am not certain as to the physical condition of the players. We will not know until after the game whether they have been worked too hard or not hard enough.

"I like their mental attitude, though, and know they are ready to play the best game they know how to play."

Jones also went into seclusion with the team, unbeaten in 18 starts.

There was an air of expectancy over the Ramblers' arrival late today, although no one was sure just what to expect beyond an array of great gridsters from South Bend. The squad has been at Tucson, Ariz., for nearly two days.

IRISH 10-8 FAVORITES

The betting continued at odds of 10 to 8 in favor of the invaders, with Southern California's backers asking a touchdown margin.

Every pre-game indication pointed toward an aerial battle such as no Notre Dame-Southern California game ever has known. With each eleven boasting exceptional lines, there was little question but that, barring something unusual, the outcome would be decided by the success or failure of an overhead attack.

1935 GAME ASSURED

Southern California athletic officials announced late yesterday that the home and home football series with Notre Dame has been extended through 1935.

The announcement set to rest rumors that the relationship between the two institutions, which has been perpetuated six years, would be terminated after the contest scheduled for 1933.

Southern California will play the Ramblers at South Bend next November 25 and November 23, 1935. The 1934 game will take place here December 8.

Fight Results

At Philadelphia—Johnny Datto defeated Jackie Willis, 8 rounds; Jimmy Steward won by a technical knockout over Midget Mike Moran, 5 rounds; Pete McDonough knocked out Sammy Bugajewski, first round; Dave Miller won by a technical knockout over Mushy Brown, 2 rounds; Dominic Burrone won by a technical knockout over Aubrey Staples, first round.

RIVAL POLOISTS SET FOR DUEL

Polo comes to the aid of a worthy charity tomorrow night at the Hunt Armory, when last season's trophy winning Shady Side Academy riders meet the Vang trio in the second game of the indoor circuit, gate receipts going to the Knox School soup kitchen on the South Side.

Excitement of the first magnitude is promised in the impending clash between the two strongest contenders for the Meurisse trophy. In Dave McCahill and Art Aaron, the Academy poloists present a pair of siege guns which would be difficult to match, in addition to which they hold the edge in the all-important element of horseflesh.

The toss-in is scheduled for 8:45 o'clock.

HUSKERS HONOR MATHIS

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Diminutive Chris Mathis, who provided most of the sparkle in the Cornhuskers' offense, was surprised last night when the title of honorary captain of the 1932 University of Nebraska football team was conferred upon him. It was the first time in several years that a football captain has been chosen at the Husker school, either before or after the season.

Minor Loop Briefs

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Sales, deals and decisions having to do with the minor baseball leagues, announced today at the minors' convention here, were as follows:

The Western League will continue to do business in spite of the withdrawal of the Tulsa and Oklahoma City clubs, Dale Gear, president of the circuit, said today. He said Lincoln, Neb., and Sioux City, Iowa, were being considered as league members.

The Beaumont club, of the Texas League, today announced signing of Bob Coleman, former Pirate, as manager in 1933. Coleman, a catcher, formerly managed San Antonio in the same league, and Evansville, Ind., in the Three-Eye. He succeeds Del Baker, who becomes head coach of the Detroit Americans.

Pitcher Grady Adkins was sold by the St. Paul Association team to Knoxville, of the Southern Association. The Knoxville club announced sale of Bernie Neis, former big leaguer, to Dallas, of the Texas League. Neis managed the Knoxville team last year.

Outfielder Carl Boiyard, who played his first organized baseball with Fort Wayne, Ind., of the Central League, last year, was signed by Binghampton, N. Y., in the New-York-Pennsylvania League.

Even umpires figured in the trading. R. W. Snyder and Joe Rue, arbiters of the American Association, will go to the Pacific Coast circuit, while Tom Dunn and Eddie McLaughlin, of the Coast loop, will join the umpiring staff of the A. A.

Bert Niehoff was retained as manager of the Chattanooga Club of the Southern League for next year, and Bill Myers will continue as manager of the Binghamton Club of the New York-Pennsylvania League.

Formation of the Georgia-Alabama Class D League was announced by Joseph Engle, president of the Chattanooga team in the Southern League. Alabama entries will be Huntsville, Gadsden, Anniston and Talledega. Georgia teams will be chosen later.

CENTRAL LOOP DROPS ERIE

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 9.—(INS.)—Ousting Erie, Pa., because of its remoteness, the Central Baseball League today presented a new six-club lineup which will open the 1933 season with probably at least three former major league stars serving as managers.

With Wally Pipp, former New York Yankees' first baseman, expected to act as playing manager, Grand Rapids was taken into the circuit to replace Erie. Youngstown, Dayton, Terre Haute, Fort Wayne and Evansville, Ind., will complete the loop.

Bill Wambsganns, triple-play star of the 1920 Cleveland-Brooklyn world series, again is to pilot Fort Wayne, and Elmer Smith, who hit a home run with the bases full in the same series, will manage the Youngstown club for President Joe Gambris.

Gambris has admitted he hopes to transfer the Youngstown franchise to Springfield, O., for the purpose of compactness. The entry of Terre Haute sounded the death of the Three-Eye League, as Ross Harriott, Terre Haute owner, was secretary of the defunct Three-Eye. The Evansville franchise was assigned to E. Simon.

Frederick Howell, of Dayton, was re-elected president; Harry Smith, of Columbus, was returned as secretary, and Harriott was named as vice president.

Titans Honor Four Duquesne Gridders

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Westminster gridiron warriors, holding a post-season huddle, decided after prolonged debate on an all-opponent eleven composed of outstanding performers on the 10 teams the Titans battled during the past campaign. The first team, numbering four Duquesne men, follows:

BUCCO PREXY PLANS TRIP

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Pirate President Bill Benswanger, who was unable to attend the minor league baseball meetings in Columbus this week on account of illness, expects to leave for New York tomorrow to be on hand for the National League board of directors' meeting which will be held there Sunday.

Manager George Gibson and Vice President Sam Watters probably will return tonight from the minor league confab which will close today. Gibson and Watters also plan a quick trip to the Metropolis, but they will not depart before Sunday night.

The three Pirate officials will attend the annual dinner of Brooklyn Chapter, Baseball Writers' of America, Monday night. On Tuesday the trio of Pittsburghers will be early birds in attendance at the opening sessions of the National League. The senior circuit may have enough business on hand to run through two days. The joint meeting of the major leagues will take up the time of the various moguls on Thursday.

CHILLYSAUCE

Injection of Adam Comorosky's name into the trade talk involving Freddie Lindstrom, of the Giants, has caused Pirate fans to indulge in a lot of interesting chatter. Comorosky, as you may know, is a puzzle to many loyal supporters of the club. There are times when the Polish Flyer looks like one of the stars of the league, but just when his lithographs begin to look like Barnum and Bailey posters he appears to throw smudge onto the sheets.

It is a coincidence that Comorosky reaches his 28th birthday today. Accordingly, he should be at the zenith of his career and perhaps he will step out and treat himself to some banner seasons regardless of what sort of passport he possesses. Should he transfer his allegiance to the Giants in a Lindstrom trade, Adam, popular all over the circuit, might shine in the Polo Grounds. Then, again, there is no good reason why he should not play high-grade ball for the Pirates.

Commy has spent five years with the Buccos without a break since he returned from a seasoning trick in Indianapolis. In that protracted period he has batted close to the .300 mark, yet his play has been of the in-and-out variety. In 1930, he was one of the game's most brilliant performers through five months of the race, but he folded up painfully in the last month of the season.

Lindstrom does not have such a big edge over the Polish boy when the latter is "on", but the Swede is more consistent. The Buccos might be willing to give Adam and a fair-to-middlin' player for Fred, under the circumstances.

Stands Collapse, 100 Fans Injured

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—One hundred persons were injured, some of them seriously, when bleachers collapsed at the Italian Stadium during a national championship football match yesterday.

Near the end of the first part of the match between Colocolo and Audax a section of the stands fell, injuring about 40 persons. The remainder of the crowd became excited and cabineers who believed the spectators had lost control of themselves and were trying to set fire to the remainder of the bleachers, charged into the crowd. In the ensuing panic some 60 more were injured.

Greenwood Leads In Cue Match

Charley McCourt and Billy Greenwood will complete their 150-block exhibition three-cushion billiard match tonight in the Ellis parlors with Greenwood going into the final match with a lead of three billiards over his opponent.

McCourt rallied last night to win the second block, 53 to 50, after having lost the first, 50 to 44.

MILLS SLICES RIVAL'S LEAD

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Hank Mills has regained a bit of lost ground in his race with Johnny Gilbert for the year's jockey honors, and today, trails his rival, by only four victories.

Mills yesterday rode his first winner of the Jefferson Park meeting, his one hundred and eighty-third of the year, when he brought Lilybet home first in the seventh race. The best Gilbert could do for the day was to bestride Hal Riley, who placed second, in the third race.

MACK TO EXPERIMENT

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—In the interest of economy, Connie Mack has decided upon a novel experiment for 1933. He will have only two catchers on the Athletics' roster. Mack plans to depend upon Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane, peer of major league maskmen, and Eddie Madjeski, coming youngster. John Heving was released several days ago.

PLAN COURT TOURNEY

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—With 32 teams in the competition, Loyola University today decided to hold its tenth national Catholic Interscolastic Basketball tournament March 22 to 26. St. Patrick High, Chicago, will be the defending champion.

RING CAREER OPPOSED BY FATHER, TUNNEY REVEALS

DAD SELDOM SAW GENE IN BOUTS

SYNOPSIS

The author has sketched his boyhood days, when the Hudson River was his swimmin' hole enlivened often with impromptu scraps, until he left school at 15 to become a $5-a-week office boy. His first ring idol was Jack Goodman, New York's famed West Side lightweight of two decades ago. Two Willies—Ward and Green—help Gene in his fistic infancy. Boxes at his first smoker for the K. of C. His ginger ale-and-sandwich fighting days. He's now matched with Bobby Dawson and they're in the dressing rooms before the fight in the historic but dingy Sharkey A. C. . . .

By GENE TUNNEY
Retired Heavyweight Champion

CHAPTER FIVE

It was the custom in those days for boxers to weighin in the presence of each other. Dawson got on the scales and wanted to know where I was. Jacobs advised him I was in my dressing-room. Dawson asked to have me come out. Jacobs told Dawson to go in and invite me to the scales. Dawson, who had learned that this was my first professional fight, came into my room with considerable bluster and exclaimed:

"Where's Tunney?"

I was sitting in the corner with my trunk and shoes on and said meekly:

Gene Tunney

"Here."

"Come on. I want to see see what you weigh," growled Dawson. . . . . .

"Where are the scales?" I asked.

He replied:

I stood up and started to follow him. He looked at me, taking in my long, slim arms, thin waist and long neck, and sneeringly remarked:

"Aw, sit down. I don't care if you weigh a ton."

I sat down.

It occurred to me then that this fellow Dawson, an experienced fighter, taking one look at me, realized that I was not a fighter. My timid and subdued mood naturally added to his confidence. I thought:

"He will dash from his corner in the first round, and try bullying me."

WINS BY KNOCKOUT

That is what he did, but, after running into six or seven straight lefts, he timed his rushes more carefully. Along about the fifth round, I began to feel the strain of the going. My arms got heavy, my legs began trembling. By the seventh round, I was completely arm-weary. Toward the end of this round I happened to catch him, coming in, with a wild uppercut which knocked him down. The count reached nine, when the bell rang. He did not come up for the eighth round. That was my first professional fight.

For my pugilistic effort, which was a scheduled 10-round star bout, I got the grand sum of $18. My plan was to divide the purse three ways. Accordingly, I gave $6 to Green. O'Brien refused his share, leaving me with $12, with which I bought a dinner for the boys of the club the next day down at Rockaway Beach. I might mention here that, though O'Brien accompanied me and worked in my corner in all my early matches, he never accepted a penny.

Among those not present at that first professional fight of mine was my father. Although he had admired Corbet, Fitzsimmons and some of the older champions, and while he had given me the first set of gloves I ever had on, he did not relish the notion of my being a professional boxer. He never came to see me box, though he lived until after my second match with Harry Greb, in 1923. Dad never made a habit of attending boxing matches, despite his admiration for the old champions. When I asked him why he did not come, he said:

"Do you think I would be happy seeing you bleeding?"

I said:

"No, but I didn't get a scratch."

His reply was:

"But how was I to know that beforehand? You take your mother's and my advice and do not do this thing any more. Just consider yourself lucky in getting away without a scratch this time. This kind of luck won't continue if you make further attempts."

CHIDED BY FATHER

Yet, in later days, though he steadfastly remained away, I know he was very proud to think that his son was climbing successfully.

As an illustration of his subsequent attitude toward my career, upon seeing me for the first time after the first Greb match when most of the bruises and discoloration I sustained in that fight had left my face, he said:

"Gene, why did you let Greb beat you?"

"What does a beating mean when you receive $22,000 for it?" I offered.

"It doesn't make any difference whether you received $22,000,000. You were beaten. You shouldn't have let Greb do that!" he insisted.

I did no professional boxing for a year after the Dawson bout, but I kept increasing in skill by constant boxing with Willie Green and others. And doing the work required of me as athletic instructor helped my growth and added to my strength.

At the end of a year the president of the Villagers' Athletic Club came and asked me to take a bout at the Fairmont Athletic Club. He told me that one of the boys had bought a new 10-ton truck and had offered to take all the gang to the Fairmont Athletic Club if Willie Ward or I would take a fight. Moreover, he thought it about time for the club to get a little more publicity. The prospect of winning appealed to me.

DRESSING ROOM SCENE

I accepted a six-round match and the gang from Greenwich Village came up in the truck with my name printed on cheesecloth banners on all sides. I had seen many matches in the Fairmont Club as a spectator and had noticed and heard all that went on and was said, but when I got into the dressing room for this match it seemed that I had borrowed ears and got added vision.

The dressing room was situated under the bleachers, which rose from the floor. The heels and calves of the spectators' legs furnished part of the ceiling of our dressing room. The long planks that were the seats made up the rest of the ceiling. Now, if you think the remarks of the spectators are clear and sanguinary, you should hear them from a dressing room, particularly when you are waiting to have the attendant say:

"All right, get ready to go into the ring."

On this particular night, I sat, if not in fear, certainly in trembling. The remarks seemed to be doubly loud, penetrating and cruel. As the attendant put his head in through the door of my dressing-room and shouted his inevitable "All right, Tunney!" a hoarse voice from some part of the ceiling shouted:

"Bring on the butchers!"

I can testify that one lamblike butcher crawled through the ropes on that occasion. I was very timid. The dressing-room scene of the last Charley Chaplin picture, "City Lights," is not an exaggeration in the slightest. Dressing-rooms are that way. So are the gladiators.

BEATS RIB-CRACKER

My opponent was one Billy Rowe, whose real name is Kostnick. He was managed, curiously enough, by Lou Brix, loyal associate of mine during my championship days. Rowe is now a New York City fireman. He tried to live up to the designation "butcher," for he rushed at the tall, thin, gangling, white-faced youngster who idled out from my corner. Apparently, too, he was well known at the Fairmont Athletic Club, for a voice close to the ring shouted:

"C'mon, Billy, break a coupl'a more ribs."

Rowe had broken three ribs of an opponent a week before. Fortunately, I saw his wild swing coming in the direction of my left side and dropped my elbow in time to stop the blow, which I am certain, had it landed, would have added to his reputation as a rib-cracker. I stepped about, and, now that the fight had actually started, lost much of my nervousness. After taking six or seven straight lefts between the eyes, he forgot most of his rib-breaking proclivities, and covered up during most of the six rounds. This was a no-decision fight.

As I stepped down from the ring, my ribs and reputation intact, I heard one of the occupants of a box close to the ring shout to a person in another box:

"Fast and clever, but no punch!"

In tomorrow's chapter, Tunney continues the saga of his salad days in sockdom when he worked at $17 a week as a steamship company rate-clerk and bled, and was bled, o'nights as an ambitious club fighter. He describes the basketball injury to his left elbow that all but blighted his boxing and army career.

Anderson Chalks Play

NOTRE DAME COACH USES TRAIN SHED FOR BLACKBOARD

GRID DEFENSE AT NEW PEAK, HUNK SAYS

By HEARTLY W. (HUNK) ANDERSON
Notre Dame Football Coach

I don't know whether I would be wrong in saying that better football was played throughout the country this year than last year, but I think that this is what was responsible for the many upsets which occurred. It seems to me that defensive football was developed to a new high. This, in turn, required great versatility of attack in order to score. Many a good team found its great offense stopped cold by some underrated opponent. It seems to me that if the good teams were not better this year, at least there was more good football played by the smaller teams.

It is true in many cases that the under-dog team has the advantage over the favorite. Of course, when there is a wide margin of difference between the two teams, this does not hold. By looking through the season, it is easy to pick out a large number of instances where fairly even games went to the under dog.

PITT FEAT RECALLED

Pittsburgh defeated Notre Dame early in the season when Notre Dame was a favorite to win in the newspapers. Later, Nebraska rose to the heights and tied Pitt, while Carnegie Tech, which had lost to Notre Dame by 42 points, held Pitt to a 6-to-0 victory. Purdue's great team got a 7-to-0 lead over Northwestern then relaxed only to see Northwestern make a courageous comeback for a tie in the last quarter.

Michigan's Big Ten champions had a close call in their game with Chicago, the team which ranked in the second division in the Conference. Ohio State, another strong Conference team, was tied by Wisconsin while the experts were picking the Buckeyes to win any way they pleased. The same underdog Wisconsin team rose up and defeated Minnesota.

SURPRISES ON COAST

On the West Coast, Clipper Smith's little Santa Clara team defeated California in one of the major upsets in that section. That made Santa Clara a heavy favorite to beat St. Mary's, but St. Mary's won. Pop Warner was supposed to have a great team at Stanford, and they looked great until the U. S. C. team became great and beat them.

FIELDS SCORES KAYO

SPORT VIGNETTES

Agreeing with the sentiment expressed in this column a few days ago against the manner in which the A. A. U. case against Babe Didrikson has been handled, with the star woman athlete being suspended without a hearing, Henry J. (Heine) Blum, veteran local A. A. U. official, is on record as vigorously opposing the tactics employed.

Blum has been chairman of the registration committee of the Allegheny Mountain Association, of the A. A. U., for 11 years, and is first vice president of the Allegheny Mountain Association, and a member of the registration committee of the National association. He also is a well-known football and basketball official. He said today:

"I heartily agree with your criticism of the A. A. U. It has it coming. To suspend an athlete on circumstantial evidence, without giving him or her an opportunity to face the charges and answer them, is un-American and contrary to common decency. Miss Didrikson has done a lot for amateur athletics, and is not deserving of the shabby treatment that has been accorded her. Nor is any athlete, great or small. So long as I have been connected with the A. A. U. here, I always have insisted upon giving any protested member a hearing before passing judgment. In the case of Miss Didrikson, the hearing is being prepared now that the damage to her reputation has been done. The probing for facts is being done after the suspension, and not before.

"As a member of the National registration committee, I should have been asked to act with the other members on her violation of the rules, if any, and I have not received any notification of any sort. I am surprised that Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., and chairman of the registration committee, a veteran amateur sports authority, should have taken it upon himself to act hastily and without consulting with his colleagues. When my vote is asked, I shall demand that the person or persons guilty of the bungling be called to account and that steps be taken to prevent a repetition of the incident. Our organization certainly has not added to its dignity by its conduct of this case, and I, for one, welcome the criticism as justified and befitting the circumstances."

HENRY (HEINE) BLUM

It takes a big man to admit he or his organization is wrong, and Heine Blum is big any way you take him. His fairness and honesty have been a byword in the local sports field for years, and he always has been conscientious in the performance of his office. That he takes this firm stand in the Didrikson case speaks well for his courage, and enhances his reputation for fair play just that much.

At Baltimore, tomorrow, Dr. Jock Sutherland, of Pitt, leads his all-North team against an all-South eleven in a game which it is hoped to make an annual affair, with all of the trappings of the Tournament of Roses and East-West games played each year in Pasadena and San Francisco, respectively . . . Baltimore has a beautiful large stadium and is an ideal location for the tilt, being on the border between the North and South, just above the Mason-Dixon line.—HARRY KECK.

NORTH, SOUTH TEAMS SET

BALTIMORE, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Two score football players, corralled from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico, will hold their final workout today for "the battle of the blue and the gray," the North-South football game, carded for tomorrow.

The Northern players, under the guidance of Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, of Pittsburgh; Mal Stevens, of Yale, and Eddie Baker, former Pittsburgh player, put on the finishing touches yesterday in the Baltimore Stadium, the scene of tomorrow's conflict.

The Southern players likewise were taking the fine points of the game, with Dick Harlow, Western Maryland coach, in charge. Their practice was held in the Johns Hopkins University Stadium.

Cooler weather proved a big help, permitting more strenuous practice than has been the case early in the week when almost mid-summer temperatures prevailed.

The complete personnel of the two squads follow:

NORTHERN SQUAD

BRITISH CHAMP, SMITH LOSE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—A field of 32 golfers remained in the running for the annual San Francisco open golf tournament as it wended its way into the second day of match play competition.

In the outstanding upset of yesterday, Horton Smith, of Oak Park, Ill., was defeated 2 and 1 by Romie Espinosa, of San Francisco, in the first round. Romie, youngest of the four golfing Espinosas, turned in a brilliant game to eliminate his formidable rival, one of the outstanding money players in the country.

Olin Dutra, of Santa Monica, Cal., P. G. A. champion and tournament medalist, advanced to the second round with a 4 and 3 victory over Dick Fry, of Oakland.

It was a bad day for the amateurs. John DeForest, of London, holder of the British amateur title, was swamped under a 7 and 5 count by Mortie Dutra, of Long Beach. Charles Ferrara of San Francisco, 1931 national public links champion, lost his first round match to Mike DeMassey, of Fresno, Cal., 2 and 1.

Expect Didrikson Decision Tomorrow

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Lawrence Di Benedetto, chairman of the registration committee of the Southern Amateur Athletic Union, and his committee will rule tomorrow on the eligibility of Mildred (Babe) Didrikson to participate further in amateur athletics.

Miss Didrikson, 19-year-old Olympic star, testified she did not sanction an advertisement quoting her as indorsing a certain make of motor car and Gordon Perry, owner of a motor agency here, said she did not authorize him to use her name in praise of the car.

Freeport Gun Club Gets N. R. A. Charter

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—The Freeport Sportsmen's Rifle Club, of Freeport, Pa., has been issued a charter by the National Rifle Association, according to announcement made today at the headquarters of the association here. The club has a charter membership of 104.

The officers of the new club are W. D. Keebler, president; Donald K. Bell, vice president; R. J. Rowley, secretary; R. W. Walker, treasurer; W. E. Frantz, executive officer, and L. Blackburn, publicity officer.

The club is one of about 2,800 active rifle shooting clubs affiliated with the National Rifle Association.

Datto Whips Willis; Mike Moran Stopped

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Johnny Datto, Pittsburgh slugger, battered Jackie Willis, Philadelphia Negro, with a vicious two-handed attack last night to take an eight-round decision in the final bout of a boxing card.

The Allegheny Valley will pay tribute to the Springdale High School eleven, co-champion with Glassport in class B of the W. P. I. A. L., and college football stars hailing from that section at a testimonial banquet to be held tonight in the Tarentum Y. M. C. A.

Among the guests of honor will be Heinie Weisenbaugh, Harvey Rooker, Paul Reider, Warren Heller, Muggsy Skladany, Mike Sebastian, Farmer Meredith, Ted Dailey, Bob Hogan and Cheeso Onder, all of Pitt; Al Rometo and Morty Armstrong, of Wash-Jeff; Andy Factor, Howard Spicher and Paul Abele, of Duquesne University, and co-captains Hooks Sample and George Kavel, of Carnegie Tech.

The Springdale High eleven has gone through two successive seasons without meeting defeat or being held to a tie. The team is coached by Herb Ripper.

School Notes

Ted Olzack, of Beaver Falls, chosen as end on the all-W. P. I. A. L. selected by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, has been elected captain of the Tigers for 1933. He should prove himself a capable leader.

Calvin Maize, sterling tackle of the Washington High eleven, who will be playing his final season next fall, has been chosen to lead the Little Presidents on the gridiron in 1933.

YAROSZ, SICK, CANCELS BOUT

Yarosz has been here since last Monday, and has been handicapped throughout his training by his illness. He had hoped to shake off the cold in time to go through with the match.

KING BOUT HERE STANDS

Lew Raymond, matchmaker of the Arena, said he received a telegram from Ray Foutts, manager of Ted Yarosz, this morning notifying him he was calling off tonight's bout with Paulie Walker in Detroit. The message added Yarosz would be able to go through with his contract to fight Jack King in a return bout at the Arena one week from tonight.

BOBBY LEITHAM

JIMMY THOMAS

Between Rounds

Kid Chocolate is the favorite to retain his world featherweight title against Fidel LaBarba, former flyweight champion, in their bout in New York's Madison Square Garden tonight, but the wise ones are indicating they expect LaBarba to win. It is their third meeting, with Chocolate having won a disputed decision the first time and LaBarba taking the second bout.

Red Bruce, of the East End, is ill, and his opening preliminary with Johnny Riske to the Tony Herrera-Tony Falco bout at Motor Square Garden Monday night is out. A Joey Speigal-Jacquette Elverillo return bout will take its place.

WOLGAST BOUT FOR WINNER TONIGHT

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Bobby Leitham vs. Jimmy Thomas, 10 rounds, and Davy Grove vs. Anson Green, Nat Litfin vs. Dave Brown and Frank Swinsky vs. General Burr, 6 rounds each, Arena, North Side.

Chester Matan vs. Tommy De Stefano, 8 rounds, Brooklyn.

Kid Chocolate vs. Fidel La Barba (for world featherweight title), 15 rounds; Chick Devlin vs. Frankie Battaglia, 10 rounds, and Sid Lampe vs. Paul Dazzo and Petey Hayes vs. Vidal Gregorio, 8 rounds each, Madison Square Garden, New York.

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Jimmy Thomas, local Negro bantamweight star, has a chance to clinch himself a battle with Midget Wolgast, the world flyweight champion, at Motor Square Garden one week from next Monday night by beating Bobby Leitham, the Canadian bantamweight champion, in Eddie Kapphan's Arena, on the North Side, tonight. But first he'll have to beat Leitham.

Matchmaker Jules Beck, of the Garden, already has Wolgast for the date, and the Midget will box anybody up to within 10 pounds above the flyweight limit, just so his title isn't at stake. Beck fancies Thomas for the opposition, and, if Jimmy shoots the works in good fashion tonight, he'll get a chance to make himself some Christmas money.

It may be that Leitham will look so good against Thomas that Beck will want to use him against Wolgast, or the match may go to Mose Butch. Anyway, Wolgast is the man the Garden plans to show week after next, with a Ted Yarosz-Tommy Freeman battle virtually closed for Christmas afternoon. That is, the Freeman end is assured, with the Yarosz end awaiting the outcome of Ted's return bout with Jack King at the Arena next Friday night.

Getting back to tonight's show at the Arena, the Leitham-Thomas bout looks like the best match between little fellows here in a long time. Both men have boxed the topnotchers and have earned their reputations by the might of their fists, and Leitham is the undisputed champion of his country.

There is a change in the preliminary card, Joey Speigal, of Uniontown, being off the bill as the opponent of General Burr, of Aliquippa, in the opening bout. Frank Swinsky, of Steubenville, will take his place. Davy Grove boxes Anson Green in the eight-round semi-final, and Nat Litfin meets Davy Brown in the second bout. The show gets under way at 8:30.

STOCKS STEADY IN QUIET TRADING

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—The stock market remained quiescent today, readily absorbing occasional ripples of selling, but failing to attract anything resembling active buying.

Sentiment in brokerage quarters has grown considerably more cheerful in the past few days, but more bullishly inclined traders acknowledge they are not sure where an upturn impetus will come from, and that corporate earnings are holding close to the low levels of last summer.

Oils and a few of the rails were firm for a time, but United States Steel and American Telephone sagged about a point, and coppers eased.

The November railway earnings statements will soon be appearing and Wall street estimates indicate that some recession from October will be shown, but that the comparison with last year will be about as favorable as the October showing. The hearings of the Coolidge transportation committee, however, brought from a representative of the equipment makers today the opinion that maintenance costs had been pared down to a level lower than that at which they can be maintained at any length of time.

Such optimism as has developed in brokerage quarters appeared to be based largely on the absence of important selling in the market of late, and the market record of past years showing that a rally lasting several weeks has usually started in December. Some tax selling has been appearing in the market of late, although the new tax law has tended to restrict somewhat the selling from that source. There is said to have been some switching by long-term investors, to establish losses on securities held more than two years.

The copper shares again reflected the apparent deadlock at the International Producers conference, which has been trying to bring about further cuts in output. Prices even lower than the present 5-cents-a-pound were predicted in some quarters.

Oils, on the other hand, have attracted some buying, prompted by the action of the Texas Railroad Commission in ordering a sharp reduction in allowable output. Despite the situation of the railroads, brokers report some investment buying of shares of a few of the strongest roads. Chemicals have also been attracting some attention.

U. S. GOLD NOW $4,352,000,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—Gold continued to increase the week ending December 7, with additions to the monetary stocks of the country of $14,000,000, bringing the total to $4,352,000,000 on that date, the Federal Reserve Board announced today.

Since the low point July 15, the increase has been $443,000,000. The anticipated payment of some of the foreign debts in gold on December 15 will push the monetary stocks further upward, whether actually imported or imported abroad for American account.

The increase of $21,000,000 in money circulation resulted from the month end and was held as entirely seasonal. The volume of money circulation should continue to gain until the last shopping day before Christmas if normal tendencies are followed. Circulation on December 7 was $163,000,000 greater than a year ago and stood at $5,669,000,000. This was a drop of $110,000,000 since the high point July 6.

Federal Reserve banks continued to reduce the volume of United States securities held as collateral back of notes. The drop for the week was $5,800,000, to a total of $408,600,000 eligible commercial paper back of notes declined $11,068,000 to a total of $282,876,000. This was the first decline in several weeks.

Telephone Disconnection Report Better Than Street Expected

The monthly report of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company on the rate of connections and disconnections for November proved considerably better than had been generally expected. The figures had been unusually closely guarded on this occasion and little in the way of reliable estimate preceded their publication today. The report showed a loss of about 102,000 phones last month compared with a loss of 105,000 reported for October. This repsesented some measure of at least negative improvement and discredited reports that disconnections had been heavier last month than in the preceding month. The peak month for loss of business for the company was last July when disconnections aggregated some 268,000 units.

From current estimates it is apparently not expected that the report on freight loadings for the week ended December 3, due tomorrow, will register full seasonal recovery from the previous holiday week. It is calculated that total loadings last week ran around 546,000 cars, which would be equivalent to an increase of 50,000 cars or thereabouts over the total for the week previous which was cut by the Thanksgiving holiday. On a seasonal basis an upturn of around 65,000 to 67,000 cars would be indicated. If the foregoing estimates are substantially borne out, loadings for last week will have run about 14 per cent under the same last year compared with a spread of 11.5 per cent the week before.

The rise of $39,000,000 reported in brokers' loans can hardly be ascribed to increased demands growing out of stock market activity. For during the period covered by the report public interest was nil and the market level of stocks was improved only slightly. The fact that the entire increase was accounted for by New York bank advances for their own account suggests a repetition of conditions which explained an unusually sharp expansion several months ago. In short, large scale borrowings by dealers in government securities to finance purchases of maturing Treasury short terms as a means of assuring sizeable allotments of the new Treasury issues just announced.

M. B. Skaggs, president of the Safeway Stores Corporation, commenting on the dividend reduction today, said: "For all practical purposes, our dividend policy must be decided a year in advance. In deciding the rate for the coming year, the directors felt it prudent to fix the dividend at a figure which in all probability can be comfortably maintained and, at the same time, out of current earnings provide for the further development of the business. It was felt that the corporation, by spending large sums in improvements and in the opening of additional outlets, would make a constructive contribution toward the restoration of better business conditions and the relief of unemployment in the territory in which it operates."

While selling for the purpose of registering losses for tax purposes is expected to continue light in volume this month, due to changes in the internal revenue laws covering that particular situation, there is evidence of sporadic dribble of selling of that character from day to day. It is reflected principally in low-priced shares which are ruling in most cases close to the year's minimum levels. A single transaction in United States Realty and Improvement involving 5,000 shares at 5 today was believed to have been for the purpose of record a loss, the stock having been very inactive of late.

The Steel Corporation's tonnage report, showing the volume of unfilled business on its books at the end of November is due at noon tomorrow and while only a small actual change is anticipated, it is expected to take the form of a slight decrease. The corporation reported an increase of 11,950 tons for October, marking the fourth consecutive monthly gain. A study of the records for the past 10 years, back to 1922, shows that in all but two years, 1922 and 1931, December was a month of very substantial expansion in unfilled steel orders. But last year and again this year there is a dearth of railway buying and added to constricting influence in the present instance is the disposition of motor companies to keep their specifications down to the barest needs.

China Wheat Sale Terms Offered By R. F. C.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(INS.)—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation last night agreed on the terms and conditions on which it would be willing to entertain an application of the North Pacific Grain Growers' Association for a loan to finance the exportation of 6,000,000 bushels of American wheat to China.

These terms have been sent to officials of the association and the Farmers National Grain Corporation, for consideration. To date no formal application has been received for an exportation loan.

Commodity Markets Planning to Merge

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP.)—A plan for consolidation of four New York commodity exchanges, under discussion for some time, is nearing completion and will soon be submitted to members of the exchanges for approval, it was announced last night.

The markets are: The Rubber Exchange of New York, Inc., the National Raw Silk Exchange, Inc., National Metal Exchange, Inc., and New York Hide Exchange, Inc.

Metal Market.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Copper, standard spot, £29 5s; future, £29 10s. Electrolytic, spot, £34 10s. Tin, spot, £150 10s; future, £151 10s. Lead, spot, £11; future, £11 7s 6d. Zinc, spot, £14 17s 6d; future, £15 2s 6d.

COTTON SLIDES ON SELLING

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Cotton futures opened steady, 1-4 lower, in response to disappointing Liverpool cables and moderate southern selling. December, 5.55c; January, 5.55c; March, 5.66c; May, 5.78c; July, 5.87c; October, 6.06c.

There was some liquidation and scattered local selling, but the light initial offerings were absorbed by covering and trade buying. There also appeared to be some buying here through houses with Liverpool and continental connections. This was sufficient to steady the market, and while the demand was not active, prices worked up from 5.55c to 5.61c for January and from 5.77c to 5.82c for March, with the more active positions ruling 2 or 3 points net higher at the end of the first half hour.

Trading continued comparatively quiet, but the market held very steady later in the morning on further trade buying and covering. Prices worked up to 5.68c for January and 5.88c for May. The market at midday was within a point or two of these figures, active months ruling about 8 to 9 points net higher.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 9.—Cotton, 2,300 bales, all American. Spot in better demand, improved business; prices 1 point higher; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 5.74; good middling, 5.44; strict middling, 5.19; middling, 5.04; strict low middling, 4.89; low middling, 4.74; strict good ordinary, 4.54; good ordinary, 4.24. Futures closed steady, December, 4.86; January, 4.87; March, 4.90; May, 4.91; July, 4.93; October, 4.95.

American Telephone October Net Lower

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The American Telephone and Telegraph Company reports:

	1932.	1931.
Oct. gross	$7,101,189	$8,952,385
Op. income	1,744,797	2,570,551
10 mo. gross	75,759,664	91,909,851
Op. inocme	17,915,570	28,234,240

The report covers operating activities only, excluding non-operating income such as dividends, interest and other revenues received and non-operating charges such as interest and rents paid.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Glidden Company and subsidiaries in a preliminary statement reports for the year ended October 31 net profit of $540,071 after interest, depreciation and taxes. This compares with net profit in the previous year of $201,380.

Auto Production Gains 18% in November

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Automobile production in the United States and Canada in November totaled 61,216 cars and trucks, an increase of 18 per cent over 51,857 in October and 12.3 per cent below output of 70,114 in November, 1931, according to an estimate by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Including the estimate for November, output in the first 11 months of the year was 1,323,652 cars and trucks, a decline of 43.6 per cent from output of 2,348,386 in the like period of last year.

OCTOBER SILK SALES

Yardage sales of broad silks were 12.2 per cent higher last month than for the same month of 1931, but decreased 28.0 per cent as compared with September, 1932, the Silk Association of America, Inc., reports. Stocks in the hands of manufacturers on October 31 were 3.4 per cent higher than on September 30, but 22.2 per cent lower than on October 31, 1931.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

General Electric Company has received an order for 39 transformers, costing approximately $130,000, for the Hoover Dam project. The business was placed by the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California.

QUIET TRADING ON LOCAL BOARD

There was no change in the character of the dealings on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. Narrow, irregular price changes were recorded in the general list with volume of business continuing at the low rate recorded earlier this week.

Early dealings on the "big board" reflected the improved technical situation which has maintained the market on a fairly even keel for the past several sessions. While there was no noticeable change in the volume, the price structure remained near the levels prevailing on the close last night.

The local fuels continued dull but held within a fractional scope of the previous finals. Heavy industrials were practically unchanged while the brewings fluctuated in a narrow range.

GRAIN VALUES TURN UPWARD

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Grain prices tended upward early today, influenced by announcements from Helsingfors that grain export from Russia had been canceled. The stoppage was asserted to apply to all countries with the single exception of India, and was attributed to breakdown of Soviet harvest plans. Opening unchanged to ⅛ off, wheat later rose all around. Corn started unchanged to ¼@⅜ up and subsequently held near the initial limits.

Advices at hand in regards to Russia's reported sweeping action as to a virtually complete halt of grain exports resulted in price upturns here. Bearish Argentine crop advices were almost ignored.

Contributing to wheat price gains was firmness of securities and of corn. Sharp curtailment of corn receipts gave independent strength to corn and oats.

Provisions were responsive to downturns of hog values.

PUBLIC GIFTS URGED TO AID JOBLESS

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Here is a tip for the comparatively few who still have retained a financial surplus. Instead of waiting until death to make public and semi-public bequests, do so immediately.

By performing the unselfish act now, public benefactors double their good work. They not only achieve the primary object of their bequest, but also can by immediate action create an equally valuable bi-product in providing employment and economic activity at a time when the supply and demand for human services are still drastically out of balance.

Mr. Rukeyser

More than a year ago I began to urge speeding up on non-profit making activities, such as the rebuilding of churches and universities, where endowments have not been impaired.

MACHINES CUT LABOR

I revert to the subject as the result of the stimulus received from an address by David Cushman Coyle, New York consulting engineer, at the national conference of law and business, held in this city.

Pointing out that continuous process automatic machines were greatly reducing the need of human labor for the production of goods, Mr. Coyle stated:

"The answer to the problem of technological unemployment is a continuous and massive expansion of cultural and quasi-cultural activities. The answer to the problem of distribution in an age of plenty lies in the employment of most of the population in supplying the amenities of life."

URGES PUBLIC WORKS

As a next step, Mr. Coyle recommends:

"First a large federal program of relief followed as soon as possible by a large and increasing expenditure for public services. Both these activities should naturally be administered by local units, but paid for by the central government. Financing at the start can only be by bond issues protected by adequate banking support, until business is revived, after that by drastic taxes on the higher brackets. Suitable facilities should be given to avoid paying the high income taxes by contribution to semi-public projects, so as to make the necessary adjustments as painless as possible, and also to transfer the spending habit gradually from the government to voluntary cultural enterprises.

"This program, if it can be adopted on a sufficiently bold scale, can solve the main problem of distribution and permit the new age of plenty to operate. The deliberate diversion of large incomes from investment into the market for cultural advance is such a plan.

"The key to stabilized prosperity is the distribution of buying power; the key to distribution is a progressive expansion of the market for services; the key to an adequate growth of the market is a bold and drastic program of federal expenditures."

BROKERS LOANS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve member banks in New York City, increased $39,000,000 during the week ended December 7, to $392,000,000 from $353,000,000 in the preceding week. The record high of $6,804,000,000 was made October 2, 1929, and the low mark of $331,000,000 on July 27, 1932.

Sears, Roebuck's Sales 15.7 Lower

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Sales of Sears, Roebuck and Company from November 7 to December 3 totaled $22,609,104, a decrease of 15.7 per cent from the total of $26,828,020 in the same period of last year.

The decline was an improvement over the general average for this year to date. In the first 12 periods, from January 2 to December 3, sales were $252,606,258 against $314,041,553 a year ago, a drop of 19.6 per cent.

Alpha Portland Advances Cement

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The Alpha Portland Cement Company has increased the price of cement by 29c a barrel in the Ironton, O., district.

It is expected the advance will be followed by other producers in that territory.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 9.—International Cement Corporation, through its subsidiaries, has advanced the price of cement 10 cents a barrel.

Pittsburgh Steel Tenders Requested

The Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, trustee, for Pittsburgh Steel Company, 20-year 6 per cent, sinking fund debenture gold bonds, dated February 1, 1928, will receive tenders up to noon, December 20, 1932. For the sale to it of such bonds not to exceed in the aggregate $250,730.63 at prices less than 105 and accured interest.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—A steady to firm tone gave the bond market a rather cheerful appearance today. The flurry in United States Treasury issues apparently had abated. French government 7½s again attained a new 1932 top at 126 and small gains were registered by loans of Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Norway and Germany. British 5½s were a trifle heavy, as were Australian 5s.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows (000 omitted in sales column. United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

COPPER ACCORD DOUBTFUL

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—Difficulties confronting the international copper conference, which began discussions here November 29, were today reported threatening to block action on an agreement for further curtailment of world production.

One of the principal obstacles to an accord, it was said, is the demand of the Roan Antelope Copper Mines, Ltd., for an increase of its production quota to 80 per cent of capacity. Under the curtailment agreement reached last spring, most of the larger mines are operating on a 20 per cent basis.

While efforts were being made today to adjust the situation with Roan Antelope representatives, American copper circles were of the opinion a successful agreement was doubtful. It was said that if the conference breaks up without reaching some decision on restriction of output, there will be a free-for-all" battle in the production field.

Meanwhile, the domestic copper market softened slightly. Although metal for December shipment was still quoted at 5 cents a pound, deliveries for the first quarter of next year were obtainable at 5⅛ cents, a slight concession.

G. E. TO MAKE RADIO SPLIT

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP.)—General Electric Company announced today that it would distribute to its stockholders one share of its holdings of Radio Corporation of America stock for every six shares of General Electric common.

The directors, at a meeting held this morning, acted in accordance with the recent consent decree whereby General Electric and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company are to part with their holdings of Radio shares.

The distribution will be made February 20, to stockholders of record December 16. Scrip will be issued for fractional shares.

General Electric, the announcement said, now holds 5,188,755 common shares of the Radio Corporation of America. After distribution it will have in the treasury a balance of approximately 381,000 shares.

Directors of Westinghouse have not yet acted on a plan for distributing that corporation's holdings.

HOLIDAY TRADE GAIN NOTED

While there has been a slight pick up in retail sales of holiday merchandise in this district, the volume of business continues materially lower than a year ago and the movement of merchandise at wholesale continues rather slow, says Dun's review. Weather conditions have been against the movement of wearing apparel. Dry goods have been rather inactive with the exception of a very few lines. There is a moderate decrease in the movement of groceries and provisions, with prices showing considerable variation. Construction work continues in small volume and lumber and other building materials are in very slow demand.

Industrial operations have fallen off to some extent. The situation in plate and window glass continues unsatisfactory, although there has been a slight improvement in the demand for plate and safety glass from automobile manufacturers. Manufacturers of glassware and containers have had a fair volume of business, but that has fallen off to some extent.

Federated Metals Paying Dividend

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The Federal Metal Corporation declared a liquidating dividend of $14 a share on the common stock, payable on or after December 12.

This liquidating dividend is being paid out of the proceeds from the disposal of the American Smelting and Refining bonds received in the sale of the corporation to the American Smelting and Refining Company. Metals and metal products in inventory remain to be sold during the next two years. From the sale of these inventories the stockholders will receive additional liquidating payments.

Business

Trade Decline Stays Within Normal Limits

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

BUSINESS HAS been declining during the past six weeks. The current rate of activity is considerably below the level prevailing in October, but it still is above the low point for the depression reached last summer.

The curtailment in industrial activity now under way appears to be no greater than the normal seasonal decline which usually takes place at this time of year.

The opinion expressed by many industrial leaders that we shall not see the low point of last summer duplicated at ears likely to prove to be correct. The present rate of decline does not seem to be great enough to carry activity below the rate of the summer months.

* * *

Recent Events May Prove Significant

WHILE THERE is little in the present state of business to provide a basis for exaltation, comparison of the events of the past six months with the corresponding periods of 1931 and 1930 certainly provides some reason for optimism.

The autumn months of last year and the preceding year were marked by little or no seasonal revival, and the final weeks of those years saw new low levels for the depression reached.

In the present year we saw an exceptionally vigorous autumn revival in business and now it appears probable that, instead of the year end marking a new low point, it will fall short of duplicating the previous low level. Even if this is not evidence that recovery is under way, it certainly appears to indicate that the decline has come to an end.

Tin Plate Leads Steel Activity

WITH THE EXCEPTION of tin plate, the output of steel products is on the decline. Mills rolling tin mill black plate are following their usual practice of accumulating stocks during the winter. Mills rolling other products reflect the general state of industrial activity.

Steel ingot production at present is at about 16 per cent of capacity. This compares with a rate of over 20 per cent of capacity in October and with a low point of less than 14 per cent of capacity last summer.

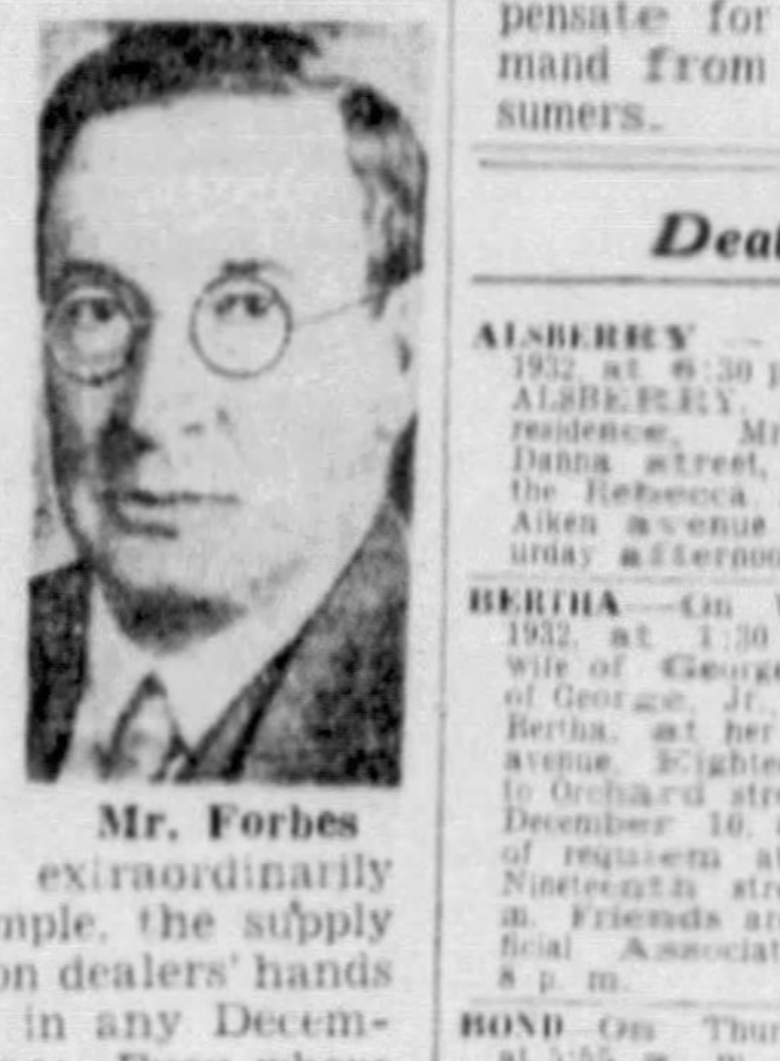
The spurt in automobile production to provide dealers with new models for display and demonstration purposes has not been great enough to compensate for the dullness in demand from other types of consumers.

Forbes

Everybody Is Not Anxious Now to Sell

—By B. C. FORBES—

NOT SO very long ago, everybody wanted to sell. It isn't yet true, by any means, that everybody wants to buy. But it is true that fewer people want to sell.



Mr. Forbes

Take stocks. When bears start bidding for shares they have previously sold short, they discover that offerings are light. Similar conditions exist in the bond market.

At this moment inventories in various industries are extraordinarily light. For example, the supply of automobiles on dealers' hands is smaller than in any December of recent times. Even where stocks of raw materials are excessive, owners rarely are eager to sell unlimited quantities at existing prices.

Copper is quoted at 5 cents a pound, the lowest ever; but were any important consumer to attempt to place contracts covering his entire 1933 requirements, he probably wouldn't get far. Copper producers regard the metal as worth more than 5 cents a pound under any circumstances. Therefore, they sell grudgingly at that figure, and only enough to enable them to keep going on a modest scale.

Some day we are going to behold a scramble for supplies by buyers in many different lines. At an early stage of conclusive recovery, demand will be very greatly swelled by a re-birth of installment buying.

THE DEFINITE prediction was made in this column weeks ago that Britain would put up a vigorous fight against having to pay us $95,550,000 on the fifteenth, that this fight would entail a drastic drop in sterling, that France would seek to crawl under the British umbrella, but that, if Washington remained adamant, Britain wouldn't dare default because the example thus set the rest of the world would recoil disastrously upon Britain, the world's second largest creditor.

The battle has been duly waged exactly as anticipated. Also, as anticipated, Britain, realizing the impossibility of stampeding Congress, will reluctantly pay.

WORRY KILLS, 'tis said. Thus far the trying times experienced in this country have not increased the death rate. The medical director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Dr. Augustus S. Knight, declared yesterday that, while he had looked for "unmistakable signs of increase in mortality, we have experienced only the general continuance of the trends of earlier years." He adds this cheering reflection:

"To me the situation can mean only one thing, that, by and large, the forces of the community have functioned well to see that those in distress are being cared for as to food, clothing and shelter. There can be little wrong with a nation where the figures of mortality are such as I have reported."

This table gives causes of death and comparisons for the first 10 months of this year with the corresponding period of last year:

	Death Rate Per 100,000	Per Cent Change In Death Rate
Tuberculosis	57.3	-7.7
Influenza	14.4	-23.0
Pneumonia	58.7	-14.2
Respiratory diseases not specified	9.0	-8.2
Cancer	85.6	6.2
Cerebral hemorrhage	59.5	.5
Organic diseases of heart	149.4	4.8
Bright's disease	57.5	.3
Puerperal state	7.5	-9.6
Typhoid fever	1.9	-9.5
Measles	1.0	147.4
Scarlet fever	1.5	-11.8
Whooping cough	1.8	-10.0
Diphtheria	2.1	.0
Meningitis	2.4	-38.5
Diarrhea and enteritis	7.1	-27.6
Suicides	24.2	17.5
Homicides	5.9	-6.3
Automobile accidents	21.6	-8.5
Other external causes	38.5	-8.1
All other causes	211.4	-1.1
	818.8	-2.2

ADVERSITY, AFTER all, has its uses. But haven't we had all we want of it for the present?

MARY FAITH -:- Story of a Girl With Husband Who Wouldn't Grow Up -:- By BEATRICE BURTON

Another Delay of Marriage Threatened When Kim's Mother Disapproves

CHAPTER II

"Kim, what's the matter? Are you angry with me—" she was beginning when he brought his hand down hard on hers, interrupting her.

"Wait, let me tell you about my mother," he said. "She was awake last night when I got home and I told her that you and I had just about made up our minds to get married on the first——"

"Just about made up our minds?" echoed Mary Faith as he stopped. "Why, Kim, we have made up our minds, haven't we? I thought we settled everything last night."

Surely there had been no ifs-an'-ands about their getting married when they had talked it over the night before. Kim had been very clear and definite about their plans then.

They would be married on the first day of October, a Saturday, and leave town in his little roadster for a week's honeymoon "just bumming around the state." Then they would come back to the flat where he and his mother had lived and settle down to be Mr. and Mrs. Kimberley Farrell for the rest of their lives.

"Of course, we did settle everything," he said now. "But you asked me what my mother thinks about our getting married, and I'm telling you. She thinks we ought to wait until I'm making more money—enough to give her a flat of her own somewhere. She doesn't want to live with us. She says it'll never work."

WILLING TO ECONOMIZE

In the darkness Mary Faith's face flushed. "She's been saying that for almost four years, Kim," she reminded him. "She knows it will be years before you'll be making enough money to keep up two homes. You're 28 and I'm 24, and we know we care for each other and that we're old enough to marry and settle down. I'm sure we won't mind facing a little poverty together, if we have to. Suppose we do have to pinch pennies? Who cares?"

She bent her head and her lips brushed the sleeve of his coat. "I shall love pinching pennies. I shall be the most stingy wife under the sun—as well as the happiest one," she added.

"You're sure you won't mind having her live with us?" he asked after a minute or two. "I never could stand listening to two women bickering every night when I came home, let me tell you!"

"Kim, please don't say things like that to me. Haven't I always been nice to your mother?" she asked him. "And you know I won't mind having her living with us. I won't care who lives with us or where we live—so long as you and I are together."

LATE FOR DINNER

Mary Faith always enjoyed her visits there because it was Kim's home; but it was a depressing sort of place.

Synopsis

Mary Faith, young and comely fiancee of Kimberley Farrell, handsome blond youth, just out of law school, gives notice that she will leave her position as secretary to the wealthy Mark Nesbit to marry "Kim." Mary Faith receives a note from Kim's mother inviting her to dinner.

Now Go On

The living room was crowded with upholstered furniture. All of the chairs had little lace doilies on their backs. A big brown crock filled with pampas grass stood in front of the fireplace. On a shelf above it stood a cupid clock made of silver gilt. The cupid was much too fat, and he smirked.

Over the whole thing hung the smell of dusty carpets, coffee and meals cooked in grease long ago.

Mrs. Farrell was sitting beside the window, reading the evening paper, when Mary Faith and Kim walked into the room at 15 minutes after 7. She glanced up at the cupid and Mary Faith saw that she had been crying.

"I had dinner ready 45 minutes ago," she said, getting slowly to her feet. "I made a cheese souffle. It's ruined by this time, but if you don't care I'm sure I don't. . . . Would you like to put your things in my room, Mary Faith?"

MOTHER DISAPPOINTED

Mary Faith followed her down the dark narrow hall to her bedroom. She took off her hat and coat and smoothed her hair back from her forehead.

Mrs. Farrell stood watching her for a second or two with her reddened eyes. Then she muttered something about the souffle and went hurrying out of the room. She bumped against the door as she went. She was the awkward kind of stout woman who is always bumping into doors or dropping dishes.

Mary Faith hurried after her.

"Can't I help you with dinner?" she asked. "You know what a treat it is to me to help around a kitchen."

She had always had a mortal longing for a kitchen of her own. A bright new little kitchen, all colored tiles and shiny pans and white dotted curtains with sunshine and wind coming through them.

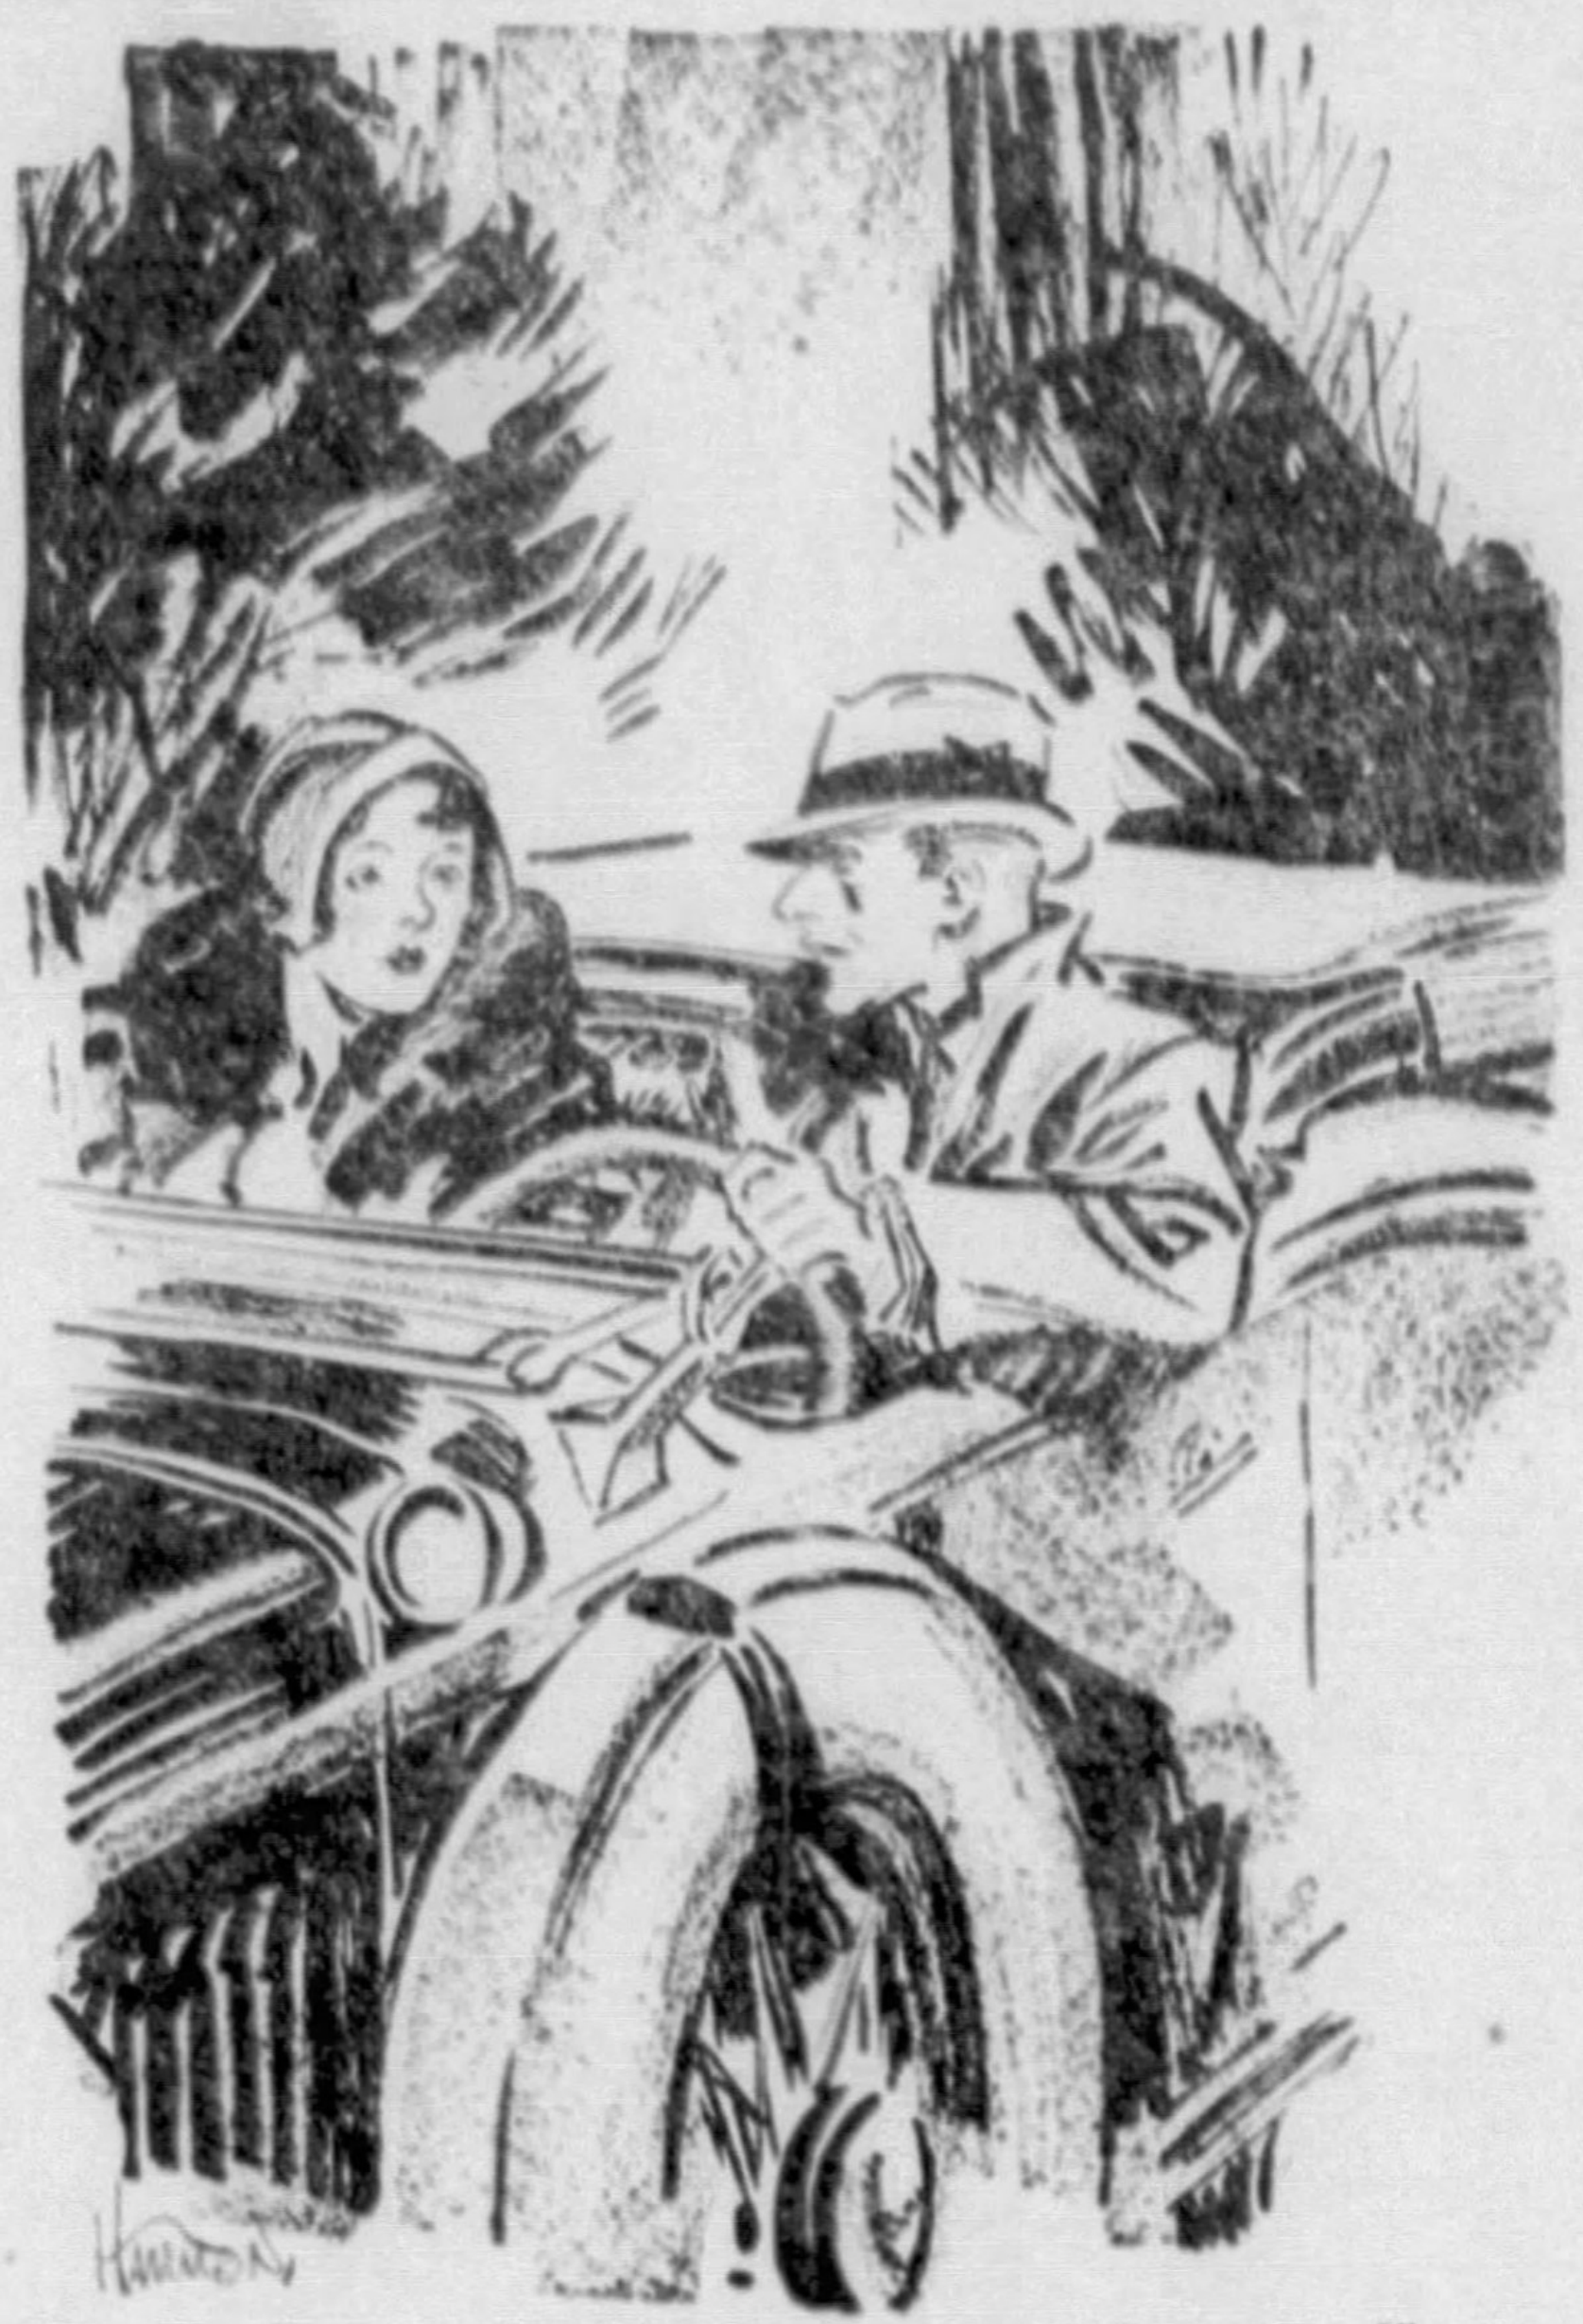
"You know I learned quite a lot about cooking when I took that course at the Business Woman's Club last winter," she went on, looking around her for an apron. "What can I do to help?"

Kim's mother didn't answer her question. A smile flickered in her plump face for an instant. A tight-lipped smile.

"I guess you didn't learn to keep a souffle from going to nothing an hour after it was made, did you?" she asked as she pulled a baking dish from the oven of the gas range. "Just look at that thing!"

The souffle lay flat as a pancake in the bottom of the dish. It was plain to see that all the life and soul had gone out of it.

"It's only fit to be thrown out," she said. "There are eggs in the icebox. How would you like to fry some the way you learned to fry them at your wonderful woman's club last winter? There's dripping in that bowl on the stove and the frying pan's hanging under the sink."



"Why, Kim, we have made up our minds, haven't we?"

She began to scrape souffle into a bowl on the drain board.

"This is the sort of thing you'll have to learn to expect when you're married to Kimberley," she said presently. "Meals spoiled because he's not here to eat them on time! Whole dinners put away untouched sometimes because he doesn't show up at all! But I suppose I shouldn't complain, because it's all my fault. I've spoiled him all his life. I've made a rod for my own back!"

There was bitterness in her voice and in her face. Bitterness that narrowed her eyes and drew down the corners of her mouth. And yet it was apparent that she had once been very handsome. There was still a kind of beauty in her straight features and the poise of her head with its bright brown hair.

"What time did he get to your place tonight?" she asked suddenly.

"Around 7."

"Did you ask him where he had been until that time?" Kim's mother was lighting the gas ring under the coffee pot now.

"He said he had been delayed at the office."

"Did you see him last Sunday?" Mrs. Farrell asked next.

"I saw him last Sunday night. He spent the whole evening with me," said Mary Faith, turning to look at her with puzzled eyes. What was Kim's mother getting at anyway, she wondered.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Charming and lovely Agnes Callahan, member of the Plaza Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, who is celebrating her 14th birthday today, was the guest of honor at a surprise party given in her honor last night at her home in Friendship avenue.

The guests were her brothers, James and John; her sisters, Ann, Mary; Arline and Francis McAvoy, Earl Dauer and Pat Evans. Some of the presents she received were candy, stockings, two games and a great big doll, which she immediately named "Bobby."

After the youngsters had played games for more than an hour, they went to the Plaza Theater, where they were the guests of Manager John Morin, Jr. The youngsters caused much laughter and excitement when they walked into the theater. Agnes insisted on bringing her doll "Bobby" with her, and just as she and the other youngsters were taking their seats, the doll cried "Ma-Ma."

SPECIAL MATINEES

Remember the "canned goods" matinees which are going to be held tomorrow at all the Warner theaters where the Junior Komic Club meet. The doors of these theaters will open at 10 o'clock and a complete program will be offered. All of the food that is collected at these matinees, with the exception of that collected at the Sheridan Square Theater, will be turned over to the local relief agencies in the neighborhood where the theater is located, for distribution by them to the needy of that community.

All of the "canned goods" collected at the Sheridan Square will be donated to Father Cox, Pittsburgh's "father of the jobless," and will be used by him in feeding the many hundreds of poor unfortunates who through no fault of their own are forced to join his breadline daily.

So, remember boys and girls, in addition to the regular Komic Club meetings listed herewith, there also will be the special "canned goods" matinees at these same theaters at 10 a. m.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS

Bugs Baer

It Was Their Party

With Europe swearing financial alibis it looks as if we are going to lose our best borrowers.

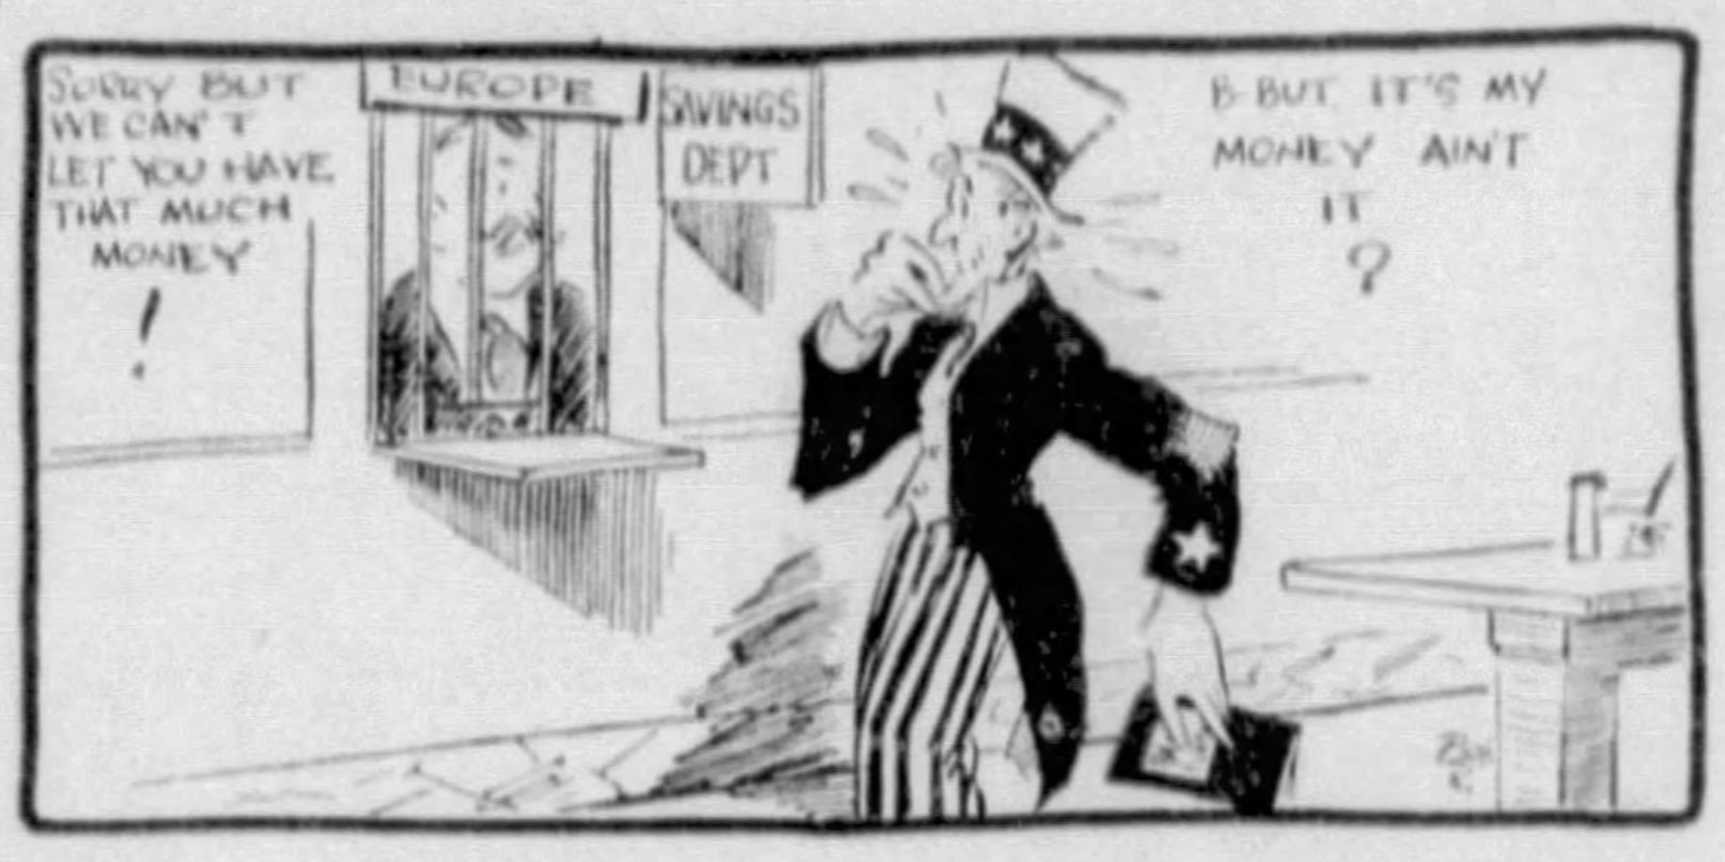
If they haven't got it they haven't got it. That's as plain as the nose on a well-punched face.

While we don't claim to be an authority on international evasions we think that this borrowing business has been going on since 1914. Somebody shot an archduke. And we can't get the fiddler away from the pay window.

All our coin went for European armies and navies. Every nation drank the bankruptcy toast in red ink.

Our bread went upon the waters in the form of toasted cruisers and dunking submarines. That meant billions. Europe owed so much money it stopped launching boats. They allowed the battleships to stay on land and the king and the cabinet jumped overboard.

Now, the whole world wants to reduce the size of the hungry navies. We will settle all future arguments by canoe races. No more will the Spartan youth come home hitch-hiking on his own shield.



SORRY BUT WE CAN'T LET YOU HAVE THAT MUCH MONEY !
EUROPE
SAVINGS DEPT
B-BUT IT'S MY MONEY AIN'T IT ?

It's a beautiful thought but who's going to bell the cat? Who's going to volunteer for the first experiment? England without a navy is a fresh laid egg on a slanting tin roof. France, Germany and America must have cruisers. If we don't need 'em to ride herd on our mercantile argosies we certainly require 'em to protect oysters during the months without an r.

Men will go down to the sea in boats and they don't want ironing boards. You've got to have those riveted-monsters that look like floating warehouses. Each one costs thirty million dollars in hoarded certificates. Navies mean borrowing. It's the old army game in a sailor hat.

The best we can expect from this peace business are shorter wars so we can catch up on the bookkeeping.

And, as to the debts. Well, we don't want to be tough on our neighbors, but it ain't no harm to borrow back your own bridge chairs, spoons and knives. Remember, it was their party.

RUPTURE

E. J. MEINHARDI OF CHICAGO HERE AGAIN

He will be at the Wm. Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh, Pa., on Monday, December 12th, from 10:00 A. M. to 8:00 P. M., and on Tuesday, December 13th, from 10:00 A. M. to 5:00 P. M. (Please note dates and hours carefully.)

He has been coming here for many years. Thousands recommend him. Ask your neighbors. There is no cost for consulting him privately. Only men are invited.

Do not neglect to see him on the above date. There is no charge for demonstration. This visit is for white people only.

HISTORICAL AND LITERARY TREAT

* * *

While going through some old unpaid bills Congressman Horace Walpole Frisby came upon a series of letters which make up the strange romance which existed between him and an admirer, Mrs. Minna Flukewell, prominent burlesque queen. They never met, but carried on a correspondence for several years, until Mrs. Flukewell fell off the glass runway into the lap of a fireman, whom she later married. These letters constitute a fascinating human document, full of whimsy, pathos and the biting cleverness so characteristic of the beloved Personality Congressman.

Disbarment Proceedings
The Bar Association Deserves Praise for Its Efforts to Rid the Profession of Shysters,

After many months of preparation, marked by unwise secrecy—unwise in that it gave rise to rumor and gossip—the Allegheny County Bar Association has at last struck a blow in its effort to rid the profession of shysters.

It has brought disbarment proceedings against a lawyer whom it accuses of "ambulance-chasing" and other unethical practices. It promises to institute numerous additional disbarment suits against others accused of the same sort of practices.

We hope the association will go through this campaign resolutely, and will succeed in purging the local bar of every element that is unfaithful to the ideals of justice and square dealing.

The association in [illegible] will be serving itself and its membership of honest [illegible] attorneys, as well as serving the public.

Neglected Revenue
The City's Failure to Collect Fines from Traffic Violators Has Resulted in Heavy Loss,

The Better Traffic Committee recommended to Council that a tax be imposed on motorists who park their cars in the city streets.

There is already available an ordinance through which hundreds of thousands of dollars in revenue could be collected annually from this source. It is the codified traffic ordinance which provides for "non-fixable tags" for violators of the automobile regulations. Unfortunately the ordinance is not enforced.

According to authoritative estimates, 200,000 "tags" have been "fixed" annually—that is, that number of summonses to appear in Traffic Court to answer for infractions of the motor code have been annulled through the intervention of Councilmen, Republican ward chairmen or other influential politicians. If the offenders had been fined the minimum of $1 each, they would have yielded a tidy revenue to the city.

Surrendering at last to the public demand for an end to this abuse, Council passed on March 28 last the codified traffic ordinance with its provision for "non-fixable tags," and Mayor Charles H. Kline approved it on April 7.

It has not been put into effect yet. Blame for the delay was placed first on the Department of Supplies, then on the Controller's office. Later the Department of Public Safety was held responsible.

As the result of a protest by the Pittsburgh Garage Association against non-enforcement of the ordinance, Director James M. Clark, of the Safety Department, was asked for an explanation by Council. Clark shifted the blame to J. Scott Morgan, traffic magistrate.

The taxpayers may well ask if patience has not ceased to be a virtue.

Toll Bridges Planned
To Charge a Fee for the Use of a Public Span Will Be Disagreeable, But It May Be Necessary.

The "freeing" of the bridges in Allegheny County was cause for rejoicing. When the toll for the privilege of crossing the Sixth street span was abolished the public hailed the move with unmitigated satisfaction. And when the last of the toll bridges—the Glenwood span across the Monongahela—was "freed," it was generally felt that we had seen the last of a curious old practice.

But now comes talk of building some new toll bridges. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is willing to make loans for self-liquidating projects—that is, public works which will yield sufficient revenue to pay for themselves. And the County Commissioners are thinking of applying for a loan of several million dollars with which to build a high-level bridge between Pittsburgh and Homestead and a bridge between Highland Park and Aspinwall.

It is intimated that they will have to be toll bridges.

Well, the people of Pittsburgh had come to think that toll bridges were as out of place and out of date as toll roads, and it will be hard to get accustomed to them.

Yet if the bridges are necessary and cannot be obtained in any other way, the plan may be justifiable.

But it should be clearly kept in mind from the start that as soon as the condition of the public finances warrants, the bridges should be "freed."

Sunday Fishing, Too
Angling Must Not Be Excluded from the Benefits to Be Gained by Repealing the Blue Law,

The way is being paved for speedy repeal of the Blue Law.

Warner Brothers will present movies in the Warner Theater downtown from 2 to 11 p. m. next Sunday, with a donation of food or clothing for the poor as the only charge for admission.

The Western Pennsylvania Football Association has come out with a resolution calling for repeal of the Blue Law. Removal of the restrictions on Sunday sports, the association says, "is a simple matter of justice to thousands who have not the means to pay for such expensive pastimes as golf and tennis."

Pittsburgh Chapter of the Izaak Walton League will discuss the Blue Law with respect to its effect on fishing at a meeting tonight in the rehearsal hall of Carnegie Institute. There are those who fear that if fishing should be permitted on Sunday there would be such a rush of anglers to the streams that they soon would be depleted of their finny inhabitants. But that has not been the case in other states, practically all of which permit Sunday fishing.

If it should develop that Pennsylvania's angling resources cannot stand the strain of Sunday fishing the proper remedy will be to shorten the open season, or limit still further the number of fish which each angler may take in a day.

But Sunday fishing should by all means be included among the benefits that will come from repeal of the Blue Law. As Dr. Arthur W. Henn, secretary of the Izaak Walton League, says, angling is a quiet pursuit and involves no boisterous desecration of the Sabbath.

Sunday is the only day on which many persons are free to go fishing, and the Blue Law, which has always been rigidly enforced with respect to this innocent recreation, has deprived thousands of Pennsylvanians of all opportunity of indulging in it.

It's nutty to talk to one's self, but heaps of fun. Arthur Tracy is a loud-necktie boy, too. Frieda Inescourt makes me think of Rosetti's "Blessed Damozel.' What's this—a crush? Dorothea Lee, the Chili Princess. Nobody looks more lordly than C. D. Gibson, dressed up.

LISTEN, WORLD

Marriage going haywire! Divorce increasing

IF YOU WERE GOING TO DRAW UP AN IDEAL SET OF MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE LAWS, WHAT WOULD IT BE?

At present, we have 48 sets of such laws in these United States. All different. Most of them conflicting. As a result, marriages which are legal in one state are illegal in another. Children who are legitimate in one part of the country are illegitimate in other parts. And inheritance laws are literally haywire.

Moreover, it is possible for spiteful people to perpetually harass their decent ex-mates by taking advantage of these discrepancies—and extremely easy for unscrupulous lawyers to batten on such tragic dilemmas.

Each year this situation becomes worse. Now it is proposed by the National Divorce Reform League (185 Montague street, Brooklyn, N. Y.) to have a general housecleaning and make a uniform marriage-divorce program for all America. Some of the statements in their circular may startle you. For example:

This league is suggesting that divorce should be granted on such grounds as insanity and social diseases.

Do you realize that in nearly all of our states it is impossible to procure a divorce on these grounds? Do you know that thousands of clean, intelligent people are bound for life to diseased half-wits, or raving maniacs, because the law makes no provision for such contingencies?

The league would set the marriageable age, with consent of parents, at 16 for girls and 18 for boys. Legal age, without consent of parents, 18 for girls and 21 for boys.

Do you know that in some of our states, girls may marry, and are married, at 12 and 13? Do you know that we have "child marriage" conditions as horrible and shameful as any described in Miss Mayo's book, "Mother India"? Thousands of little girls who are LEGAL MOTHERS at 13.

The league would forbid the marriage of imbeciles, the insane, feeble-minded, epileptic, paupers, those afflicted with tuberculosis or social diseases, or of those related within and including the degree of first cousins.

Do you know that NOT ONE SINGLE STATE contains all these provisions in its marriage laws; few states possess any of them; most states possess none of them?

The league suggests that alimony should be paid according to the financial condition and circumstances of the individuals in the case.

Do you believe that alimony is ever justified, save in cases where the wife has become crippled or very old during the marriage? Should a young, healthy woman with children be awarded any money save support for the children, after the first year of separation?

The league makes no reference to "separate maintenance"—but what do you think of it? Do you think that a wife should be able to obtain a legal separation, which compels her husband to support her although he does not live with her, and which denies him the right to remarry?

In short, if the job were given to you, what laws, if any, would you devise? Or would you abolish ALL laws and make marriage indissoluable on any grounds?

What are your views regarding this article? What divorce or separate maintenance laws would you favor?

To Your Friends in Other Cities

Problems and Spirit of The Short Session
By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The short session of Congress, with its multitude of "lame ducks," will be one of the utmost importance because of the problems it must solve. The campaign over, the popular verdict rendered, there is no sound reason why party politics should be conspicuous in the next three months. If politics be brushed aside, and the problems pressing for solution are approached with a disposition to solve them, progress can be made; and the vital interests of the nation demand that progress shall be made.

A great body of veterans in Congress have been retired by their constituents. Some of these will come back, perhaps; the majority have reached the end of their furrow. Much will depend upon the mental attitude of these. If moved by spite and a spirit of revenge, they have it in their power to prevent progress of any sort. But it would be unfair to assume in advance that they will adopt that sorry attitude.

The big problems involve the debts—and little will be done about these in the next three months. If the payments due us are refused, defaulted, it means that immediately we must increase our own taxes to the extent of the loss.

We face an enormous deficit without this loss; and if the payments are made, still there must be an enormous increase in revenue to be found.

Tied up with the matter of tax increases, will come the beer bill to permit the manufacture and sale of beer with a tax on it that will greatly reduce the amount of taxes otherwise to be raised.

And something should be attempted during the short session to meet the very grave threat to agriculture which is literally on the rocks.

* * *

The Government Debt Today

Apropos of the smug insistence of the debtor nations that America shall assume all their debt or more than the enormous proportion we already have assumed, it is interesting to note that the government debt today is about $20,000,000,000.

More interesting to note that this has been increased by more than $3,000,000,000 during the year because of the loss of revenue.

And quite as illuminating to know that we are running half a million behind governmental costs every day.

Anyone, surely, can understand at a glance that we have an unlimited capacity to pay all or more of the debts of other nations!

* * *

Would Mean No Tax Relief

A tax on beer will mean a great relief, and it is taken for granted that the present session will act on that measure. Mark Sullivan, who is very close to President Hoover, says of this:

"One new source to be taxed is beer. The Democratic party in its platform promised beer. The Democratic party was elected overwhelmingly. The assumption is universal that beer will be legalized, and, if legalized, of course taxed."

There is no doubt about this being the universal assumption. It is assumed that this will come in the short session; but the Democratic party, elected overwhelmingly, will not enter upon its mandate until March 4. Sophistry among Democrats, and mere obstruction among Republicans, may insist that nothing be done until that time; but public indignation will flame as a result, for the people have spoken in no uncertain tones.

Meanwhile the "Christian Century" tells us that President Hoover will veto a beer bill on the ground that it must not pass until after the slow process of repealing the Eighteenth Amendment. That would mean no tax relief for at least four years. And that is unthinkable.

* * *

Not a Pretty Way To Go Out

Should President Hoover actually take this position, which generally would be resented, he will go out of power with a pout. That is not a pretty way to go out. It would mean an extra session; and business does not want it, and Mr. Roosevelt would be denied the opportunity for the formulation of measures to put in operation the policies, on which the people passed.

A few days will indicate the spirit of the session.

* * *

Politics Should Be Adjourned

To many members it will be a rather melancholy season. Large numbers in House and Senate, long members and expecting to remain for life, have been thrown out by the tidal wave. Most of these realize that their public careers are over. Some of these, now old, now face the economic problem of existence. Men like Smoot, of Utah, and Watson, of Indiana, know that they are through politically. There will be a breaking of ties of many years.

The injection of a narrow partisan contest in this session, when our national house is on fire, will only disgust. And the declination of Mr. Roosevelt to assume a function to which he is not called until March 4th cannot justify Mr. Hoover in resorting to petty methods of obstruction, in spite. That would be the mark of a small man. There is no "conflict" between the two. They are not rival Presidents. Mr. Hoover is the President and Mr. Roosevelt is not.

The only important difference that has developed between them, in regard to the debts, is that the President wishes to recreate the Debt Funding Corporation. He has the right to make that recommendation, and it will be voted down by no party vote. If, instead of concentrating upon votes to serve party ends, the President bows gracefully to the nation's will in the matter of the beer tax, and submits a plan for reducing the cost of government by $700,000,000 a year he will go out of power with more good will from his fellow citizens.

The presidential election is settled decisively; politics should be adjourned.

ONCE OVERS
By J. J. Mundy

How do you treat your partner when you are losing in a contest?

Act irritable, say heated words of censure or give gruff advice?

If the contest is dependent upon physical effort and skill, the fact that a partner is disgruntled will have the effect of piling up more errors.

If the pastime is more of a mental sort there is nothing that will interfere with a partner's game so much as caustic remarks by the other.

Instead of a reprimand acting as an incentive to do good work, it is more than likely to disrupt the game.

None feels more sore and disappointed than the one who falls down by making a poor play.

Anyway, what difference does a few points make in comparison with the ill feeling engendered by the one who gets in a huff when his supporter makes a thoughtless move and upsets his game.

Anyone is liable to mental or physical "slips," so be a good sport and don't cause unhappiness when it is relaxation and amusement that is sought.

Wise Words

It lies not in our power to love
For will in us is overruled by fate.
—Marlowe.

Hope, deceitful as it is, serves at least to lead us to the end of life along an agreeable road.
—La Rochefoucauld.

I have played the fool, the gross fool, to believe
The bosom of a friend will hold a secret
—Massinger.
